Protection of Troops Is Withdrawn from Minonk.

LOUD THREATS ARE MADE

HUNGER DRIVES THEM WILD.

Many Anarchists Under Arrest at La Salle.

SOLDIERS ORDERED OUT IN IOWA.

MINONK, Ill., May 29.—[Special.]—The last company of militia took its departure for home at 7 o'clock this evening, leaving everybody here fearing greater and more serious trouble than ever, probably before tomorrow morning. Sheriff Tool and some of the citizens tried hard to have the troops kept in camp a day or two longer, but Lieut. Baker informed Gov. Altgeld that their presence, in his judgment, was not required. Those who claim to be best posted, and among them Father Innis of the Catholic church, where all the Polish miners worship, say they are satisfied the strikers will again stop all coal trains that attempt to pass through Minonk. Some of the miners talked with also declared that is what they will do.

An incident occurred this morning which aroused the miners to a high pitch of anger and excitement. Anton Glowiski, John Zaminski, and Adam Preskewick were arrested at Camp Culver at 9 o'clock by Sheriff Tool and his deputies, apparently without provocation or warrant, and when taken before the town Justice were quickly released. Only for the presence of a company of soldiers there would have been an outbreak. The Sheriff has been looking for them as the instigators and leaders of the obstruction movement whereby coal trains were blockaded on the Illinois Central and Santa Fé roads at this point Saturday and Sunday. When the Sheriff took the fellows before the Justice no one could be found who would consent to make any kind of a charge against them, although, as the Sheriff says, some of his deputies knew them to be the chief lawbreakers.

Local Deputies Dismissed.

This irritated him so much that he dismissed all the local deputies and will bring men from points outside of Minonk to enforce law and order. As the news of the arrests spread infuriated strikers gathered in crowds on the street corners and loudly denounced the affair as another outrage which they would avenge.

Sheriff Tool thinks he has been badly treated and poorly supported by the citizens of Minonk and spoke this afternoon almost as irrationally as the miners. He says the citizens advised him not to go near the men and talk to them, as he wanted to do and in answer to Col. Culver's criticism that he was a "political Sheriff," he said: "I am not in politics and don't care anything about what the newspapers say of me. All I own is a team of horses and a pony. I have sold my farm and intend to leave the State of Illinois next fall. If these people here don't want to back me up in my efforts to prevent a riot I can and will get along without them. I will have arms here and men to handle them, and if there is any trouble those who make it must take the consequences."

Father Innis said: "I am satisfied coal trains will not be allowed to pass through or leave Minonk after the troops go away. I told one of the officers as much today, and a striker who overheard our conversation came running after me as I left to say I was right in my prediction; that they were not going to let any cars loaded with coal go further than here if they can prevent them."

Face to Face with Starvation.

Starvation is one reason why the miners at this point have become so desperate. Their wives and children are crying for bread. It is claimed that out of 300 living here some sixty-five or seventy have not been able to get a sack of flour nor a pound of coffee from the stores for more than two weeks. Oscar Zaminski, a big Polander, said his wife and children had been living on dry bread and water. "I don't care what I do to get arrested and thrown into jail," he continued, "for then they can send my family to the poorhouse, where I know they will get enough to eat. Most of the other men feel about as I do."

The miners say they are not on strike solely out of sympathy with the men elsewhere. They claim to have local grievances against K. E. Ames, the general manager, that are far more important to them. Their wages, they assert, have been reduced so much that the best of them could barely average $1.50 a day by working twelve and fourteen hours. Then they were forced to take their pay in checks on the "Coal Shaft Store." If any of them, they say, wanted a little money the merchants around town would cash these checks for them at the rate of 70 cents on the dollar. Sometimes the company would pay them part of their wages in money at a discount of 20 per cent. They say they will not go back to work even if the general strike should be declared off until their local grievances are satisfactorily adjusted. It would not be surprising if the situation resulted in the bringing about of a bread riot.

One hundred and fifty applications for relief were made to Supervisor Kerrick today. A committee was appointed to investigate their needs and relief will be furnished.

Everything was quiet at Wenona today. The Sheriff left there this morning, leaving twenty armed deputies in charge of Oliver Wingate, Town Marshal. However, more trouble is expected there as well as here. The Chicago and Alton agent at Evans, a station near Wenona, reported that there were forty strikers camped at Beckwith's Crossing, two miles west of there.

The Sheriff's deputies held a meeting tonight and voted to give a part of their pay to aid the destitute miners' families. They appointed a committee to confer with the miners regarding this, and further agreed to guard them from violence if they returned to work.

LACON, Ill., May 29.—[Special.]—Sheriff Lenz went to Spariand today, where the miners were making threats, and finding all quiet left half a dozen deputies on guard. A shaft there and a number of drift-banks have been working in a desultory way, and a committee came down from La Salle today to induce the men to stop work. Trouble is anticipated. Gov. Altgeld has promised Sheriff Lenz arms.

TAKING REFUGE AT SPRING VALLEY.

Anarchists Flee from La Salle to Escape Arrest—Guard Reduced.

LA SALLE, Ill., May 29.—[Special.]—During the last twenty-four hours there has been an exodus of Anarchists from La Salle and Peru to Spring Valley, where mob law still holds sway. Tonight law and order prevail in La Salle and Peru. The cause is the activity of Sheriff Taylor and his deputies in arresting the foreigners who took part in last Thursday's conflict. The fellows have taken refuge at Spring Valley, where the authorities fear to molest them.

"It is an alarming state of affairs," said a dry goods merchant of Spring Valley today. "If I or the Mayor or any other American citizen were to call upon the county or State authorities for protection the chances are that some dark night our homes or stores would be destroyed by dynamite at the hands of these cowardly miscreants. They are armed with dynamite bombs I know of my own personal knowledge. As I was going home Sunday night I saw a group of perhaps twenty Anarchists in a room back of an Italian saloon. I saw them through a window. They were talking excitedly and on a beer table there lay three pieces of gas pipe. They were sealed up at the ends and projecting from the end of each was a fuse. One of the men who was talking held a metallic ball in his hand and appeared to be explaining its use. That it was a dynamite bomb I am confident. I am also positive the sections of gas pipe were bombs. We American citizens are at their mercy." In conclusion, he said the women were worse than the men.

When asked what he thought should be done he replied: "If we had a Sheriff who had as much courage as Sheriff Taylor or a Mayor with any backbone the riotous foreigners could be dealt with according to law. It might cost some of the officers their lives, but if these Anarchists are not checked the result is liable to be far more serious."

Sheriff Taylor and Col. Bennitt slept little last night. Deputy Sheriffs were ransacking the foreign quarters of Peru and La Salle for Anarchists. Fourteen captures were effected, and this morning twelve of the prisoners were sent to the county jail at Ottawa. One of the most fortunate arrests was that of Frank Ulosky, a desperate Pole, who did more than any one man to cause the riot last Thursday. He was arrested by the Deputy Sheriffs the night of the riot but was liberated by Mayor Matthiesen upon the demands of a mob. Ulosky was armed with a hatchet when the deputies went to his house this morning, but the sight of their revolvers cowed him, and he bawled for mercy.

In all twenty-one men who took part in the assault upon Sheriff Taylor and his men have been arrested. According to a report brought here by one of Sheriff Taylor's spies the reds have an idea the authorities are afraid to go to Spring Valley. They do not know that the military has no authority to leave La Salle County.

There was a mass-meeting this morning, at which David Ross, a professional labor politician, presided. A large number of strikers was present, and Ross took occasion to denounce the meeting of business-men held yesterday. He said their request sent to the Governor asking that the troops be retained here was not warranted. He said the majority of the people in La Salle and Peru did not indorse the action taken. He also denounced the Chicago newspapers for interfering in La Salle's affairs. The people of La Salle were perfectly competent to settle all difficulties without outside interference. These resolutions were adopted:

WHEREAS, By reason of sensational reports recently published in the daily papers of the State purporting to represent the deliberations and conduct of the miners engaged in the present suspension; and,

WHEREAS, The leaders of the miners are in favor of maintaining the peace and protecting private property; and,

WHEREAS, Such misleading reports create false impressions of the real situation; therefore be it

Resolved, That the citizens of La Salle, in mass-meeting assembled, express their disapprobation of such methods and condemn the individuals responsible for such false reports.

Considerable excitement was created at Camp Matthiesen tonight by the cutting of the telegraph line running to Col. Bennitt's headquarters. It is supposed to be the work of Anarchists.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 29.—[Special.]—Adjutant-General Orendorff tonight received a telegram from La Salle from Lieut. D. J.

MAY END THE STRIKE.

PITTSBURG OPERATORS' COMMITTEE IS GIVEN FULL POWER.

Belief That a Settlement Will Be Reached, Though One of the Committeemen Declares His Men Must Work for 55 Cents a Ton—Scarcity of Coal Getting Serious at Chicago—Altgeld Refuses to Be an Arbitrator—Many Industries Close for Lack of Fuel.

PITTSBURG, Pa., May 29.—[Special.]—The Pittsburg coal operators want the miners' strike settled. This was decided at a meeting of all the operators in the Chamber of Commerce this afternoon. The committee of fifteen, which disagreed yesterday, reported and was discharged. A new committee of ten operators was then appointed to arrange with the miners for a settlement at the best terms possible. The committee has full power to act and can agree on any price. The other operators are bound to accept the report of the committee. One of the members is President De Armitt of the New York and Cleveland Gas Coal company. He insists that his men will have to go back at 55 cents, but the other operators say not.

The action taken today is a complete backdown by the operators and is the beginning of the end. The committee will meet tomorrow. If there is any prospect of securing another national conference like the one held at Cleveland it will be called. If not a district conference will be requested. If the miners do not respond to the call for a district conference and agree to go to work at the price offered by the committee the matter of bringing new men into the district will be discussed. The following is the committee:

W. P. De Armit, L. W. Schleudberg, F. L. Robbins, Alexander Dompster, Capt. Taylor, M. A. Andrews, Thomas Young, John Blythe, R. H. Boyle, and B. Bragnell.

Three telegrams from Illinois operators stating that the prospects for a settlement in the West are bright were read at the meeting. The miners are jubilant and say they will either get their price or a stiff compromise figure.

HARRISBURG, Pa., May 29.—A committee representing the coal operators of the Middle Pennsylvania bituminous coal fields had a conference with Gov. Pattison at the Executive Mansion tonight, after which the Governor wrote to James White, leader of the striking miners at Houtzdale: "After a conference with the operators of Central Pennsylvania I find that they are willing and offer to pay the highest wages paid in competitive districts in the United States, and to conduct their business with the miners of Pennsylvania on that basis." The Governor deems this a concession, because it is all the operators can pay. He says the operators are anxious to have a settlement, and he believes the miners will agree to their proposition and call off the strike.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 29.—The State convention to be held here Thursday between all the Illinois operators and miners' delegates is believed will not result in a settlement unless a general settlement over the United States is effected. National President McBride says he will adhere to the resolution adopted at the national convention to that effect. A warm time is anticipated at Thursday's convention. The officers of the miners say all depends on the action of the Consolidated Coal company. Charles Ridgely, President of the Consolidated, says his company has not decided whether to make any concessions to the strikers. He is now considering whether the company will go into the conference Thursday.

SCARCITY OF COAL GETS SERIOUS.

Price of Fuel Steadily Advancing—Altgeld Thinks Trouble Is Over.

In this city, where since the beginning of the strike there has been a better supply of coal than in many places, the situation is fast becoming serious. The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul road was yesterday compelled to take off some of its construction trains in consequence of the fuel conditions. In the open market yesterday soft coal was quoted at $4.25 to $4.50, with sales at the latter figure. The demand was the sharpest yet experienced. Numerous large dealers were averse to making quotations, saying they wanted to take care of their own customers.

Coal for fueling steamboats and tugs is scarce in the river, and the price has been advanced to all except the regular customers. It is said there is less than 1,000 tons on the docks, and that is all owned by one company. Steambarges have to pay $4.25 a ton for coal, the price of which was $3 when the article was plentiful. The tug companies say they will make another attempt to burn hard coal if the fuel supply is cut off.

A large percentage of the coal which has arrived in Chicago for ten days is from Cincinnati, where it is received on barges from the upper Ohio. Shipments to Chicago have run so heavy that a shortage of cars is being experienced by the roads between the two cities, and this adds to the gravity of the situation.

While admitting the seriousness of the situation J. W. Ellsworth said yesterday he believed the Illinois operators at their meeting in Springfield tomorrow would succeed in reaching a basis of settlement of mining prices in this State. If an agreement was reached, he thought, a settlement of the strike would be made elsewhere. The railroads have been asked to urge operators to attend the conference. Some of these, it is said, in view of the depredations of the strikers, have been loath to do so. The following dispatch on the subject was sent by the Chairman of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois road yesterday:

General Superintendent Chicago and Eastern Illinois Railroad Company, Danville, Ill.—We have got to first decide whether we have a government or not. The utter ignoring by the mob of the leaders in the coal mine strikes decides me to say that it is not the question now what any mine operator does or where he goes. The time has come when the question of coal and coal mining prices is of little consequence compared to the general question of law and order. I have no sympathy with the unfair discriminations of the coal operators in Southern Illinois, but I shall not ask any one to make any move until the individual laborers can work without being threatened by a mob anywhere and the railroads can run their trains unmolested. Whether the mine-owners go to the meeting the 31st is their business. This is a revolution pure and simple throughout the whole West and South, and can but have the result of a revolution. I consider that McBride and his organization are as utterly gone as Martin Irons and his following were a few years ago, if the United States is to continue as a nation. If not, he had better be declared Emperor, and then he can control his forces. H. H. PORTER.

Yesterday Gov. Altgeld received this telegram:

PITTSBURG, Pa., May 29.—It has been suggested by many consumers of coal, as well as by operators and miners, that a board of conciliation and arbitration composed of the Governors of Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, and Iowa should be convened to take measures to adjust the coal strike. As these States produce four-fifths of all the bituminous coal of the country it is held their Executives could act in such capacity with great propriety. Are you willing to act?

Gov. Altgeld made this reply:

I would gladly do anything I can to assist in settling the present strike, but inasmuch as the board you suggest would have no power to compel anybody to appear before it and could not compel submission on the part of those unscrupulous operators who precipitated this strike by reducing wages to the starvation point and who are profiting by the present troubles, I fear little could be accomplished because honest operators who are ready to make any fair arrangement could not compete with those who refused to respect the decision of any board. Consequently even those operators who are most anxious to settle the strike would keep aloof.

The Governor said, when asked his opinion as to whether the strike might be protracted: "I have no means of knowing, but from the fact that the large coal companies seem inclined to hold out it is apparent to me that the strike is not over. So far as the duty of the State is concerned we have the situation well in hand, and I do not think there need be fear of trouble. There may yet be some

RIOT ON TROY STREET

BOHEMIANS PREVENT THE REMOVAL OF SMALLPOX PATIENTS.

Men, Women, and Children Assail Physicians with Clubs and Stones—Six Men Receive Serious Injuries—Policemen Frightened by the Mob and Refuse Aid—Patients in Two Houses on the West Side Who Have Not Gone to the Pesthouse—List of the Injured.

Six health officers were injured by mobs of riotous Bohemians while attempting the removal of smallpox cases from No. 1072 Troy street and No. 764 Allport street. Patrol wagons from the Hinman Street, Maxwell Street, Canalport Avenue, and Lawndale Stations were called out, but the officers refused to assist the health officers, and one patrol wagon drove away leaving Dr. Hunt half dead.

The Injured.

CHLOUPEK, DR. E. H., No. 570 Blue Island avenue, interpreter; knocked down, kicked and beaten, face cut and scalp wound.

SCHLESSLER, A., health officer; knocked down with a brick, scalp torn and face cut; is severely hurt.

Campbell, Chloupek, Schlessler, O'Connor, and O'Connell were all hurt in the riot at No. 1072 Troy street. Dr. H. B. Beegle was the only man who escaped injury. Dr. Hunt had a riot all to himself at No. 764 Allport street. His buggy was turned over and he was knocked down. The doctor says the Canalport avenue wagon filled with officers drove up, but the policemen were frightened by the mob and were driven off. Dr. Hunt managed to stand off the crowd until an officer in citizens' clothes came to his help, or he says he would have been killed.

Meet with a Warm Reception.

The Health Department received notice Monday that there was smallpox at No. 1072 Troy street. Dr. Beegle with Health Officers O'Connor, Campbell, and Schlessler were detailed to investigate. Dr. Chloupeck went along to act as interpreter. Taking a hack driven by William O'Connell the men went to the street. The district is populated almost entirely by Bohemians. The health officers found women armed with clubs, men with pokers and crowbars, and boys with rocks clustered in front of No. 1072. A hail of bricks, clubs, and stones came when they drove up and Dr. Beegle, seeing they were in for a fight, ran for a patrol box. Apparently the wagon was ready, for it came in a hurry. So did those from Hinman street and Lawndale. When Dr. Beegle got back the fight was on. The four men remaining had been surrounded by the mob. Some one had fired two shots at the men and they were fighting for their lives. O'Connor had been knocked down and his gun wrested from him, Schiesser was bleeding, and half the crowd was kicking Campbell, who finally escaped and ran to the pesthouse, where he took refuge.

Policemen Fail to Quell the Mob.

When the patrol wagons arrived all the officers did was to hustle the health officers into their hack. They asked for protection while they went into the house to get the patient, but say they were refused. So there is still a reported case of smallpox at No. 1072 Troy street. The doctors say one of their assistants was John Vanecek, who lives at No. 1189 Albany street. They claim that Vanecek has had a case of smallpox in his house for three weeks. When Drs. Chloupek and Campbell went there they say they were driven out with shotguns. Justice La Buy, they claim, refused them warrants and Justice Dooley, who granted them, dismissed the case when he found it had to do with smallpox."

WILLING TO WOUND.

WANTS KNAVES EXPOSED.

He Demands a Searching Sugar Trust Investigation.

DEMOCRATS ARE ANXIOUS.

SIGNIFICANT ACTION ON HAWAII.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 29.—[Special.]—Senator Hill stirred up the animals today for the benefit of a large crowd, the result being that a threat to clear the galleries was necessary before quiet could be restored. The report of the special committee to investigate the charges of interference by the sugar trust in the framing of tariff was admitted as privileged, and it was on this question of privilege that the New York statesman turned himself loose and still further widened the breach between himself and his Bourbon friends. Hill undoubtedly had the best of the argument, for every one knows the reports in the newspapers were scarcely worth attention. One of the articles was ignored altogether by the committee, and the authors of the other two will be commended to the attention of the grand jury by the Vice-President, acting on the official notification of the committee. Here was Senator Hill's opportunity. He knew, as everybody knows, that the identity of the informant of a correspondent amounts to nothing, whereas it would be the simplest matter in the world for the committee to get at the facts. When questioned as to the method of finding out what particular Senator was referred to Hill brought down the press galleries by shouting in his best Democratic voice, "Swear them all." He challenged his associates to investigate all the sugary rumors, leaving the correspondents out of the question. This brought on a tilt between New York and Tennessee, in which for the time Senator Harris was the under dog, although, of course, the question was temporarily settled by the assertion of the power of the Vice-President to certify the contumacy of the correspondents to the grand jury. Senator Dolph's resolution to bring the correspondents before the bar of the Senate for punishment for contempt will be called up in the morning hour tomorrow. There are many people who will be only too glad to drop the investigation and lay the blame at the doors of the newspapers, but Senator Hill has at least done a service to the press of the country by calling attention to the fact that the Senate refused to make an investigation on its own account. During the proceedings which ended by the recommendation of the commitment of the two correspondents Hallett Kilbourn sat in the gallery as a reminder of the time when he too was sent to jail and afterwards paid for his trouble by the people of the United States of America.

* * *

The scene in the Senate today was a decided relief from the monotony of the tariff speeches, but it was itself but the bugle blast for the great fight on sugar which will be inaugurated Thursday or Friday, and on which the fate of the alleged Wilson bill will depend. The Democratic Senators, with the exception of Hill, are particularly anxious to avoid any investigation into the processes by which the raw material of the Wilson bill was molded into the measure now before the Senate. One of the charges made in the newspaper article to which exception was taken was that Secretary Carlisle drew up the compromise sugar schedule. There is nothing extraordinary in that. As Secretary he would be called on to formulate a bill in accordance with the wishes of the committee, whether he favored the bill or not. So as to the matter of speculation. Senators are only human, and like Aldermen or other legislators might often use their knowledge to make an honest penny. That they made much in the present case can hardly be alleged, the real scheme in which the big sugar profit lies being the postponing of the date for the commencement of the increased duty. The majority wish to make it appear that their tariff is a genuine response to the demand of the party for revenue reform, and to escape the odium of an acknowledgment that the administration dictated the terms of the compromise. Hence the attempt to balk the investigation on the flimsy pretext that two newspaper correspondents had refused to give up their sources of information. This was just what Hill wanted, and he improved the opportunity to demonstrate that the majority were unwilling to make an honest investigation by going into the matter independent of any newspaper assistance.

* * *

This week will witness the beginning of the real battle over the Senate tariff bill. The lumber schedule now under consideration is quite as important as sugar, and on its merits will receive more attention, for the lumber trade involves interests from Maine to California, and the great lumber States are on the border where Canadian competition will most be felt. Still nobody here believes the Democrats will make any concessions on this schedule and there is no hope of defection, for the Populists are committed to free lumber. Once the speeches are over, probably Thursday, the schedule will be adopted by the usual vote. Then comes sugar, and this will be the great battle of the session. The Republicans can have Hill for free sugar without a bounty, or they can have the Populist vote for free sugar with a bounty, or they can swallow the sugar schedule as it is, or they can beat the schedule and the bill. The fight over this one schedule will take the rest of this week, but when it is concluded the fate of the Wilson-Voorhees-Jones-Vest bill will be pretty well determined. The action of the Finance committee in postponing the date of the operation of the new duty from July 1 to Jan. 1, thus affording opportunity for a deal in sugar besides which the operations of the whisky ring are insignificant, will also receive the attention it deserves. The Republicans will fight a tactical battle, for while they will oppose the tariff bill from start to finish their only hope of creating a stampede will be after Decoration day, when the sugar schedule comes to the front. A caucus to secure unitad action is among the immediate possibilities, but it will be more for the purpose of determining the plan of campaign than for holding firm the lines. The Democrats realize that the real test is at hand and they are anxious as to the outcome.

The vote on the Hawaiian question in the Senate today was significant in the extreme, for it shows that in spite of the strenuous efforts made to dragoon Senators into support of the administration, annexation is favored by the Senate in the ratio of almost two to one. Mr. Vest's resolution was a flat-footed declaration that it was unwise to consider any proposition for annexation at the present time. This was beaten by a vote of 38 to 16, which is decisive enough, although, of course, several Senators who may be opposed to annexation and would vote against it, today voted against Senator Vest's substitute for Turpie's resolution. The vote means an overwhelming sentiment in favor of the policy of non-intervention and probably a clear majority for annexation when the time comes. Senator Frye said this afternoon: "I think that that vote means a majority in favor of annexation. I know of several who voted in the negative on the motion to table the Vest amendment who are in favor of the passage of a resolution against intervention. I believe that this majority will soon cause the passage of the long-postponed expression of opinion." Senators Vilas, Vest, Hunton, George, Caffery, Lindsay, Harris, and Coke are the principal opponents of the policy of non-intervention, but Mr. Vilas certainly, and some others possibly, are ready to compromise on a substitute resolution which will probably be offered and passed Thursday morning. The friends of Hawaii, led by Senator Kyle, have been demanding decisive action on the ground that it was necessary to dispel the false hopes of the Royalists created by President Cleveland's action.

On this question Senator Kyle said this afternoon after the Vest resolution had been beaten: "All that we want is some words, if not some action, that will go to show the people of Hawaii that there is no real sentiment in the Senate in favor of forcible intervention against the provisional government in the islands. It is strange that such action and expression should be necessary now after all that has been said in the United States on the subject, but I have received word from the islands that convinces me the Royalists have been using every possible argument and fiction to persuade the natives that the President is going to take active measures to place the Queen back on the throne. Of course we here know that this is untrue, for we realize the impossibility of the restoration of the monarchy, but there is no way of letting those people know it unless we could secure action by the Senate on some sort of resolution. I am gratified at the size of the vote this morning. I think it is now merely a question of time when the Senate will pass some strong non-interference resolution."

In the list of patents issued at the Interior Department today were the following by Illinois inventors: J.J. Bentley, Sadorus, nutlock; Christian Bastod, Chicago, folding-bed joint; Morton C. Bunnell, Chicago, road scraper; Allen Conkling, Chicago, starching machine; Benjamin F. Darby, Clay's Prairie, corn planter; Henry P. Dennis, Peoria, grain meter; Frederick W. Hedgeland, Chicago, machine for stringing pianos; Robert Hendrich, Chicago, unicycle; James H. Jones, Rockford, wheeled plow and mowing machine; William A. Coneman, Chicago, gas-making apparatus; George W. Kramer, Peoria, steering gear for traction engines; Mitchell F. McCarthy, Chicago, fireproof building, structure, floor, and ceiling; Elwood C. Phillips, Chicago, apparatus for affixing stamps and labels; Charles E. Reed, Chicago, pattern tracing and cutting machine; John M. Reid, Jacksonville, book; George W. Richardson, Chicago, comb cleaner; Adolph Schweizer, extracting fat from animal or vegetable substances; Charles E. Scribner, Chicago, testing system for multiple switch boards; Frank S. Sejnoha, Chicago, smoke consumer; Peter L. Simpson, Chicago, sectional mold for brick presses; Andrew Stark, Chicago, grain binder; John L. Stevenson, Chicago, corn broom; Sanford Swanburn, De Kalb, barb wire machine; David H. Wilson, Chicago, electric cattle guard; Owen Electric Belt and Appliance company, Chicago, trade mark for electric belt.

⁂

Gen. Black is going to give his personal attention to the Senatorial campaign and proposes to be in Chicago when the State convention meets next month. Meanwhile he will content himself at the capital, where he is daily in receipt of the most encouraging accounts regarding the progress of his boom for higher honors. It is predicted, however, that the present Congressman-at-Large may find some thorns in his path at the instigation of Inter-State Commerce Commissioner Morrison, who has not yet resigned all hope of a seat in the United States Senate. Among politicians, however, it is conceded that Gen. Black's chances for the nomination are the brightest, especially in view of the canvass being made in his behalf. It is pointed out, too, that Morrison has had his chance, and it is useless to talk about his election, even if a Democratic Legislature should be chosen this fall. Attention is directed to the fact that once before, when he was the most prominent Democrat in Illinois, he could not get all the votes of his party for the Senate. The times have not changed much since. Those who are close to Gen. Black assert in the most positive manner that their candidate will not only be nominated but elected.

⁂

It is expected that the House Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds will come to a conclusion Thursday relative to the amount to be recommended for the public building which it is proposed to construct at Chicago. Chicago members are sanguine that the McGann estimate of $4,000,000 will be adhered to, and all their efforts are being made in this direction. On the other hand, however, it is understood Chairman Bankhead is opposed to any appropriation at this session for public buildings anywhere in the United States. Hence, even should there be a recommendation of the amount named in the McGann bill, it is doubtful whether or not it will ever be called up in the House. An adverse disposition is manifested today by Speaker Crisp, for an effort has been made to get him through the Committee on Rules to set apart a day for the consideration of public building bills, but thus far without success. In the event, however, of this movement being successful there is just a chance for favorable action on the Chicago measure, and that is all.

⁂

Secretary Morton and Señor Zeballos, Minister of the Argentine Republic, leave tomorrow morning for Lexington, Ky., under the escort of Representative Berry, to inspect the stock farms in that vicinity. Señor Zeballos will continue his journey to Wayne, Du Page County, Ill., and thence to Chicago, where he will remain for an indefinite period. The Argentine Minister is largely interested in agricultural and live stock matters. He is President of the Argentine Agricultural Society.

⁂

The Committee on Pensions had a general discussion today on the bill introduced by Mr. Bryan "to restore widows of soldiers or sailors to the right of pension." The strongest objections to the favorable recommendation lie in the limitations of the bill, which require that at the time of application the applicant be dependent on her own exertions for support and the time is limited to not later than the close of the war. The majority are inclined to report favorably if the bill is so amended as to broaden its scope.

⁂

Representative Outhwaite of Ohio received a telegram from members of his Congressional District committee today informing him that he had been renominated by acclamation. Mr. Outhwaite some time ago announced that he would not leave his duties in the House to seek a renomination, but he will not stay in Washington when the campaign opens and the struggle is on for his reëlection.

Fourth class Postmasters have been commissioned at points in the West as follows: Iowa—Adair, T. F. Kelly; Sabula, S. L. Watts. Michigan—Crawford Quarry, Paul Bitner.

NOTES FROM THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 29.—Senator Peffer made an address to the Fitzgerald or Boston commonwealers at their headquarters in Mount Pisgah (negro) Chapel. He said that there have been a number of things in the way of the consideration of the various bills he had introduced for the benefit of the laboring men. The tariff measure is in the way; the churches are in the way; the newspapers are against it; and the money power, with its headquarters in Wall street, is in the way. Wall street is the seat of all the deviltry today, where they gamble and speculate in the blood and sweat of their fellow-men. The Senator said the opposition must be converted. "Some men," he said, "you must sit down with and convert their reason; others must be reached by warming their hearts; while there are others still that you must take by the throat and intimidate." He prophesied Populists would control legislation by the time of the incoming of the next century.

Western Postmasters Nominated.

The President today nominated the following Postmasters: George W. Owens, Northwood, Ia.; Z. B. Dunlap, Perry, Ia.; Charles C. Rogers, Plainwell, Mich.; Martial Fieliatrault, Two Harbors, Minn.; Edmund Caplis, West Duluth, Minn.; James M. Nickell, Hannibal, Mo.; Bert Burns, New Lisbon, O.; Martin V. Gibson, Upper Sandusky, O.; W. C. Pease, Cumberland, Wis.; William Guillaume, Hartford, Wis.; Henry Lotz, Horicon, Wis.

Work of the Supreme Court.

During the term which closed Saturday the United States Supreme Court made an unusual record. More than 500 cases were disposed of notwithstanding that the court was without a full bench for weeks after the death of Justice Blatchford; 700 cases remain booked for action, emphasizing the need of legislation still further restricting the classes of cases which have been appealed to the Supreme Court.

Russia's Disregard of Treaties.

Representative Rayner (Dem., Md.) today presented a resolution calling on the President to make a demand on the Russian Government that American citizens shall have the same right of entry, travel, and sojourn in the territory of Russia that citizens of Russia have in the United States, according to the treaty stipulations.

Washington Brevities.

A favorable report has been ordered on the House bill to prevent brokerage in railway tickets by making it unlawful for any but authorized agents of the companies to deal in them.

Senator Vilas today introduced a bill making it unlawful for any person to send obscene literature or any other matter of indecent character or any article intended for immoral use by express.

Postmaster-General Bissell is opposed to the proposed government ownership of the telegraph system. He does not think a postal telegraph service would prove profitable in this country, or that such service could be fully accomplished without material additions to the present post-office organization and increased expenditures.

Senator Cullom today introduced, by request, a bill "to regulate railroads engaged in inter-State commerce." The Senator said he had not examined the bill carefully, but thought there might be some good features in it. The gentleman who sent it is an experienced and careful business man, and had good ideas on the subject of the bill.

FLOODS IN THE FAR NORTHWEST.

Houses and Bridges Swept Away and Crops Destroyed—Loss of Life Reported.

SPOKANE, Wash., May 29.—The river rose three inches last night and is still rising. The Dennis and Bradley bridges have been given up and are expected to go at any moment. They will take with them the Olive street and Washington street bridges. Many houses have been undermined and are settling. The water is now four and one-half feet higher at the new water-works site than was ever known. Work has been abandoned altogether. The Union Pacific bridge still stands, but it is expected to go. The Union Pacific and Great Northern tracks are inundated and traffic has been suspended.

VICTORIA, B. C., May 29.—Appalling waste and destruction are being caused by floods along the Frazer River and its numerous tributaries. Many thousands of acres of fruitful land are covered with water, on which float débris. Costly dikes and expensive bridges have been swept away and hundreds of people are seeking shelter on rafts and on high lands. Loss of life is reported. The flooded district embraces the most extensively cultivated region of the province, extending for fifty miles along the banks of the Frazer from New Westminster. It is reported that the great bridge of the Canadian Pacific at Revelstoke is gone and another at Mission City. All crops are ruined.

MOUNT VERNON, Wash., May 29.—Skaget River is twenty inches higher than ever before known, being twenty-three feet above low water mark. Railroads are washed out, bridges are gone, and no train has reached here since Friday. At places the track is washed out for miles and rails and ties are lodged in trees and brush. Rescue steamers have been sent out and found men and women in trees and on housetops. Many reports of destitution come in. The river has begun to fall.

PORTLAND, Ore., May 20.—The Willamette River continues to rise at the rate of one-half inch an hour. The wholesale district of this city is almost entirely flooded and business is practically suspended. Reports from Upper Columbia region are to the effect that the waters are still rising. At Umatilla a rise of three feet since yesterday is reported. Union Pacific trains are indefinitely delayed. Northern Pacific passengers are being transferred to a steamer at Kalama and brought to this city. Owing to the slow rise of the water ample time has been given to secure property and unless the water rises to an unprecedented height the damage will be small.

NEW ORLEANS WINS IN MAFIA SUITS.

Judge Pardee Decides the Municipality Is Not Responsible for Mob's Action.

NEW ORLEANS, La., May 29.—[Special.]—In the United States Circuit Court of Appeals today a decision was rendered which finally settles the suits of the relatives of the Italians killed in the parish prison March 14, 1891. The suit was for damages for the act of the lynchers. Judge Dan A. Pardee read the decision of the court, which was that in the absence of a statute giving right of action to sue for damage to life by mobs the suit was to be dismissed, and the city freed from its liability for damages. Judge Pardee's decision is exhaustive. The city in its pleadings admitted its guilt of gross negligence, but held that it was not responsible in the premises. Judge Pardee held that the exemption of municipalities from liability to suits of damage for the negligence of officers and agents in the execution of the governmental functions granted by the State, in the public interest, and in the absence of statutory liability is recognized in Louisiana. It would follow then, he said, to recover damages against the City of New Orleans for the taking of human life by a mob in said city, no matter what the negligence of the city officials may have been, there must be a statute, express or by necessary implication, giving a remedy in such cases. The sole statute on this subject reads: "The different municipal corporations in this State shall be liable for the damage done to property by mobs or other assemblages in their respective limits." This law the court held limited the liability of municipalities to damage to property and gave no action for damage to life. The case decided was that of the widow Givanni Abbagnate against the City of New Orleans and the decision will govern in five similar cases, in all of which juries returned verdicts of $5,000 damages against the city.

WAR SONG CONCERT AT LAKE FOREST.

Unique Decoration Day Celebration by the University Students.

LAKE FOREST, Ill., May 29.—[Special.]—Lake Forest University held its Decoration day celebration tonight with a war song concert at the Durand Art Institute. A chorus of fifty voices chosen from the students and under the direction of Mr. N. D. Pratt furnished the vocal music. They were assisted by the buglers of the Fifteenth Regiment from Fort Sheridan, who gave all the army calls. President Coulter opened the entertainment with a few remarks about the day and the deeds it commemorates. The chorus rendered the battle songs and the national anthems finely, and Mrs. Hester and Miss Mary P. Thompson captured the audience with the "Marseillaise" and "Suwanee River." Among others who were well received were Messrs. E. F. Dodge and W. E. Danforth of Chicago. Many well-known Chicago society leaders were in attendance. Among them were Mr. and Mrs. Hobart C. Bhatfield-Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Carter H. Fitzhugh, Ezra Warner, Cyrus H. McCormick, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Bowen, Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Jones, and Mrs. Reginald De Koven. The audience was an appreciative one and every number was well received and many were encored.

THOUGHT BEN DAVIDSON WAS DEAD.

Comes to Life in Cincinnati After Indictments Against Him Are Quashed.

CINCINNATI, O., May 29.—[Special.]—During the closing days of the war Brevet Lieut.-Col. and Assistant Quartermaster Thomas B. Hunt was stationed at Charleston, S. C. It was charged at the time that he entered into a conspiracy with Ben Davidson, whereby the latter drew from the National Treasury on warrants issued by Hunt $70,000 for a lot of imaginary hay and oats delivered to the army at Newberne, N. C. In 1871 the special treasury agents discovered the fraud and Hunt was arrested and tried by a court-martial, which failed to convict. At the same time the grand jury in session in Cincinnati indicted Davidson on seven counts. He was arrested in 1873 and released on bond. He at once vanished, and though he was traced from city to city it was at last learned that he had died in Texas. Today old acquaintances recognized Davidson on the street. His appearance created a sensation and the detectives rushed for the indictment on which he was to be arrested only to find it had been nolle prosequied a year ago.

HOLES IN GRAY'S NET.

ALL THE BIG FISH IN THE SUGAR POOL ESCAPE.

Two Newspaper Men Who Refuse to Divulge Secrets to Be Made Scapegoats—Plans Laid for Their Prosecution for Contumacy—Senator Hill Ridicules the Finding and Wants All Suspects Examined—Debate in the House on State Bank Repeal—Pettigrew's Speech.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 29.—Senator Gray, Chairman of the select committee to investigate the alleged operations of the sugar trust in connection with tariff legislation, today submitted a partial report of the proceedings of that committee bearing upon the refusal of the newspaper correspondents—Edwards, Shriver, and Walker—to answer questions propounded by members of the committee. The report says that when the Chairman read to E. J. Edwards the portion of his letter in which he stated Secretary Carlisle had secretly visited the Democratic members of the Finance committee and had demanded that the sugar interest be taken care of because the Democratic party was under obligations to the sugar interest, Mr. Edwards had said that what Mr. Carlisle had said was quoted from "remembrance of what my informant said." The correspondent refused to give the name of his informant, and by his counsel filed objections to answering the question, but the several objections were overruled.

The report then gives various other questions asked of Mr. Edwards and which he declined to answer.

In the report the part of Edwards' letter referring to the President's alleged interest in the Hawaiian question because of the sugar interests is given. Referring to this matter Mr. Edwards said:

In September of last year I met a gentleman who spoke to me about an article I had written concerning an operation upon Mr. Cleveland's jaw for cancer or malignant growth, which operation had taken place some weeks before upon Mr. Benedict's yacht. This gentleman said to me: "As important as that news is there is something much more important to this country which is now brewing." I asked him if it was something which he could give me. He said not then, because he was under confidence not to do it. Later, when he had the information that an attempt had been made to restore the Queen of Hawaii and that it had failed, this gentleman stated that was the news which he had and could not give. My recollection is that he either told me it was on Mr. Benedict's yacht, at his place, or at some resort, a pleasure excursion of some kind. Mr. Havemeyer, Mr. Benedict, Mr. Cleveland, and some others were present. There had been a general conversation about the Hawaiian Islands' sugar interest, and I think he said Mr. Havemeyer—at all events it was said by some one—that there would be a sensati[illegible] in the country before Congress met.

The Chairman—[illegible]?

Mr. Edwards—Either Mr. Havemeyer, Mr. Benedict, or some one in the party, because it would then be found that there was peace in Hawaii and the Queen would be restored. This gentleman was a Col. H. W. R. Hoyt of Greenwich. He had been Speaker of the Connecticut Legislature.

Mr. Edwards said he had not talked with Col. Hoyt since he had written his letter and that the Colonel is now dead. Mr. Edwards admitted that some of the conclusions were his own and were conjectural.

Shriver's Case.

The report next cites the examination of John S. Shriver, another Washington correspondent, relating to the particulars of an alleged conference one night at the Arlington between certain Senators and members of the sugar trust, which had been overheard by a wire manufacturer occupying an adjoining room. Shriver also refused to give the name of his informant. The recommendation of the committee is:

That each of said witnesses is in contempt of the Senate and ought to be dealt with for his misconduct; and that each of said witnesses by his various refusals to answer the questions as herein set forth has violated the provisions of the act of Congress in such cases made and provided, being chapter 7 of the Revised Statutes of the United States.

This old law provides that a witness who refuses to answer questions put by a Congressional committee shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of not more than $1,000 nor less than $100, and by imprisonment in a common jail of not more than one year nor less than a month. The report closes as follows:

Therefore, the committee report and request that the President of the Senate certify as to each witness his aforesaid failure to testify, and his aforesaid refusal to answer, and all the facts herein, under the seal of the Senate, to the United States District Attorney, to the end that each of the witnesses may be proceeded against in manner and form provided by law.

Hill Is Heard From.

At the conclusion of the reading of the report discussion was renewed as to whether or not it was a privileged one. Mr. Hill said that the matter of speculation in sugar stock would involve only a question of propriety.

Senator Lodge said this was a question of general parliamentary law. The report of the contumacy of a witness was a question of highest privilege. The only thing before the Senate was for the Chair to decide whether the matter was a privileged report.

The Vice-President held that the presentation of the report was privileged, thus shutting off debate; that the statute prescribed the duty of the Chair; and upon demand of the regular order stated that the tariff bill was before the Senate.

Mr. Hill appealed from the decision of the Chair, and asked to be heard. He proceeded to discuss the questions involved in the decision. He argued that the Senate could not lose jurisdiction simply because a committee made a report; that it still had a right to recommit the report, and if recommitted in law it was as if the report never had been made. Whether newspaper men always told the truth or ever told the truth was a question which, if the Senate entered upon it, could keep it busy until the end of time. The Senate smiled inaudibly at this statement.

Mr. Allen interrupted Mr. Hill to say: "It would not be more proper for a Senator to invest money in any enterprise to be affected by his vote than it would be for a Judge on the bench to render a decision in a case in which he was interested. This question of public morality goes to the foundation of the integrity of the government."

"A Senator has a legal right to do what is not prohibited," said Mr. Hill.

"One question at a time," said Mr. Hill. "He would have as much right as a Senator who, being an owner of silver mining property, would vote on the silver question. If, pending action on the sugar schedule, a Senator should speculate in sugar it might be an act of impropriety, but it would not constitute a crime. If the committee desired to get at the facts why did they not call the Senators whose names had been connected with these charges instead of persecuting newspaper men who had no personal knowledge and whose information was obtained from confidential sources?"

"But," interjected Mr. Allen, "if the questions asked the newspaper men were irrelevant they should be exempt from testifying."

Sharp Answer for Gray.

"How are we to get them?" asked Mr. Gray.

"Call the Senators," replied Mr. Hill impulsively, "that is the best way."

"How are we to tell who the Senators are?" asked Mr. Allen.

"If you don't know," said Mr. Hill, with great emphasis, "call them all. So long as you have foolishly, as I think, entered upon this investigation it is your duty to exhaust it."

Mr. Hill declared that if a newspaper man had made a statement reflecting on his honor or integrity and should go before a committee and testify that he had no personal knowledge of the truth of the charge he (Mr. Hill) should insist on being the next witness. "As long as you have entered upon this field of inquiry the whole of it should be explored."

Then, after some wrangling between Mr. Harris and Mr. Hill, during which the interchange of courtesies was quite acrimonious, and after an ineffectual effort on Mr. Hill's part to introduce a resolution declaring that the questions asked the newspaper men for which they were to be held in contempt were not pertinent and that the facts should not be certified to the District-Attorney, Mr. Harris moved to table Hills' appeal and it was carried without division.

The Senate then resumed consideration of the lumber paragraph of the tariff bill. Mr. Hale offered an amendment to place a uniform duty of $1 on all lumber—defeated. Mr. Allen (Neb.) moved to place all lumber, shingles, boards, etc., used in the building of residences upon the free list. Without action the Senate adjourned until Thursday.

SPECIFIC DENIALS ARE ENTERED.

Voorhees, Jones, and Vest Deny Allegations Touching Sugar Trust Dickerings.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 29.—The Senate Sugar Trust Investigating committee continued its inquiry today and examined Senators Voorhees, Jones, and Vest in regard to the allegations concerning the efforts of the sugar trust to influence legislation. They made a general denial of all the charges of influence by the sugar trust, and specifically contradicted the story that Secretary Carlisle had made a secret visit to the committee and demanded that the sugar interest be protected because of the Democratic party's indebtedness to the trust.

With the Gray report today concerning the "contumacy" of correspondents was presented the testimony of Senator Caffery, Congressman Bourke Cockran, and ex-Representative Ben Lefevre, entered general denials touching sugar trust interference. Mr. Caffery said he had met Mr. Havemeyer one day going out of the Capitol, and was introduced to him and had had one conference with him at Senator Brice's house. "I was asked," he said, "to see Mr. Havemeyer. He commenced an argument in favor of the ad valorem rate on sugar and a number of figures were presented to show, or attempt to show, the correctness of his argument." In reply to a question as to whether there had been other Senators present at Senator Brice's house when he met Mr. Havemeyer there, he said there were several other Senators present. Among them were Senator White of Louisiana and Senator Hill, and his recollection was that Senator Gorman had also been present, but Mr. Havemeyer did not meet any of the gentlemen but himself.

Mr. Edwards could not recollect from whom he had received the information that $500,000 had been contributed to the campaign fund by persons connected with the trust. It was common report, Edwards said, that Senator McPherson had declared in the presence of the Finance committee that the Democratic party was preparing to stab the men who had saved it.

PETTIGREW FOR TARIFF AND SILVER.

The South Dakota Statesman Says Sharp Things to Eastern Senators.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 29.—Senator Pettigrew of South Dakota delivered a speech today opposing the tariff bill, but stated he was against "excessive duties which enabled the formation of trusts and combinations to rob the people." He denounced the sugar trust, saying $50,000,000 had been taken by it from the pockets of the people and put into the pockets of these combinations of unscrupulous speculators, whom the framers of the present bill have favored. "If this bill fails to pass I shall be pleased to vote for an amendment to some appropriation bill placing sugar on the free list, and for fear the Wilson bill shall pass I shall offer an amendment to that effect, and thus destroy their conspiracy." He declared "the Wilson bill is a swindle upon the people of South Dakota in every respect. It robs the farmers, it robs the tin miners, and ruins our mica industries." Senator Pettigrew said in conclusion:

Mr. President: I have a feeling which approaches contempt for the representatives of New England and the East in this body, who, in making tariff speeches, have shown a silver lining to the dark cloud of their insincerity. For twenty years and up to date they have voted on every occasion to destroy silver and put the country on a gold basis; and having accomplished their object and ruined the silver, cotton, and wheat producers, and, in fact, all other producers, they now turn to us and smile, and say: "We are friends of silver." I want to say to you, gentlemen of the East, we are going to vote with you against this Wilson fraud from principles, because we believe in protection to American laborers and American industry. Your smiles and your talk about silver do not fool us one particle; we despise your cunning and your duplicity. I am convinced that the only people who hold a logical position in this controversy are the silver men of the West who insist that free coinage and a protected tariff go hand in hand; that this is the true doctrine of the Republican party, and that upon this platform alone can the Republican party regain in power.

STATE BANK TAX REPEAL DEBATED.

Cox of Tennessee and Johnson of Indiana Speak for Their Parties.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 29.—The House today voted to hold no session tomorrow. The bill to repeal the State bank tax was taken up and Mr. Cox of Tennessee opened the debate, favoring unconditional repeal. He denounced the national bank system, saying it has resulted in concentration of the money and currency of the county in certain localities and left other great sections utterly destitute of money or of currency. Why not permit States, he asked, that owe debts to draw their obligations within their own borders and instead of suffering a continual drain on their currency in paying interest pay their interest to their own citizens and develop at the same time a medium of exchange that can and will advance the prosperity of their people?

Mr. Johnson (Rep., Ind.) followed with an argument in favor of a substantial stable currency. The speaker declared that the State bank system had been tried before the war and had miserably failed; that broken banks, worthless and depreciated paper, counterfeiting, money brokerage, and high rates of exchange had been its progeny. Mr. Johnson concluded with a discussion of the national bank system, praising it as a system for banks of discount and deposit and for the soundness and uniformity of its circulating notes. He declared himself opposed to issuing government bonds simply as a basis for banking on account of the interest charges which they imposed upon the people, preferring the substitution of a safety fund in place of bonds to secure circulation, and argued that this plan, along with other minor amendments to the present law, would insure a sound, uniform, and elastic currency.

EXAMINATION OF MEAT INSPECTORS.

They Will Be Held in the Principal Cities June 22.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 29.—Arrangements are being made in the Agricultural Department for the examination of persons for appointment as inspectors under the meat inspection law. These places have been but recently put within the scope of the civil service, and the sixty inspectors now holding positions under the law will be compelled to pass an examination showing their fitness for the positions they occupy. The examinations will be held June 22 at all the principal cities throughout the country. The inspectors examine animals killed for inter-State and foreign trade only, those slaughtered for local consumption being under the supervision of State officers. The department is gradually extending the system of inspection.

GEN. GALVIN'S MEN ARE OUT OF JAIL.

Sentences for Taking Possession of a Train Expire—Other Army Movements.

PITTSBURG, Pa., May 29.—The twenty-four men of Galvin's commonweal army committed to jail several weeks ago for attempting to take possession of a train on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad have been released, their terms having expired.

HELENA, Mont., May 29.—Leaders of the Seattle contingent of the commonweal army were brought into the United States Court today to answer to the charge of contempt in seizing a train on the Northern Pacific at the western line of the State May 18. J. W. Kelly, the leader, who is a brother of the Kelly whose army is now in St. Louis, was sentenced to the county jail for six months. John Ross, the engineer, was also given six months. William Blair, Stewart Lackey, and Tom Davidson were each sentenced to thirty days.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 29.—[Special.]—Charles T. Kelly's industrial army arrived this morning on its flotilla. Camp has been pitched on the levee. The dispensary physicians examined the motley crew and gave a clean bill of health. Kelly visited the labor unions during the day, explaining the object of his march, and was well received. He expects to leave by Friday.

CYCLONE DESTROYS A CHURCH IN KANSAS

"Twister" Sweeps Over Part of Sedgwick County, Doing Considerable Damage.

WICHITA, Kas., May 29.—A cyclone, said to be 200 feet wide, passed over the northern portion of the county tonight, destroying a country church and overturning the monuments in the Kechi Cemetery. So far as heard from no one was killed. The cyclone traveled northeast.

SHUT UP OR GET OUT.

POPULISTS GIVE TOMMY MORGAN SOME GOOD ADVICE.

He and C. G. Dixon Much in Evidence at the State Convention of Calamity Howlers—Committee on Platform Wrangles for Nearly Six Hours Over a Liquor Traffic Plank and Then the Convention Takes a Hand at It—South Carolina Plan Adopted—State Ticket Named.

State Treasurer..........JOHN RANDOLPH
Superintendent Public Instruction......
..................MISS LAVINA ROBERTS
Trustees State University.........JOHN C. TANQUARY. T. B. RINEHART. H. M. GILBERT.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 29.—[Special.]—Not to exceed 150 delegates were in attendance on the Populist State convention today and at no time during the proceedings was a roll call had which would develop the strength of the delegation from the various counties. Tommy Morgan and C. G. Dixon, with the aid of J. G. Ogden, had Cook County well in hand, but they were laborites more than Populists. Herman Taubeneck was there and Brother Wickline, together with quite a number of the old original Farmer Alliance crowd. Col. Jesse Harper was on the floor, and the audience was in the main composed of men past the meridian of life.

William Hess of Pike County, the Chairman of the committee, called the convention to order and the proceedings were opened by prayer by the Rev. George Muller of Fulton. Chairman Hess followed with an address in which he raised the calamity howl and said the Republicans and Democrats were responsible for the unsettled condition of today.

Dr. H. E. Taylor of Chicago was selected as Temporary Chairman, with Charles Palmer of Richland and J. G. Ogden of Chicago as Secretaries. This organization was afterwards made permanent. Brother Taylor made a stirring speech on taking the chair and like Brother Hess gave all the old parties the blame for every unfortunate thing that had happened for the last twenty years.

Then the convention got into a wrangle over organization of the various committees. Tommy Morgan tried to simplify matters, but the countrymen wouldn't have anything of the sort. After a long time a Committee on Credentials was sent out and while they were in session Paul Vandervoort of Omaha, Neb., urged those present to organize the Industrial Legion. The General said the Industrial Legion was going to be a great factor in politics.

Yellow Badge Makes a Delegate.

At noon the Committee on Credentials made a report which was that 265 men were entitled to seats on the floor. It was understood, however, that any man who wore a yellow badge was entitled to be a delegate, and at 2 o'clock a Committee on Resolutions, headed by Tommy Morgan as Chairman, went out to shape up the platform. All afternoon they wrangled over a platform, and the convention listened to speeches from distinguished men present. Col. King of Kansas City, a noted author among the Populists, addressed the convention at considerable length, and was followed by numerous other speechmakers, including Prof. Hourowich of the Chicago University.

At 8 o'clock at night the convention reassembled. Another wrangle of at least an hour intervened over the selection of a State Central committee, one from each Senatorial district. Some of the Cook County men wanted their nominations passed until after the county convention, but Charles G. Dixon protested and the tedious work was commenced. The country delegates were inclined to force Cook to come to the front. The call of districts for committeemen developed the fact that two-thirds of Cook County was not represented at all. These had to be passed and these memberships will be filled at the county convention. Charley Dixon sent in the name of a man named Lee, from the Sixteenth District, and by way of recommendation said the gentleman had furnished quarters for Randall's army while it was in formation in Chicago.

South Carolina Plan.

The Committee on Platform finally reported and the convention then proceeded to consider it. A plank condemning the liquor traffic and suggesting the South Carolina innovation brought a fight. Brother Hess of Pike County wanted the delegates to stand shoulder to shoulder and vote the plank down. The Rev. Mr. Muller made a strong temperance talk and seemed to have the delegates with him. Then the speechmakers came in shoals. This free license plank had been one of the principal contentions before the committee during its six-hour session, and the battle was transferred to the convention. The delegates from Cook were divided over it. The convention refused to order the previous question and a debate which appeared without end immediately began. Not to exceed ninety delegates were in the hall now, but every chap in the ninety had a speech ready on the question under discussion. It was 10:30 o'clock, the convention had been in almost continuous session for twelve hours, and appeared to be good for twelve more.

Liquor Plank Adopted.

After a stormy debate, in which the brethren evinced some acrimony, the liquor plank was declared adopted by a vote of yeas 74 to nays 71. The Chair declared the remainder of the platform carried, and Tommy Morgan wanted to talk on the remaining planks. The motion that declared the liquor plank carried was broad enough to take with it the remaining planks. The Chair wouldn't listen to Tommy Morgan under the ruling he had made, and Tommy was mad. The Chair was pretty well tangled up over the matter and the convention was almost ready to undo what little it had done and commence over again.

We denounce the license system of dealing with the liquor traffic as fostering one of the most corrupt monopolies of our times; and the saloon system as supported by the Republican and Democratic parties as one of the chief means by which the money power oppresses the producers, and we demand that wherever a majority of the people petition for the sale of intoxicating liquors such sale shall be conducted by the State as a matter of police regulation and without profit.

Tommy Is Squelched.

The platform indorses the enforcement of laws regulating contracts between employés and corporations, declares that women shall have equal chance with men to make laws, and that school books for public schools be printed by the State and furnished the schools at net cost. Other clauses of an unimportant nature were included in the platforms, and at midnight the convention was still going over the document, cutting and slashing it in every way. Tommy Morgan was fighting for the insertion of a plank which declared for the collective ownership by the people of all means of production and distribution. Some of the more radical Populists wouldn't listen to Tommy and called him a Socialist. Taubeneck took the floor and told Tommy if the people he represented must have that plank or they wouldn't vote the ticket Mr. Morgan might as well go home. The countrymen looked on Tommy's ideas as socialism of the 22-carat variety, and the proceedings were as stormy as the Democratic South Town convention of the City of Chicago. Prof. Hourwich fought for the floor, but the Chair sat down on him hard. Then the convention squelched Tommy by a rising vote. The countrymen wouldn't countenance his ideas.

The Chairman, Mr. Taylor, said he had to go home on the midnight train, and Mr. Palmer was selected to act as the presiding officer. Mr. Palmer said the lights in the hall would be extinguished in ten minutes, and he proposed to have an adjournment by that time. A ticket was then nominated by acclamation, and the convention adjourned at midnight just as the lights went out.

CABLE INDORSED FOR SENATOR.

Rock Island Democrats Announce His Candidacy—County Conventions.

ROCK ISLAND, Ill., May 29.—[Special.]—The Democrats of Rock Island held their county convention here today and formally brought out Ben Cable as a candidate for United States Senator. There was some outcropping of opposition to Cable's Senatorial aspiration under the inspiration of Collector Hunter, through his local appointees. This took the form of a resolution instructing the delegates to the State convention to favor the nomination in that convention of a candidate for United States Senator. The resolution was promptly and by a practically unanimous vote tabled. But an extensive set of resolutions was adopted entirely to the liking of Mr. Cable and his friends. They expressed at length appreciation of the National committeeman, recounting his distinguished services to party, State, and Nation, making special reference to his management of the Western branch of the National Democratic committee in 1892, and formally presenting his name to the State Democracy as a candidate for United States Senator. The resolutions further reiterate adherence to the principles of Democracy, commend Cleveland and Congress, recommend speedy action in tariff legislation, and condemn proscription on account of creed in politics.

NASHVILLE, Ill., May 28.—[Special Correspondence.]—Washington County Democrats held a convention here today and selected delegates to the State and Congressional conventions. No instructions were given.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 29.—[Special.]—The records in the apportionment cases from Danville and Springfield were filed with the Clerk of the Supreme Court today.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 29.—The State Register, the Central Illinois organ of the Democracy, comes out today in a strong article in favor of the nomination by the Democratic State convention of Judge Murray F. Tuley of Chicago for United States Senator.

CHRISTIAN COUNTY FOR CULLOM.

The Senior Senator Indorsed at Taylorville—Other Republican County Conventions.

TAYLORVILLE, Ill., May 29.—[Special.]—The Republicans of Christian County in their convention today instructed the delegates to the Congressional convention for Maj. James A. Connolly for Congress and indorsed Senator Shelby M. Cullom for his vigorous and able defense of Republican principles. The convention nominated J. E. Shanock of this city for Representative.

CLINTON, Ill., May 29.—At the Republican county convention today Col. Pash Warner of Clinton received the unanimous indorsement for Congressman. Charles Mansfield of Piatt County was applauded for his announcement that Piatt would support Col. Warner. Dr. W. H. Taylor of Weldon was indorsed for the Legislature. Prof. J. H. Brownlee of Champaign was indorsed as the choice of the convention for State Superintendent of Instruction.

KANKAKEE, Ill., May 29.—[Special.]—At the Republican county convention today every old officeholder was swept out, including County Clerk Kenaga, who has held the office for nearly thirty years. Ed C. Curtis was nominated for the Legislature. The delegation to the State convention is uninstructed. W. R. Mason of Chicago and Gen. McNulta of Bloomington were present and made short speeches to the convention.

WEAVER NOMINATED FOR CONGRESS.

Populists in the Ninth Iowa District Import Him to Lead Them.

ATLANTIC, Ia., May 29.—[Special.]—Gen. James B. Weaver has been imported from the Seventh Congressional District and given the Populist nomination for Congress in this district, the Ninth. Of course he has accepted. The Populist convention met here today. Seventy delegates, representing nine counties, were given seats. A. M. Hutchinson of Council Bluffs was made Chairman. On the first formal ballot Gen. James B. Weaver of Des Moines was nominated for Congress. Resolutions were adopted indorsing the Omaha platform and condemning the Hon. A. L. Hager, who now represents the Ninth in Congress, for voting against the income tax measure and for the demonetization of silver. Gen. Weaver was notified of his nomination and accepted by telegram from Council Bluffs. He started at once for this city and on his arrival was met at the train by a committee of Populists, headed by a brass band and escorted to the city park, where he spoke to a good sized audience. Everything points to an increased Populist vote, drawn to a great extent from the Democratic party. There is talk of the Democrats indorsing Weaver in an attempt to defeat the Republicans, but this report is without authentic foundation.

DES MOINES, Ia., May 29.—[Special.]—The meeting of the Democratic State Central committee here today failed to arouse any interest and only nine members attended. One member admitted they had little to look for outside of a Congressman in the Second District, and even there the Democrats seem divided and discouraged. They agreed upon Des Moines as the meeting place for the convention and Aug. 1 as the day. Ex-Gov. Boies was asked to preside, but the committee doubted whether he would accept, as he has a desire to be counted out of politics now.

HAVE HOPES OF A "DARK HORSE."

Wisconsin Republicans Give Up the Idea of a Milwaukee Candidate.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 29.—[Special.]—The conference of the Republicans which was to have taken place at 4 o'clock this afternoon to exploit a candidate for Governor was declared off. The political atmosphere of the Pfister was, however, ladened tonight with rumors of a meeting which a few of the elect held after the shades of night had fallen, but nothing could be learned from the meeting if it was held. All hope of securing a candidate from this city has vanished and those who are not pleased with the present field are determined to pin their faith to a dark horse. The man who is mentioned in this connection is Gustav Kustermann of Green Bay. The plan to spring a dark horse will hardly carry, as it has been about definitely settled that the entries for the Gubernatorial race are closed and already the five who are entered have begun to make combinations with the aspirants for the minor places on the ticket. The candidacy of Maj. Edward S. Schofield has complicated matters and the politicians are at sea in regard to the effect it will have on the other candidates.

POPULISTS NOMINATE CONGRESSMEN.

In the Fifth and Ninth Indiana Districts Candidates Are Selected.

MARTINSVILLE, Ind., May 29.—[Special.]—The Populists of the Fifth District held their Congressional convention here today. L. P. Deturk of this city was nominated on the first ballot.

FRANKFORT, Ind., May 29.—[Special.]—Alonzo G. Burkhardt of Tipton County was nominated by the People's party here today for Congress from the Ninth District. Two of the seven counties were not represented by delegates.

ATKINS STILL AFTER CULLOM.

Declares He Will Fight the Senator Whether Nominated or Not.

FREEPORT, Ill., May 29.—[Special.]—In regard to the utterance of Senator Cullom that he will fight if he must, Gen. Atkins said today that he has no comment further than that he is in the field as a candidate for the nomination for State Treasurer to stay. "If defeated," continued the General, "I shall loyally support the nominee, but whatever the outcome, I shall fight the Cullom ring until its influence is destroyed."

Breckinridge Laughs at Owens.

LEXINGTON, Ky., May 29.—Congressman Breckinridge will express no opinion about Judge Bradley's ruling of yesterday. He says that he will carry the matter to the Supreme Court. Col. Breckinridge will not make a personal campaign and laughs at Owens' attacks on him. He says it is a sign of defeat to get mad.

Outhwaite Is Renominated.

COLUMBUS, O., May 29.—Joseph H. Outhwaite today was nominated for a sixth term in Congress. The opposition was trifling.

SENATOR GORMAN'S ILLNESS SERIOUS.

Overwork and Neuralgia Bring on Insomnia—Mrs. Gorman Is Anxious.

BALTIMORE, Md., May 29.—[Special.]—The condition of Senator Gorman is worse than has been reported. His brother, William H. Gorman, President of the Cumberland Coal company, said today the Senator was quite sick, and he would not be surprised to hear of his death at any time. Overwork, he said, was the cause of the Senator's illness. For some time the condition of Senator Gorman's health has been causing grave alarm to his family and intimate friends. In addition to the neuralgia, with which he has been afflicted for several years, he has suffered from trouble with his kidneys, although the physicians have assured him that it is nothing serious. He is also subject to nervousness, which has brought on insomnia, aggravated by neuralgia. Mrs. Gorman has been anxious for some time to have him take a long rest, but he would not consent.

IN MANEY'S DEFENSE.

His Counsel Secures the Admission, as a Part of the Record, of the Charges Against Capt. Hedberg Made in 1873—Three Witnesses on the Stand—Court Martial Will Be Concluded Probably Next Week—Unearthing the Pine Land Frauds—General Northwest News.

ST. PAUL, Minn., May 29.—[Special.]—The prosecution rested its case today in the court-martial of Lieut. James H. Maney at Fort Snelling and the defense began its testimony. The case will probably end the early part of next week. The most important testimony today was that of Capt. Edwin S. Chapin of the Fifteenth Infantry, who was present during part of the quarrel between Capt. Hedberg and Lieut. Maney several days previous to the shooting. At that quarrel Capt. Chapin threatened to put both men under arrest. His threat had the desired effect, and the men retired to their quarters. This quarrel occurred on the lawn in front of Capt. Hedberg's quarters at Fort Sheridan and was provoked by Capt. Hedberg, who intercepted Lieut. Maney.

Private Herman Bartells sought to make Lieut. Maney the aggressor to a certain extent, and it remains for the court-martial to decide which testimony has the most weight. Bartells was stationed at Fort Sheridan and was the first witness called to the stand. He was one of the guard in charge of the prisoners who were working at the coal sheds at Fort Sheridan. He was with Sergt. Copeland and was a witness to the shooting of Capt. Hedberg. At this point of the proceedings Counselor Blair asked leave to interpose objections to all testimony tending to show that the defendant had provoked the quarrel, had been in any way the aggressor, or had shot Capt. Hedberg, for the reason that the specifications showed a charge of murder, over which the court-martial had no jurisdiction and the accused had been tried on the charge and acquitted by a court of competent jurisdiction. The court refused to sustain the objection and Bartells resumed his testimony. When Capt. Chapin left the stand Counselor Blair asked leave to file with the court, to be made a part of the record, a certified copy of the charges and specifications of the court-martial of Capt. Hedberg in 1873.

"The object of this," said Mr. Blair, "is that the court may know what the accused knew of the character of Capt. Hedberg, and from what knowledge of that character the accused based his action of Oct. 30. I think it is an important point to judge of the actions of that meeting, what was in the mind and knowledge of the accused at that time. I offered this in the court at Chicago during the former trial, and the court held that it was admissible in evidence for the reasons stated now."

Col. Barr objected, but the court decided to admit the paper. The next witness was Capt. George A. Cornish, officer of the day at Fort Sheridan on the day of the shooting. The shooting was reported to him, and he made an investigation at once, the results of which he described. The only point brought out was that Lieut. Maney handed him the pistol shortly after the shooting.

OMAHA, Neb., May 29.—[Special.]—The court-martial for the trial of Lieut. Maxwell met again at Fort Omaha this morning and the testimony for the defense was continued. A deposition from his brother was admitted by the court as a part of the evidence. It said the Lieutenant owned real estate worth over $20,000 on which he could readily realize any amount of money he would need, and therefore he was not likely to resort to dishonesty to obtain money. The defense then rested the case. It is believed the trial will be completed by Thursday evening.

DISCLOSING THE PINE LAND FRAUDS.

How the Loggers Hasten to Pay Up When the Investigators Arrive.

ST. PAUL, Minn., May 29.—[Special.]—State Senator Dedon, a member of the Legislative committee investigating pine land frauds, returned today after several weeks spent in scaling logs in the woods of Itasca County. According to the Senator the amount of crookedness increases as investigations are pushed further into the woods. He said: "The Pine Land Commission has saved the State thousands of dollars of which no record will ever be made. This comes from the payments made by the loggers when they found the scalers of the committee at work in their districts. In one case where the men went into the woods in September they found a lot of timber cut which should have been reported in May, but no account of which had been made. The employés of the company found out what our men were doing and made a full payment to the State at once. The amount was over $3,000 in this case alone."

Northwest Notes.

Philip Brecker committed suicide at Marshfield, Wis., by taking poison. The cause is not known.

In last Saturday's TRIBUNE, under the head of "Northwest News Items," it was stated that the attachment suit against the failed firm of Curtis Bros. & Co. of Wausau, Wis., had been set aside, and that the general creditors would now receive a dividend. The Curtis & Yale company says the facts are that company has had a suit pending for four years against the assignee of the firm of Hoxie & Mellor of Antigo, and the Supreme Court has just rendered its decision and set aside the attachment, and the Curtis & Yale company will be obliged to go in and share with the rest of the creditors. The Curtis & Yale company succeeded to the business of Curtis Bros. & Co. Jan. 1, 1893.

BLUE AND GRAY UNITE

FLOWERS FOR FALLEN HEROES OF BOTH NORTH AND SOUTH.

Grand Army Posts and Ex-Confederate Society Will Unite in Decorating Soldiers' Graves—Memorial Day Parade to Be the Largest Ever Known—Forms on the Lake-Front at 2 O'clock—Southern States Send Floral Tributes for the Dead—Other Observances of the Day.

Preparations for Decoration day point to a general observance of its memorial features by the patriotic people of Chicago. If the sun shines the parade, the crowds on the streets, and the pilgrimages to the cemeteries will be the largest since the custom of strewing flowers on the graves of the country's defenders was founded. In the down-town procession there will be from 8,000 to 9,000 men, including the United States troops from Fort Sheridan, Grand Army posts, three regiments of the Illinois National Guard, and a long list of military and civic organizations in uniform.

In nearly all the cemeteries there will be ceremonies in honor of the dead, including orations and music and the scattering of flowers. Special exercises will be conducted at the base of the Lincoln statue in Lincoln Park, there will be memorial mass at St. Mary's Church, and a memorial concert by the Union Catholic Library Association.

Bicycle Races by Way of Diversion.

In the way of diversion there will be the great bicycle road race, bicycle races at South Park, athletic games at Pullman, Turners' games at Lincoln Park, and numerous entertainments in the evening. At 3 p. m. a National flag 26x44 feet will be hoisted by the Fire Department on a pole 115 feet high on Madison avenue, near Sixty-third street. The flag and pole were presented to Capt. Goetz, Company No. 116, by the World's Columbian Exposition company in recognition of services at World's Fair fires. While the grave of other heroes are being decorated those of the men who perished in the Cold-Storage Warehouse fire will not be forgotten.

Elaborate preparations have been made for exercises at the cemeteries. Rosehill will be under the auspices of the Union Veteran Legion, Sons of Veterans, Woman's Relief Corps, and Daughters of Veterans. The program comprises addresses by the Rev. J. J. Tobias, C. H. Blackman, Mrs. T. G. Springer, and E. H. Rexford, and musical selections.

Parade Will Form at 2 O'Clock.

The Decoration day parade will form on the Lake-Front at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and move south on Michigan avenue from Peck court at 3 o'clock. The full order of the parade was printed in THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE. The procession will be in eight divisions. Divisions one to four inclusive will form on the Lake-Front on a line with Congress, right resting on Michigan avenue, left extending east and facing south. Divisions five to eight inclusive will form on the Lake-Front on a line with Harmon court, the left resting on Michigan avenue, the right extending east and facing north.

Flowers will be expensive this Decoration day. The smallest roses will cost $1 a dozen while pinks are nearly as dear. Dealers, as a rule, ascribe this to the recent cold weather, but they say flowers are no more expensive than they were last year. "The fact is," said one dealer, "flowers have been cheaper than usual this winter and now that prices are getting to their usual standard people think they are steep." Street peddlers say blossoms are dear, but they put it down to the demand created by Decoration day rather than to the cold weather.

Dozens of boxes and baskets of beautiful flowers have been received from many Southern States sent by women to decorate the graves of 6,000 Confederate soldiers resting in Oakwoods Cemetery. Almost every express train from the South yesterday brought additional consignments of fragrant offerings. The flowers will be distributed on the graves of Northern and Southern soldiers alike.

Ex-Confederates Remember Their Dead.

In their usual quiet and unostentatious manner, the handful of veterans, organized as the Ex-Confederate Soldiers' Association of Chicago, will superintend that part of the ceremony. Columbia Post of the G. A. R. has been assigned to the exercises at Oakwoods, and the Northern and Southern veterans will blend the memorial services there.

In view of the scarcity of flowers here, an extra effort was made to secure a large contribution from the South, and those appealed to responded liberally. From Texas came six large boxes of roses, all in excellent state of preservation. Florida sent four baskets of beautiful assorted flowers. North Carolina's offering was specially fine. Probably the most beautiful of all was several boxes of trailing arbutus from the mountains of Tennessee and Kentucky. From one to eight boxes or baskets were received from each of the following States: Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Mississippi, South Carolina, and Virginia.

The feature of the celebration today will be the decoration of the new Confederate monument, which was recently erected at a cost of $20,000 by the Ex-Confederate Association of Chicago. It is built of Tennessee marble furnished by comrades in that State. The greater part of the cost of the memorial was raised in Chicago. It was originally intended for an exhibit at the World's Fair, but it was not completed in time. Later it was decided to have the monument dedicated today, but the ceremony has been postponed a few weeks in order to give the people from the South who wish to attend that opportunity.

Great Number of "Unknown" Dead.

About one-third of the Confederate dead at Oakwoods are "unknown," being designated only by number. Owing to the destruction of the registers at the time of the great fire in 1871 these will never be identified. The remaining 4,300 have been properly marked after much work and time spent in compiling the records. This task was completed some months ago and the individual record of each soldier as far as could be ascertained was written and the complete list printed in book form at the expense of the association. Among the active members of the association are George Forrester, R. H. Stewart, R. Lee France, Samuel J. Sullivan, Jere E. White, John W. White, John George Ryan, B. F. Jenkins, Theo. Noel, and John C. Underwood.

The Seventh Regiment, I. N. G., will send a company, under command of Col. Marcus Kavanagh, to Calvary Cemetery by the Northwestern railway at 10 o'clock this morning. The men will fire three rounds over the graves of buried soldiers and then march to the grave of Col. Mulligan, where special exercises will be held.

The Postoffice, United States courts, and all the other Federal offices will be closed during the day. There will be one delivery of mail this morning and one collection.

DECORATION DAY POEM.

H. H. Van Meter in New York Evening Post.

"Forward!" was the word when day
Dawned upon the armed array.

"Fallen!" was the word when night
Closed upon the field of fight.

"Hurt, my boy?" "O, no! Not much!"
"Only got a little touch!"

"Wonder what the folks would say,
If they knew the news today!"

"Forward!" was the word that flashed
Homeward, when the cannon crashed.

"Missing!" was the word sent home,
When the shades of night had come.

"Fallen?" "Yes; he fell, they say,
In the fiercest of the fray!"

"Died last night!" the message said,
Thus the morrow's papers read.

One young heart that heard the word,
Fluttered like a wounded bird!

"Mother! Mother! Mother's dead!"

. . . .

Two green graves we'll deck today,
Sons and mothers side by side.
None will dare to tell us "Nay!"
Both for Right and Freedom died.

While we honor him who fell
In the fiercest of the fray,
We will honor her as well
Lying by his side today.

Let the flowers forever fair
Bloom above our fallen braves,
While the angels guard them there,
Glory lingers o'er their graves.

Entered her Gethsemane.
Death to her the greatest goal,
As it must to many be!

But life lingers—O! so long!
And the years so weary grow!
Tears have choked her heart's sweet song,
Dimmed those eyes that used to glow!

O! the bleeding broken hearts,
Living long their lingering death,
Pierced by countless cruel darts,
Smothered sobs beneath each breath.

Comrades! Call the roll again!
Write their name on glory's page!
Those who bore the grief and pain,
Fiercer far than battle's rage!

When they lie there by his side,
Dearer to him than his life,
Mother, Sister, Sweetheart, Bride,
Or his dear devoted Wife,

And you deck his grave again,
Write her name—but not beneath!
By her agony and pain,
Crown her grave with fairest wreath.

Angels called the roll again,
Wrote her name above the stars
For her patient faith in pain,
Deeper far than battle scars.

Three green graves we deck today,
This is the third, where lies his bride—
None will dare to tell us "Nay!"
For these three for freedom died!

LINCOLN'S GETTYSBURG DEDICATION ADDRESS.

NOVEMBER 19, 1863.

Four score and seven years ago our fathers brought forth on this continent a new Nation, conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal.

Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that Nation, or any nation so conceived and so dedicated, can long endure. We are met on a great battlefield of that war. We have come to dedicate a portion of that field as a final resting place for those who here gave their lives that that Nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this.

But, in a larger sense, we cannot dedicate, we cannot consecrate, we cannot hallow, this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here have consecrated it far above our poor power to add or detract. The world will little note nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us, the living, rather, to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us—that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion—that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain—that this Nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom—and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth.

DESECRATION OF GETTYSBURG FIELD.

Trolley Road Wins Its Fight Against Injunction.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., May 29.—In the United States Circuit Court today Judge Dallas denied the motion made for the United States to have the Gettysburg Electric railway company enjoined by preliminary injunction from building a branch trolley road alleged to interfere with the Gettysburg battlefield.

HONOR HEROES DEAD.

MEMORIAL EXERCISES HELD IN THE SCHOOLS OF CHICAGO.

Veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic Fire Young Hearts with Patriotism—Novel Naval Demonstration at the Hyde Park High School — Webster Society Makes a Presentation at the North Division Institution of Learning—Flowers for Soldiers' Graves Given.

Children of the public schools held Memorial day exercises yesterday afternoon. Today all the schools will be closed and the children will be free to join in the general exercises of the day. The programs yesterday included recitations and songs given by the pupils and addresses by prominent men, the exercises being planned to teach love of country and reverence for the Nation's heroes. The speakers at each school were appointed by the Grand Army of the Republic, and many of them were soldiers who took part in the events about which they talked. Each school-room where exercises were held was draped with flags and made beautiful with decorations of flowers.

Principal J. Slocum directed the exercises at the South Division High School. The program was opened in the assembly hall at 12:15 o'clock by the entire school singing "America." Henry W. Dudley made the opening speech, introducing Capt. Richard Robins, who spoke in behalf of the G. A. R. Howard Hayes, a pupil, sang "The Vacant Chair," and O. Blackman, accompanied by the school, sang "A Thousand Years." Dr. P. C. McKinnie delivered a short address on "The Future Memorial Day." Miss Frances Hall recited a patriotic selection and the exercises closed with an address by the Rev. J. H. Barrows of the First Presbyterian Church, who spoke of the duty devolving upon the patriotic Christians and especially upon the younger generation to hold in reverence the heroes of the country's wars.

At the Douglas School.

"The Star Spangled Banner," sung in chorus by the children, opened the exercises at the Douglas School. Principal Miss Lucia Johnson was in charge. Jerome Derneil, a pupil, recited "Our Flag." Twelve boys, representing as many States, recited quotations on "Old Glory." The Misses Ethel Burnes and Grace Palmer played a piano duet. W. H. Rose, a representative of the G. A. R., delivered a descriptive address touching upon the civil war and explaining the origin of Memorial day. His address was illustrated with crayon sketches by Alden F. Brooks. A violin duet by Isaac Myers and Conrad Auerback was followed by a recitation, "What Does It Mean," by Allen Wolf. Bessie Knight recited "Decoration Day." Miss Carrie L. Brooks then conducted an object lesson in sculpture, modeling in clay the head and bust of one of the Generals of the Civil War, which it took the children but a short while to decide was that of Gen. Grant. The school sang "The Red, White, and Blue," and then nineteen girls, representing nineteen States, gave recitations. Tom Octigan recited "The Meaning of the Flag," Lena Klein "The Ensign Bearer," and the exercises closed with the school singing "America." A liberal gift of flowers was made by the school to the G. A. R. for decorating the graves of soldiers.

The decorations at the Lake View High School were elaborate. The Stars and Stripes were draped on chandeliers, walls, and platform, and enfolded portraits of Washington, Lincoln, Grant, and Columbus hung upon the walls near the speakers' stand, on which were grouped banners of the school. James H. Norton, principal, presided. With him on the stage were representatives of the G. A. R. and the speakers of the day, E. A. Bigelow and George A. Du Puy. At 12:30 o'clock 400 pupils marched into the assembly hall, each carrying a small flag. Bessie Weedon read an essay on "Decoration Day." Mary A. Livermore's "Boston in 1861" was recited by Carolle Barber. The school sang in a chorus, after which Frank Daily gave a recitation, followed by a violin solo by Frank Walters. Pearl Nightingale declaimed O. W. Holmes' "Grandmother's Story." Royce Ecleston delivered an oration on "The Youth of America," and B. E. and W. L. Page played on the mandolin and guitar. Addresses were made by Messrs. Bigelow and Du Puy, followed by the closing song by the entire school.

Lake View School No. 1, known as the Hamilton School, did not have formal exercises. General school work was carried on in all the rooms except for a few minutes in each, when patriotic songs were sung and a few recitations given. B. S. Andrews and Messrs. Best, Stanford, and Jackson were detailed from the G. A. R. to speak to the 900 pupils in this school.

At the West Division High.

Twelve hundred pupils crowded into the assembly-room of the West Division High School and responded heartily to the patriotic sentiments of the speeches delivered by Judge Richard S. Tuthill and L. H. Whitney of the G. A. R. The program was begun with "The Star Spangled Banner," sung by the 1,200 pupils. Then Harris S. Keeler recited an extract from one of John A. Logan's speeches entitled "The First Decoration Day Proclamation." The orchestra of the school gave a musical selection, and Daniel M. Elliott recited a "Memorial Oration." Alice E. Hawkins sang a solo, "Soldiers Sleep," the words of which were written by Arthur W. Hoskings of the class of '94 of the school. "The Unknown Dead" was spoken by Mabel Lewis, and the school sang the "Red, White, and Blue." L. H. Whitney, Judge R. S. Tuthill, and Mrs. Frank D. Hubbard then delivered addresses. Judge Tuthill spoke in glowing terms of the heroes of the late war and his reminiscences of the war were interesting, and when he called for a rising vote from the young men of the school as to whether they would respond to a call in case war was to again break out every boy sprang to his feet and a loud cheer was given.

Burnside Post No. 109, G. A. R., attended in a body the exercises given by the South Chicago High School. Under direction of Principal Charles I. Parker a long program was given. "Hail Columbia" was sung in chorus. This was followed by a piano solo, played by Miss F. Villa Road. Ida Webster's recitation, "The American Flag," was followed by "A Vacant Chair," sung by Agnes Forsland. Post Commander A. F. Wolcott of Post No. 28, G. A. R., delivered an address, which was followed by the "Battle of Lookout Mountain," read by William A. Schnell. A violin solo was given by Miss Margaret Sullivan, and after Paul Krueger had read "The Little Regiment" and a piano solo had been given by Grace Fordyce the second patriotic address was given by Post Commander Gideon E. Clark of Post No. 109, G. A. R. This address was followed by a vocal solo rendered by Victor P. France and a reading by Miss Sarah W. Gowe. The Lincoln Cadets were present in full uniform and their drill was applauded. The exercises were closed by the song "America."

Hyde Park Honors Naval Heroes.

Exercises at the Hyde Park High School were in commemoration of the naval heroes of the war. The assembly room had been especially decorated with flags of all nations, and the different flags used in the navy were exhibited. Fully 1,400 persons were present. "The Star Spangled Banner" was the opening song. Introductory remarks were made by Principal French, who introduced W. L. Pierce, who spoke on Memorial day. After a cornet solo by Lyman Hubbard came the principal address of the afternoon by D. B. Hubbard, an ex-naval officer who served under Farragut. With several large charts before him the speaker described in detail the passage of Farragut's fleet up the Mississippi River. He described the various flags used in the navy and exhibited several, both Union and Confederate, which had gone through the war. Halliards had been stretched from the platform to the ceiling, and as the speaker finished he ran up the Stars and Stripes amid prolonged cheering. The colors were saluted by the school and audience singing "America," which closed the exercises. There were present many members of the naval reserve.

At the Kenwood High School each room had a patriotic aspect. The regular lessons went on all day until the last hour, when the pupils assembled in the chapel. Miss Alice Rollitt, the principal, made a short address, then followed patriotic songs, recitations, and readings giving chapters from the lives of some of the most noted leaders. These continued until the hour for closing, when the school joined in singing "America."

The pupils of the Columbia School brought generous gifts of flowers, which were handed over to the G. A. R. for decorating graves today. Those who took part among the children were:

C. Eersen, Willie Niel, Agda Lindgren, Caroline Oestrich, Grace Enright, Julia Castleman, Edna Taube, Mattie Gilmore, Nora Trudell, Henry Enersen, G. Enright, Bertha Enright, L. Decker, Meta Grunfeldt, Lily Gas, Olive Kieffer, J. Castleman, Alec Weber, Madge McAllister, Maggie Buendgin, Lizzie Roscher, Gertrude Thiemer, Isabel Wirth, Hugo Zeilkowsky, Walter Rathke, Ella Reil, Meta Smith, Connie Hoffman, Annie Angst, Henry Olsen, Lucieil Powell, Robert McGregor, Henry Fountain, Maude Fitzsimmons, Clara Kastner, Mabel Kastner, Nellie Halkert, Annie Mulke, Esther Hellig, Viola Engel, Mary O'Neil, Bertha Krehel.

The pupils on the second floor of the school were addressed by J. King, father of the school principal, Miss F. J. King.

At the Calhoun School patriotic songs were sung by the children and an address was delivered by Dr. E. P. Murdock of the G. A. R. The flowers brought by the children will be used in decorating graves of the soldiers in the cemeteries.

Presents a Portrait of Webster.

The Webster Literary Society of the North Division High School took advantage of the memorial exercises to present to the school a crayon portrait of Daniel Webster and a large United States flag. The program was opened with Miss Bertha Mingesheimer's piano solo, Charles P. Mattock delivered an oration which was followed by a musical trio—voice, Miss Mary Ahrens; violin, Harry Poulson; piano, Miss Isabella Matson. Capt. J. R. Fitch delivered a patriotic address. The Misses Lillian McKinnis and Emma J. Dill sang, O. B. Knight delivered an oration, and Miss Isabella Matson gave a piano solo. Then came the presentation of the portrait of Webster to the school. Vincent Spalding made the presentation speech on behalf of the literary society, and Principal Oliver S. Westcott responded. After the school had sung "The Star-Spangled Banner," with accompaniment of cornet and piano by Rollin M. Smith and Miss Isabella Matson, the presentation of the American flag was made, Vincent C. Mooney making the speech. Principal Westcott responded. A piano duet was rendered by Misses Doretha Vent and Alfrieda Hathbaum, followed by an oration by George W. Warvill. Handel's "Come as Ever Smiling Liberty" was rendered by Miss Mary Ahrens, soprano; Miss Lillian Mallory, alto; Miss Isabella Matson, piano; Rollin M. Smith accompanying on the organ. The Rev. Conrad Haney delivered the closing oration.

The musical program at the Marquette School was the feature of the exercises there. An orchestra of twenty-one pieces, composed entirely of pupils from the school, was the center attraction, and there were many vocal numbers given also by pupils. The assembly hall of the school was decorated with flags of all nations. Shields and banners were displayed in every room in the school. Extracts from speeches of patriots were recited by Kenyon Joyce, Bessie Zimmerman, May Thompson, Roscoe Moon, Faith Cameron, Ellen Holden, Egbert Robinson, Everett Mann, and Frank Robinson. "The Vacant Chair" was sung by a quartet consisting of Isabel Mabel, Clare Booth, James Andrews, and Dell Hennessy. Another quartet—Mattie Mallory, Florence Cohen, Everett Mann, and Percy Hopkins—sang "The Soldier's Grave." Clem C. Warren sang "The Sword of Bunker Hill" and a double quartet rendered "After the Battle." Addresses were made by Walter Holden, Gustave Kunstman, and D. C. Cameron of the Board of Education. Large quantities of flowers for the soldiers' graves were received from the pupils of the school.

Patriotism at the Moseley.

At the Moseley School the exercises were of a general character. Programs, including recitations and singing, were carried out in all of the rooms. The Rev. Duncan C. Milner and A. H. Kistler, representing the G. A. R., delivered patriotic addresses to the pupils of the higher grammar grades. The exercises were under the supervision of the Acting Principal, Miss Thayer.

Pupils of the John McLaren School observed the day, but without a set program. They sang patriotic songs and numerous recitations were given. Addresses were delivered by Albert B. Strong and J. T. Hann of the G. A. R.

The auditorium of the Jefferson High School was crowded when the memorial exercises were opened. The room was profusely decorated with national flags and banners. A musical and literary program was presented by the children. Addresses were made by Dr. Liston H. Montgomery and George Vinton. Dr. Montgomery's address was on "The Union Veterans and the Significance of Memorial Day." He said the day served to revive the memories of the Nation's honored dead and taught the blessing of perpetual freedom. It was incumbent upon the coming generation to see that the noble principles symbolized by the flag should be perpetuated.

Supt. Armstrong made the opening address at the exercises of the Englewood High School. E. M. Edgerton, representing the G. A. R., spoke of the work of that body and urged upon the pupils the importance of realizing that they were those on whom the country would be called to depend in the future. David Ward Wood was the orator of the day. The exercises closed with a recitation by Nellie O'Brien, a pupil. Music was furnished by the school. The assembly-room was beautifully decorated.

With Auburn Park High School several grammar schools of the district joined in the day's exercises. Chorus singing by the children was given first place on the program. They sang national hymns. Following the music came a series of historical and patriotic quotations by members of the Harvard School. C. W. Carr and F. C. Adams delivered addresses and then there were quotations repeated by Auburn Park school children. The exercises closed with addresses by Dr. De Wolf, J. M. Towne, and the Rev. Dr. Haynes.

HE THINKS THE CREW WAS NOT DRUNK.

Inspector Abbey Investigates the Local Life-Saving Crew.

Capt. Abbey of New York, Inspector of the Life-Saving Stations, is firmly convinced that the local life-saving crew did all in its power to rescue the crew of the schooner Myrtle, which was wrecked in the storm of May 18. He says he is also convinced that the members of the crew were not under the influence of liquor, and that Capt. Fountain was not intoxicated. Capt. Thomas Clark and Capt. Andrew Christianson are the two witnesses who were put on the stand to substantiate these charges. The latter said the crew of the Myrtle might have been rescued had the lifeboat put out between the hours of 11 and 1 o'clock. The lifeboat, however, was out rescuing men from the bumboats and the south pier, but Capt. Christianson did not know this when he first made his statement. Capt. Fountain was severely examined as to whether or not he was intoxicated. He denied the assertion emphatically and said: "When the men reached the station after trying to rescue the crew of the Myrtle they were completely exhausted and played out. I was almost numb with cold and suffering with a chill. I took a drink to revive me, as also did the men, and the liquor was taken purely for medicinal purposes. We had had nothing to eat that morning. When we reached the bumboat before going to the Myrtle a half pint bottle of whisky was found and fifteen men drank from it." Nelson St. Peter made a similar statement. William H. Smith, Captain of the tug Protection, which towed the lifeboat to the Myrtle, said: "I don't think anything more could be done more than what was done by the life-savers to save the crew of the Myrtle. With another crew, however, something might have been done, but it would have been doubtful." Today Capt. Abbey will go to the life-saving station at Jackson Park and commence an investigation there.

WASHINGTONIAN HOME SUES THE CITY.

Mandamus proceedings to compel the city to contribute toward the support of the Washingtonian Home were commenced in the Circuit Court yesterday by Attorney Mason B. Loomis. Under an act of the Legislature of 1883 the city is legally compelled to pay the home 10 per cent of the amount received for liquor licenses, the court is informed in the petition filed. This amount was to be paid to the Treasurer of the home in quarterly installments not exceeding $20,000 for any one year. Since Jan. 1, 1893, no payments have been made by the city and the amount now sought to be recovered by the suit is $25,000. Since the financial supplies were cut off by the city it has sent 380 persons to the home for treatment. Judge Burke issued a summons in the suit returnable at the June term of court.

VENICE IN CHICAGO.

IMRE KIRALFY'S LATEST PLAN FOR A GREAT SPECTACULAR SHOW.

The "Merchant of Venice" Entertainment Has Been Running Abroad for a Year, but Is Now to Be Transplanted to Chicago—Company Incorporated with $600,000 Capital Stock and John T. Dickinson as Promoter—Buildings to Be Constructed Near Jackson Park.

In the fall, if all goes well, Chicago may have a spectacular amusement which will revive to some extent the glories of the Exposition and more than fill the place of Steele Mackaye's spectatorium and Buffalo Bill combined. It will be the "Merchant of Venice," spectacularized by Imre Kiralfy.

This remarkable entertainment is not a novelty abroad, as it has been running for the last year or more in London. It is now proposed to transplant it to Chicago, to provide for it gigantic buildings and grounds, and follow it with a similar spectacular production at least once in every year. Its name abroad is "Venice in London," and its name here will be "Venice in Chicago." Steps are being taken at the same time to open a "Venice in Paris."

SCENES IN THE PROPOSED SPECTACULAR, "VENICE IN CHICAGO."

The work is to be undertaken by a corporation called the Chicago Exhibition company, which has just filed its incorporation papers, capitalized at $600,000, each share being $100. The promoter is John T. Dickerson, Secretary of the World's Columbian Commission. He declares gratifying progress has already been made in disposing of the stock, and if it is all taken by July 1 this show may be thrown open to the Chicago public Sept. 1.

The vast theater in which this exhibition is to be given is to be constructed of the material of the World's Fair buildings and located in close proximity to Jackson Park. The projectors have obtained options on two different lots of land for this purpose and will take a ten years' lease on one or the other of them, with the right to purchase at the expiration of the term. One of these is the ground used by Buffalo Bill's Wild West show last summer. The other is the triangle of land bounded by Fifty-seventh street, Fifty-ninth street, Stony Island avenue, and the Illinois Central railroad tracks.

The design for the building has been made by S. S. Beman. It will be 770 feet long and 300 feet wide, and will have on its main façade a quadrangular tower 300 feet high. It will have an auditorium with a seating capacity of 10,000 and a stage 250 feet in width, which will accommodate over 1,000 performers. In front of the stage will be a beautiful lake, reflecting ballets, pageants, and aquatic processions. Other features will be numerous cascades, fountains, caves, grottoes, temples, al fresco fêtes, and water carnivals. The whole conception is that of Imre Kiralfy, whose "America" will long be remembered in Chicago, and who describes the genesis of the idea in his mind as follows:

As usual, before commencing the construction of one of my histrionic spectacles, I made myself thoroughly acquainted with the history of the country with which I propose to deal, and in the pursuit of my studies I found that the epoch of the Chioggian wars was not only most suitable for the purpose of spectacular production, but that it contained exceptionally strong situations. This period was one of the most remarkable and interesting in the history of Venice, for she then passed through her greatest crisis and emerged from these wars weakened and crippled in forces, it is true, but covered with glory arising from some of her most famous naval and military victories. Having decided to select this period as the date of my historic spectacle my next care was to find some romantic story which could be advantageously interwoven with the historic truths. I decided on the "Merchant of Venice." But before I could positively decide that I might consistently combine this beautiful romance with the stern facts of history I made a careful collation of all the authorities on Shakspeare, as well as a study of the sources from whence he drew the story. To my delight I found that not only was there not anything incongruous, but that everything tended to make my selection as happy as I could possibly desire.

YACHTS GO TO MEET THE VALIANT.

Start for Racine to Receive a New Boat—Regatta at South Chicago.

The Lincoln Park Yacht club started yesterday in its cruise to Racine to meet the new yacht Valiant. Commodore Paulsen's big schooner Crusader led, followed by the sloop Hattie Bradwell, Capt. Bradwell, and the sloop Phantom, Capt. E. P. Warner, ex-Commodore of the club. Each boat had several guests on board. They will sail all night, and expect to reach Racine this morning. The new sloop Valiant, which was built in Racine last winter, will be received with due ceremonies into the club fleet. Then the boats will start on a race for this city and will arrive some time during the night. The Valiant is constructed on the Vigilant plan and belongs to the forty-foot class. It is expected to be fast. One of its owners, Vice-Commodore Berriman of the Lincoln Park club, will be a delegate at the convention called at Racine today of the various Lake Michigan yacht clubs. Acting under the orders of Commodore Boyle the Captains of the boats of the Columbia Yacht club will report at the club house this morning at 9:30 o'clock. At 10 o'clock the fleet will set sail for South Chicago, and go through the evolutions of a squadron drill under signal. At South Chicago the crews will disembark and a picnic will be held on the beach. In the afternoon the fleet will return to the city. The following boats will sail: Rambler, Elida, Allie T., Pinta, Hattie B., Peri, and The Skate.

FOR THE DESPLAINES CAMP-MEETING.

Two hundred Methodists tramped through the rain yesterday to attend the thirty-fifth annual business meeting of the Chicago District Camp Ground Association held at the grounds near Desplaines. Bishop S. M. Merrill was chosen Permanent Chairman, the Rev. J. A. Matlock was elected Secretary, and the Rev. M. W. Satterfield and the Rev. N. M. Stokes were elected as assistants. J. H. Manny and William S. Verity were reëlected as trustees, and Carlton Gary was appointed to fill the position formerly occupied by Charles E. Piper. The trustees have secured a reduction in rates on the Northwestern between the city and the grounds, and the round-trip ticket now costs the purchaser but 50 cents. The organization instructed its Secretary to wire a dispatch of greeting to the Rev. T. C. Hoag, the only surviving charter member of the Board of Trustees, who now lies in Pasadena, Cal., at death's door. The trustees held a meeting later in the day and elected officers as follows: D. W. Potter, President; G. D. Elderkin, Vice-President; J. H. Manny, Secretary; W. S. Verity, Treasurer.

In the afternoon there was a religious meeting. A called meeting will be held by the Board of Trustees in a few days at No. 57 Washington street, when all arrangements will be completed for the camp meeting, which will commence July 19 and continue until July 31.

BUY INDIAN SUPPLIES IN CHICAGO.

Bids for $1,000,000 in Provisions Accepted—Great Saving Over New York Prices.

Bids for supplies at the United States Warehouse of Indian Affairs were closed yesterday and the following officials from Washington and New York departed: Daniel M. Browning, Commissioner; R. A. Cochran, private secretary; S. E. Slater, chief financial clerk; John A. Beckwith, contractor; E. Goodwin, clerk; Joseph T. Bender, chief warehouse clerk; and E. L. Cooper, inspector.

Mr. Browning said he believed $1,000,000 in supplies had been purchased in Chicago for $100,000 less than they would have cost in New York. He was pleased with the success of the new Chicago warehouse.

De Witt C. Cregier, Superintendent, said the business of the warehouse hereafter would consist in shipping the supplies for which requisitions were received from Washington. Samples of the accepted bids are filed in the warehouse. When ordered from Washington, the bidder will be drawn upon for his supplies, which will be tested, and if equal in quality to the samples will be shipped and paid for.

There were 442 bids received. Of 142,000,000 pounds of beef offered, 30,000,000 pounds were accepted. Other bids were accepted in the following quantities: Flour, 9,000,000 pounds; bacon, 560,000 pounds; corn, 2,000,000 pounds; cornmeal, 60,000 pounds; hard bread, 100,000 pounds; hominy, 65,000 pounds; lard, 37,000 pounds; pork, 750 barrels; rolled oats, 32,000 pounds; salt, 315,000 pounds; oats, 640,000 pounds. Quantities of furniture, wooden ware, harness, leather, agricultural implements, wagons, hardware, stoves and tinware, drugs, paints, and oils were contracted for.

ED WHITE AS A WASHINGTON ELOPER.

New Role Essayed by the Chicago Sporting Writer.

Telegraphic dispatches from Richmond, Va., say that Ed White, sporting editor of a Chicago paper, has eloped with a Washington society woman. White was known in Chicago, but he was never sporting editor of any Chicago paper. He was formerly a bookmaker's clerk on the Southern circuit and came to Chicago two years ago. He got work as a reporter on the Times and later did the Roby races for the City Press Association. He was afterwards one of the turf writers on the Inter-Ocean. White claimed to be the possessor of a charter for a race-track in Virginia, granted by the Legislature of that State. As the horsemen have been driven out of the District of Columbia, White claimed his charter was worth several thousand dollars. It was sweeping in its provisions and was drawn by Judge Pryor of New York, whose nephew he claimed to be. White left here the Saturday before the Brooklyn Handicap was run, ostensibly to see the race. He said to friends before leaving that he had an appointment in Washington with a man regarding the purchase of the charter.

Grand Jury to Investigate Gambling.

The grand jury yesterday appointed a committee of five to investigate bucket-shops and gamblers. This committee was appointed after an hour's discussion relative to the existence of gambling-houses and bucket-shops in the down-town district. Adams C. Oldenburg was made Chairman of the committee.

TOWARD OLD LEVEL.

Bullish Influences Less Pronounced—Showers West of the Missouri River—Poor Market for Speculative Holdings—Cables Exhibit Continued Heaviness—Difficult to Confirm Reports of Export Business—Big Receipts of Corn—Better Tone in Hog Product.

The wheat market was almost entirely without supporting elements yesterday and prices were slightly lower from first to last. The conditions were such that timid holders were easily shaken out and the bears quick to press their advantage. At no time a big market or an important one, prices were easily shifted and the tendency was toward the old level of depression. Professionals and scalpers all had wheat in the morning, bought previously on the theory that approaching frosts would make a market for it. Instead the frosts failed to materialize. Furthermore, Nebraska, Kansas, and Missouri all reported rainfall; possibly too late to benefit the crop materially, yet it had an effect sentimentally, and longs sold out, with little "good" buying to offset this. The price broke early, July selling off nearly 1c to 55⅛c before there was a rally. At this juncture Linn appeared as a conspicuous buyer, and some of the purchases by Schwartz-Dupee were believed to be for his account. Holders of puts of course bought in order to get action on their privileges. On subsequent buying to cover scattered shorts the market quickly reacted to 55⅛@55⅝c and held around there all day closing at 55⅝c or ⅛c net loss. No help was derived from the cables. Private ones were weak and depressed and Liverpool refused utterly to follow our advance of the day before, ruling a farthing lower. The weekly shipments from the Baltic and other ports exclusive of America were fair at 4,096,000 bu. Exports from the seaboard were liberal for the day at 440,000 bu. For the first time in a week New York reported business on export account, some advices claiming twenty-three boat loads taken while others denied that half that much had been worked. This new business and the Bradstreet report of available stocks indicating a fair decrease brought a little buying toward the close. Locally the cash market was dull and uninteresting. Receipts at all primary points were 211,500 bu and shipments 155,000 bu. Operations in the pit were purely professional, and the fact that today will be observed as a holiday in all American markets restricted the volume of business.

Corn refused to yield to the influence of a weak wheat market and while dull and narrow held fairly steady, closing that way. The receipts were large at 600 cars and so with the estimate for today at 490 cars, but there was only a fractional recession on this. July closed at 38⅛c after selling off to 37⅞c. A fairly good cash demand was again the rule, buyers making inroads in the stock of No. 2 mixed. Norton-Worthington and Fyffe-Snydacker were buyers, but in the main speculative trade was on a small scale. Cables were ⅛@¼c higher; exports 126,000 bu and New York reported 120,000 bu taken for early shipment. While the market was scarcely in shape to hold against weakness in wheat the report of considerable damage by reason of frost was a sustaining factor. Receipts at all primary points were 648,000 bu and shipments 526,000 bu. Local withdrawals from store were 477,000 bu. Sales in store and to go there were at 37⅛@37⅝c for No. 2, 38⅛@38⅜c for do yellow, and 37@37⅛c for No. 3. Free on board sales were at 37⅞c for No. 4, 38⅛c for No. 2, and 38@38⅜c for No. 3 white.

In oats a strong cash market was the leading factor that produced the same feeling in futures, notwithstanding weakness elsewhere. Hess sold a considerable quantity of the May, and bought the June at a difference of 1-16c in favor of the former. Noble-Jones and J. C. Ross took liberal quantities of the June. Withdrawals from store were fair at 62,160 bu. Receipts were moderate for two days at 328 cars, with 160 cars expected today. September sold at 26⅛@27c, and rested at 26⅞@27c, an advance of ⅛@¼c. June ranged at 33⅝@34⅛c, and closed with the outside bid, or ¾c higher. The demand for samples continued excellent, and values were ⅛@½c higher. Free-on-board sales were at 33⅛@36c for No. 3, 34⅛@34⅞c for No. 2, and 37⅛@38c for do white.

Rye was firm and cash 1c higher. Offerings were light. An improved demand was noticeable, shippers' and milling interests both being active. No. 2 in store sold at 48c, an advance of 1c over former bids, while samples went at 48½c. July sold at a former figure of 46c, and closed with that bid. September was 48c sellers. Barley ruled dull and about steady at the recent decline. Buyers were few. Common to fair sold at 43@54c.

Bran was dull and lower, with sales at $11.00@11.25.

In provisions the only interesting feature was the better tone. Not that brokers were burdened with buying orders; in fact the speculative trade was small and unimportant. But the sentiment was more favorable to the long side. Shipping houses reported a better demand for cash stuff and lard, which has long been a drug, actually closed at 5c advance with the July at $6.77½ asked. Hog receipts were larger than expected and cables were dull, but the packers, such as Hately, Swift, and the Anglo, offered some support and fair steadiness prevailed. Pork lost 5c and ribs 2½c. Cash sales included 500 tcs lard at $7.75, 50,000 bu sweet pickled hams at $9.12½c, and 132,000 lbs short ribs part at $6.22½@6.25.

Flaxseed was easier. May was on sale at a decline of 3c and went begging at that, although there was a late sale at $1.30. No. 1 Northwestern on track sold at a former bid price of $1.30. September was inactive and steady, with $1.10½ bid and $1.11 sellers. Receipts were 2 cars, and shipments nothing. Timothy was inactive, excepting sales of sparse bag lots at $3.20@3.60. This was all the cash offered. Prime was nominally $4.10. Clover was also inactive, scarce, and nominally steady on the basis of $9.10 for prime.

Trade Talk on 'Change.

The San Francisco Commercial News of the 25th inst. says of wheat: So far as heard from the crop appears to have made good headway under the influence of favorable weather, and should present conditions hold there is little reason for expecting less than three-fourths of an average yield at least, and this, with the generous carry-over stock, will leave an average amount of wheat to be disposed of during the coming season. Estimates extend from half a crop to a small average, but in view of the lack of uniformity of appearance in any one section it is probably safer to take the mean between the two estimates. Locally conditions are quite discouraging from an exporter's standpoint. The last ship in the engaged list cleared during the week with 62,022 centals of wheat, and leaving a blank in that department that is not likely to be filled during the remainder of the season. It also makes practically certain that from contractions in exports alone, as compared with those of last season the carry-over stock would this year be increased by about 100,000 tons; already the excess of last season amounts to 93,302 short tons.

Jim Patten has practically retired from business and yesterday transferred a few scattering trades in oats preparatory to going away. A few in the trade who were cognizant of it were amused over a little episode in this connection. One broker representing 5,000 bu refused to transfer the trade unless he was paid his "sixteenth," which is an unusual demand in such cases. It was sufficient to induce Patten to announce that instead of granting it he would call margins sharply, which must be deposited promptly on the hour, and that he would continue in business until the "five" was fully settled. Patten sails for Europe June 13.

Fourteen provision houses have filed their bonds for the ensuing year and are declared regular by the Board of Directors for the period beginning June 1. Included are the Anglo-American, the Chicago Packing and Provision company, the International, and Viles-Robbins. Those conspicuous by their absence are Armour, Swift, and Morris. The two last named filed their bonds and subsequently withdrew them before the meeting of the directors.

Bradstreet's report of the available supply last week shows the following changes: Wheat east of the Rockies decreased 1,655,000 bu; Pacific coast decreased 95,000 bu. Total east and west 1,750,000 bu. Europe and afloat decreased 408,000 bu. Australia not reported. Corn east of the Rockies decreased 570,000 bu. Oats increased 223,000 bu.

McMurtry was in from his Indiana farm, and is not ready to say that the frost of Monday morning harmed wheat, although it cut vegetables. "I believe wheat about low enough," he said. "We will not raise a bumper crop and farmers' reserves are probably small; they certainly are in my section of the winter wheat fields, where farmers as a rule are well able to hold wheat if they want to do so."

The signal service map and private telegrams showed that rain had fallen over a considerable area of Southern and Eastern Nebraska, all of Kansas, and Western Missouri. Frost was reported at Green Bay, Wis., and at one point in New York.

The premium on cash lard over futures has entirely disappeared for the first time in weeks, and shipping houses express more confidence in the outlook for home and export demand. Foreigners are now buying more or less of this product for August and September shipment.

Prime says the winter wheat harvest will commence in Oklahoma this week, the crop looking fairly well but showing some rust. He reports prospects favorable for a full average crop in Texas, with the harvest beginning this week.

George Phillips estimates that the stocks of provisions next Friday will include 62,500 brls pork, 5,000,000 lbs ribs, while the lard stock is uncertain, probably 15,000 to 20,000 tcs.

The contract stocks of wheat increased 23,000 bu last week, and there are now in regular warehouses in this city 17,650,000 bu contract grades, of which 6,951,000 bu are No. 2 red winter.

Estimated receipts for today: Wheat, 50 cars; corn, 490 cars; oats, 160 cars; and 26,000 hogs. There will be no session today—Decoration day.

Lake freights were ⅛c higher, with a fair demand for tonnage on the basis of 1⅛c for corn to Buffalo. Charters were made for 240,000 bu corn.

ALONG SOUTH WATER STREET.

Heavy Receipts of Strawberries from Michigan—Wool Market Unsettled.

It was a quiet day in the markets for street produce. Prices of new wool are still unsettled. Old wool was too scarce to cut much figure, and quietude was the only feature. Arrivals of strawberries from Michigan were a trifle burdensome, and $1.75 per 16-quart case was about the outside. Choice spring chickens advanced sharply and ranged at 22@26c. No changes of importance were noted elsewhere. E. C. Reichwald has just returned from an extended trip through the Michigan fruit belt. He reports the crop in good shape and enormous. Merchants on the street will close their houses at noon today as a rule.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 29.—WHEAT—Weak and lower, as the sensation created by prospects of frost had subsided and the disposition among local operators was to sell rather than to buy, as they seemed to believe that the tendency would be downward until some new sensation is created. The market opened slightly lower than the close yesterday, and later declined nearly ½c and closed ⅜c lower than yesterday for May and July and ¼c lower for track wheat, but ⅛c higher for September. Receipts were smaller, amounting to only 99,360 bu, with shipments of 13,650 bu, leaving some 50,000 bu short of the local consumption for the day, which would consume a large part of the surplus left over from yesterday's large receipts. Tomorrow being a holiday, there was no disposition on the part of local operators to open new trades—all they did practically was to close up old deals. The market closed: May and July, 57⅛c; September, 55⅛c. On track—No. 1 hard, 61c; No. 1 Northern, 59⅛c; No. 2 Northern, 58c. Flour shipments were 26,051 brls, about 4,000 brls below the production. The market was quiet at $3.35@3.50 for patents and $2.05@2.30 for bakers', with sales considerably below the day's output.

Car Company's Mortgage.

A first mortgage deed of trust for $1,750,000 and a second mortgage for $2,000,000 were filed with Recorder Chase yesterday by the United States Car company. The mortgage is in favor of the Central Trust company of New York and is dated May 1. It covers all property owned by the car company and is to run for fifty years, the bonds issued to bear 5 per cent interest from May 1. A deed for certain property in Alabama, Ohio, and Cook County, Ill., preceded the mortgages. By the first document Thomas F. B. Parker and Julia C. Parker convey to the United States Car company the property mentioned in consideration of the payment of $2,000,000. The deed is given to secure first mortgage debentures of the car company to the extent of £225,000 sterling.

NEW ISSUE IN SIGHT.

PROSPECT OF MORE LAKE STREET ELEVATED BONDS COMING OUT.

Gossip About American Strawboard Reorganization—Question Is Raised as to the Genuineness of the Northwestern Elevated Scheme—Some Parallels Between It and the Old Economic Gas Deal—Illinois Trust and Savings Opens a Bond Department.

A new issue of Lake Street Elevated bonds is on the tongues of the financial gossips. They haven't any very clear ideas of when the issue is going to be made nor how large the block will be, but they say there are indications pointing to the certainty of an early issue. Under the present mortgage more bonds can be put out at the rate of $800,000 a mile for all new construction that may be built. It is not easy to see, however, just how these bonds are to be marketed. They may be "sweetened" with another stock bonus, but the stock of the company is already pretty large in volume when compared with the earnings of the company and a further issue would certainly not be welcomed by present stockholders.

"American Strawboard is puzzling the people who are in control of it," said a broker yesterday. "Gen. Thomas has had hold of the property about four months, but he has not yet developed any clear plan as to just what he can do in the way of a reorganization. I know that he has in mind a reorganization of some kind, but the present time is not a particularly auspicious one for reorganizing in the way he would like to and that is probably why no brilliant scheme of financiering has yet resulted from last January's election. Gen. Thomas' past record has indicated his preference for stock assessments and I believe that his plan, when it is finally announced, will be an assessment on the stock sufficient to pay off the bonds and clear up the floating debt of the company and start it on the road without any incumbrances. This would put it in such a strong financial condition that it could dictate terms to the outside mills, for it would be in such shape that it could get on for a time without earning anything at all, and that ought to make it master of the field. The outside mills are getting pretty sick now. It is true that the Strawboard company is making practically nothing, but if it is able to pull through the year and not lose anything the stockholders will be fairly well satisfied. With a reorganization after a while, which will put the company in an unassailable financial position, I believe it would be possible to force an agreement on all the makers of strawboard which will be permanent and reasonably profitable. The day of unreasonable profits in that business is over, for no matter how compactly the present manufacturers may get together they will not be foolish enough to put up prices to a point that will again stimulate the building of new mills."

There is a good deal of guessing as to just what the Northwestern people are driving at. There is a growing suspicion that they haven't any intention at all of building a road, and that the whole scheme is a bluff to keep out other roads from the North Side and to possibly prevent the consummation of a union loop scheme. Mr. Yerkes' connection with the enterprise is probably what leads to that opinion. It is answered by the fact that there are some other gentlemen who are stockholders in the company who would hardly lend themselves to such a proceeding. The company really has among its stockholders some of the stanchest financial people in the city, and they have paid in their money in apparent good faith and profess to believe the railroad is to be constructed. In this connection it might be well to remember a little of the history of the Economic Gas company. That was another of Mr. Yerkes' enterprises, and was organized for the most legitimate purpose of making and selling gas much cheaper than the existing companies were willing to sell it for. Into that scheme, too, some of the most reputable financial men in the city were induced to come. When it was later hinted that the whole business was but a sandbagging enterprise which had been organized to sell out to the gas trust these gentlemen denied the allegation with the sharpest emphasis and pointed to their past record as proof that they would not engage in any such business. In good time the company was sold out to the gas trust, nevertheless, although it was done against the will and without the fullest knowledge of many of its stockholders. The question is now natural if this Northwestern elevated enterprise has not been planned in the same mold from which the Economic Gas company was turned out.

The Stock Exchange election will be held next Monday and promises to arouse an unusual interest. A great deal of quiet wire-pulling is now going on in favor of one ticket or the other, and each side expresses entire confidence in having enough votes to elect.

The Illinois Trust and Savings Bank has added a bond department to its business, and will hereafter engage extensively in retailing investment bonds. It will carry a stock of several million dollars of bonds of various kinds, and expects to find a wide market among its long list of clients.

Dullness is more pronounced, if that is possible, about the banks. The coal miners' strike is perhaps given an undue prominence in finding a cause for this, for that has not actually interferred to decrease business materially. The effect of there being mobs in so many parts of the State which require the calling out of the militia is anything but pleasant for a capitalist to contemplate, however, and it is useless to look for any signs of returning confidence while labor conditions remain as they are.

GENERAL ADVANCE IN PRICES.

Active Bull Manipulation in a Few Properties at Gotham.

NEW YORK, May 29.—[Special.]—The share speculation today was characterized by a firmer tone and prices generally advanced. There was a disposition among the bears to cover shorts over the Memorial day holiday, and this had much to do with the improvement, although the market was strengthened sympathetically by active bull manipulation in a few properties. Business, however, was again concentrated in a few stocks, and the activity was confined to Sugar and Chicago gas of the industrials, and Burlington and Quincy, St. Paul, Atchison, and Reading of the railways. There were some special causes at work calculated to exert a favorable influence on most of the properties above mentioned. Prominent among these was the Burlington and Quincy statement for April. A story from Philadelphia that there will be no foreclosure of the Reading mortgages and that within a few months a reorganization plan will have been adopted through the aid of the New York committee of general mortgage and bondholders, who are said to have promised $20,000,000, attarcted much attention and led to an advance in Reading stock and bonds. The story, however, could not be confirmed. Rumors that the regular dividends on American Sugar Refining and Chicago Gas would be declared within ten days helped both of these stocks, and the improvement in sugar was accelerated by favorable reports from Washington about the schedule. The anthracite coal shares were strengthened by the announcement that both the Eastern and Western agents had advanced prices from 15c to 25c per ton. The principal feature of the general situation was the engagement of $1,100,000 gold for shipment to Europe Thursday next. Part of this gold is on special orders from Berlin and it is surmised that Austria is again in the market. Chicago Gas recorded the greatest advance of the day and rose 2⅜, with a late reaction of ⅜. American Sugar refining was strong from the opening until well into the afternoon, but near the close the stock weakened. The price advanced 2¼ and reacted 1¾. The preferred was fractionally higher. The National Lead shares improved ⅛@⅜ and General Electric, Distilling, and National Cordage ⅛@⅛. Consolidated Gas receded 1¼ and rallied ⅜. In sugar certificates today the transactions were almost all between room traders, who both bought and sold at the advance. The brokers generally regarded as agents for insiders did little or nothing in the stock.

Railway and miscellaneous bonds somewhat irregular during the day but closed steady, the prominent changes being: Advances—United States Cordage 1s and Baltimore and Ohio consol 5s of 1988, each 2⅝; Reading 1s preferred, 1⅛; do 3s, 1; St. Louis and San Francisco consol 5s, 1⅛; Austin and Northern 1s and Colorado Midland 4s, each 1 per cent. Declines—Norfolk and Southern 5s and Chesapeake and Ohio Southwestern 6s, each 3; Northern Pacific terminal 1s, 2; Union Pacific sinking fund 8s, 1⅛; Northwest Gold 7s, coupon, and St. Paul, M. and M., Montana Central 5s, 1 per cent.

Money on call easy at 1 per cent. Last loan 1, closed 1 per cent. Prime mercantile paper, 2⅜@4⅛ per cent. Sterling exchange firm, with actual business in bankers' bills at 488⅝ for demand and at 487½ for sixty days; posted rates, 488½@490; commercial bills, 486⅛; silver certificates, 64@65. The total sales of stocks today were 137,613 shares.

Government bonds firm; State bonds dull.

MONETARY MATTERS AT LONDON.

New India Loan a Success—Little Trading in American Railway Shares.

LONDON, May 29.—The only feature of the markets today was the success of the new India loan. This is largely subscribed for and is alotted at 2 per cent premium. All the leading stocks were dull. South Americans were down on the advance in Argentine gold premiums to 331. American railroad shares rallied at the close on New York quotations, but almost nothing was doing in them here.

FIRST CLAIM ON THE BANK'S CASH.

Trust Fund in Milwaukee Declared to Be a Preferred Account.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 29.—[Special.]—Court Commissioner Ryan today decided that a claim of John Q. Burnham, as guardian of the minor heirs of Thomas Stearns, for $11,213, is a preferred claim against the defunct South Side Savings Bank. Cashier Koetting was the guardian and the money was mingled with the funds of the bank.

The Health Department today discovered two new cases of smallpox in a family named Inglis at No. 226 Clark street.

Vice-President J. D. Hickey and the other delegates from this city to the meeting of the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers at Cleveland have returned. They will not make public the new scale, but say it contemplates an increase in wages in all departments of mill work.

A Useful and Self-Satisfying Invention.

Topeka (Kas.) Capital: A country correspondent of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE has invented a device, consisting of a wheel on the ends of the spokes of which are fastened heavy, hob-nailed boots. The citizen who voted for Cleveland stands midway between the wheel and a crank, operating in connection with the wheel by means of ordinary shafting, and by turning the crank the boots are made to revolve in such a manner as to administer punishment where it is best appreciated, as the operator leans forward with his back to the boots in turning the crank. The rapidity with which the crank is turned gauges the punishment inflicted and depends, of course, on the degree of repentance felt by the operator as he contemplates his share of responsibility for the present administration. The inventor of this simple yet effective self-kicker writes to THE TRIBUNE that he has found great satisfaction in applying it to his own "Cleveland badge," and has loaned it to several neighbors who voted the Democratic ticket in 1892 and who are delighted with the satisfaction they get out of the new machine. The invention of the self-kicker is another of the many wonderful illustrations of the versatility and adaptability of the American people. No sooner does the necessity arise in this country for a new thing than the thing appears. Observe the thorough and complete manner with which the self-kicker adjusts itself to the condition of the inventor. Not only does it employ his idle moments in a manner calculated to make him remember his folly in the past, but the introduction of the machine to his neighbors has suggested a large market for its manufacture and sale. It would not be at all surprising if the inventor of the self-kicker should find such a demand for his clever invention as to afford employment in its manufacture for a large number of men thrown out of work by tariff reform and the beginning of a new American industry which can be claimed by the next Democratic national convention as truly Democratic. Agents for the introduction of the self-kicker in every Democratic and Populist State in the country are desired. They should apply to THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. A cut of the machine may be seen at this office.

BIG GAIN FOR THE "Q."

NET EARNINGS FOR APRIL SHOW AN INCREASE OF $138,837.

Decrease of $494,752 in Gross Earnings, but Rigid Economy Cuts Operating Expenses $610,708—Railroads Propose to Force Scalpers Out of Business Under the Recent Decision of the Supreme Court of Illinois, Holding the Anti-Scalpers' Law Constitutional.

Much satisfaction is expressed by the friends of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad company over the result of the company's operations for the month of April, 1894. It was generally expected that the statement for April would show a large deficit, as business was exceedingly dull and the coal strikes were doing much injury. For the same month last year there was a deficit of $98,514 in net earnings, and not only has this been all wiped out but a surplus is recorded for April, 1894, of $40,322, making a total gain of $138,837. There was a decrease of $494,752 in gross earnings, but by most rigid economy operating expenses were decreased $610,708, leaving the net increase named above.

The following is a statement of gross earnings, expenses, and net earnings of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy system of railroads, including the Burlington and Missouri River railroad of Nebraska, for the month of April and for the four months ending April 30, 1894, as compared with the corresponding periods in the year 1893:

WILL PROCEED AGAINST SCALPERS.

Railroads Propose to Combine to Force Scalpers Out of Business.

Passenger rate complications west from Chicago and St. Louis having now been adjusted, some action will probably be taken in a few days by the leading Western roads regarding the recent decision of the Supreme Court declaring the Illinois anti-scalpers' law constitutional. Notwithstanding the decision the scalpers continue to do business as usual and pay no attention whatever to the law. It is now the intention of the leading roads centering in Chicago to combine with a view of forcing the scalpers here to go out of the business. The railroad officials seem to think that rate demoralization cannot be prevented until the scalpers are compelled to quit the business. The public, they say, is in no way benefited by the scalpers. Many of the tickets they sell are irregular and are liable to cause trouble to the people who buy them. Under the law the railroads are compelled to redeem unused tickets or portions thereof at their full value, and therefore no necessity exists for people to sell such tickets to scalpers at much less than their actual value.

National Educational Rates.

As regards rates and arrangements for the National Educational Association meeting at Asbury Park July 10 to 13, the Western roads have agreed that the rate from Eastern committee and trans-Missouri territory shall be one standard first-class limited fare (not differential or temporarily reduced rate) plus $2; tickets to be sold only over such routes as may be authorized by their Eastern connections. Tickets to be sold from Eastern committee territory July 7 and 8, from territory west of the Missouri River July 6 and 7, and to be good for going passage commencing date of sale only; tickets to be restricted for return passage leaving Eastern gateways July 14, 21, and 28 only, with the understanding that the final return limit in Eastern committee territory shall in no case exceed July 29, and in trans-Missouri territory July 30, 1894, tickets to be continuous passage in each direction west of Eastern gateways.

Reduced Rates for Meetings.

The passenger department of the Central Traffic Association has agreed to grant excursion rates at a fare and one-third for the round trip for the following occasions: General Synod Reformed Church in America, Asbury Park, N. J., June 6 to 15, 1894, from all association points; annual meeting, State Camp, Patriotic Order Sons of America, Mount Carroll, Ill., June 12 to 14, from points in Illinois; Butchers' National Protective Association, Wheeling, W. Va., June 12 to 16, from all association points; Association of the Graduates and Former Pupils of the Indiana Institution for the Deaf, Indianapolis, Ind., June 15 to 17, from points in Indiana only; National Division Sons of Temperance, Waterville, Me., July 11, from all association points.

Railway Notes.

Failing in stopping rate manipulation on freight from the East Commissioner Stahlmann has issued an order to reduce the rate from New York to all points within the territory of the Southern Railway Association 65 per cent.

A special fast freight train has been placed in service between Chicago and St. Paul and Minneapolis by the Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad. This train will make the run in nineteen hours and forty minutes, averaging a little over twenty miles an hour. The fastest time heretofore made by a freight train between these points has been twenty-two hours.

A meeting of the General Passenger Agents of the roads west of the Missouri River was called yesterday by General Passenger Agent John Sebastian of the Rock Island, who has been named as Chairman of the Trans-Missouri Passenger Association, to be held at the Auditorium Hotel in this city to take up the question of forming a passenger association between the Missouri River and the Pacific coast.

Notice was received from the Southern Pacific yesterday announcing that the truce regarding passenger relations between that road and the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé has been extended from June 1 until June 15, 1894. The reason for this is that Presidents Reinhart and Huntington have not been able to come together to consider the passenger relations between the roads, but expect to meet in New York within a few days.

Receiver C. T. McLellan of the Leavenworth, Topeka and Southwestern railway company, announces the following appointments: F. C. Gay, Topeka, Kas., General Freight Agent; George T. Nicholson, Topeka, Kas., General Passenger Agent; R. B. Gemmell, Topeka, Kas., Superintendent of Telegraph; P. Walsh, Topeka, General Baggage Agent; C. W. Konns, Topeka, Car Service Superintendent. All of these officials hold similar positions with the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé.

A meeting of the Advisory committee of the immigrant clearing-house of the Western Passenger Association at New York was held yesterday at Chairman Caldwell's office, and ways and means were considered for carrying out the new agreement, which has been accepted by all roads, including the Union Pacific. Chairman Caldwell was directed to go to New York at once to assist General Agent Pratt in putting the machinery in motion and secure an equitable division of the immigrant traffic.

FARWELL IS SCORED.

ATTORNEY MONROE EXCORIATES HIM IN AN ARGUMENT.

In His Address Before Judge Tuley in the Sturges Arbitration Case the Lawyer Piles the Merchant with Many Cutting Words—Says the Moral Wreck of the Chief Defendant Presents a Picture More Pitiable Even than the Mental Wreck of His Client.

Argument in the Sturges-Farwell arbitration was begun yesterday before Judge Tuley, the principal feature of the proceedings being the address of Henry S. Monroe, Mr. Sturges' attorney. Mr. Monroe said some hard things about John V. Farwell, who listened stolidly. Mr. Farwell was early on hand, with his brother Charles B. Farwell and Attorneys High and Westover. Attorney Edward McCarthy of New York, Attorney Monroe, and John A. Kruse represented the Sturges interest. Mrs. Sturges and her friends, who have watched the case closely since it was first put on hearing several weeks ago, were present.

Mr. Monroe desired to introduce evidence to show that the Farwells held control of the stock of the Capitol company and could manipulate it so that it would be of little value to holders. Attorney High objected and Judge Tuley directed that the testimony should be confined to show the status of the property only.

Attorney High on behalf of the Farwells presented to the court certified copies of the adjudication in bankruptcy of William Sturges in the United States court on two separate occasions. Attorney Jenkins was called to testify that he had acted as assignee of Mr. Sturges. Judge Tuley ruled that the witness should not testify as to the amounts involved in the bankruptcy affairs.

"Were any dividends paid in either case?" asked the attorney.

"No," was the reply.

Attorney McCarthy said he had sent in his printed arguments on the agreed time to counsel for the Farwells, but had not received theirs until long after the promised date. Under these circumstances he said he might have to ask for a week's time after the oral argument had been closed to prepare a reply.

Both Attorneys Westover and High explained the reasons for delay, which were unavoidable, and Attorney McCarthy desired then to be understood he was not "kicking." He also asked the court to notice that the index to the big book of testimony had been prepared by counsel for the Farwell brothers and Abner Taylor.

"It looks like an index," commented Mr. McCarthy, "but it is really the most adroit argument in behalf of the Farwells which has been presented to your Honor." Judge Tuley, in reply, said he had prepared an index of his own.

Attorney Monroe's Argument.

Attorney Monroe then opened the argument in behalf of the complainants. He spoke of the postponements of the hearing and continued in part as follows:

My client, when these postponements were taken, was in the full possession of all his powers, mental and physical. He had one of the most wonderful memories that I ever knew of. He would have gone on that witness stand, your Honor, and told all the circumstances from the commencement to the end of his work; from June, 1884, until he left the Capitol in 1889. He would have shown all the troubles, all the difficulties, all the discouragements, and what was done to meet every one, until the close of that business, and he would have told it so that your Honor would have believed it, because it would have corresponded with all the letters and the acts of the parties themselves. Mr. Westover at that time suggested that the testimony of the Farwells and Sturges be taken by a master. I refused. I wish to God I had consented. I wanted William Sturges and John V. Farwell themselves on the witness stand, so that your Honor could hear their stories and judge whom to believe. I wouldn't then have consented to that if they had offered my client $50,000 in money. It would have been no temptation.

Well, the vacation passed, and his wife returned to Chicago and at once came to me and told me that her husband's mind and physical powers were most rapidly decaying, and urged me to insist upon the immediate trial of this case. I saw Mr. Sturges and was appalled at his condition, for but the Sunday before he left to spend the Christmas vacation with his family, I noticed no impairment of his mind. I then applied to your Honor to set the case at the earliest possible moment. Your Honor did so. When that time came Mr. Westover was sick and wholly unable to try the case, and the case was postponed for a short period—I believe for ten days. When the ten days had expired he was no better. The 3d of April came, and my client was placed upon the stand. Three or four days before the day of the trial I had an interview with him, and believed that I could then prove by him certain most necessary facts in relation to this case, facts in regard to the Kensington contract and some others; and when I opened this case I stated what I hoped and believed I would be able to prove; but when my client was placed upon the stand his mind and memory were gone. He was a complete physical and mental wreck; and he is now given up by his physicians at the asylum. But this, your Honor, isn't the only wreck in this case.

Gives Farwell a Scorching.

The principal defendant, who for the last thirty years or more was honored in this community as a Christian, an honest man, a philanthropist, and a patriot, has, by the proof in this case, been stripped of the habiliments with which he was clothed in his iniquity and has been laid bare. He is by this record proved to be not only a dishonest man but an unchristian man—the basest kind of a hypocrite. Worse than that, it has been proved that he has admitted that he entered into a contract known to be in violation of the criminal laws of England, and has coolly suggested and advised his partner to corrupt the leading legislators of a sister State with money for his own and his partner's own personal gain—the worst crime that can be perpetrated by a citizen of a free government. The corruption of a legislator, the corruption of a court, and the corruption of a jury are the three things which, above all others, are most dangerous and most base.

The moral wreck of John V. Farwell, your Honor, is more disgraceful, more injurious to this community, and to the business interests of this State than the mental wreck of my client, however pitiable.

The real questions at issue in this case, your Honor, are these, upon which will depend your Honor's decision: We claim, first, the value of William Sturges' services from June, 1884, during the fall and winter of that year. Second, we claim the value of his services as the promoter and organizer of the Capitol Land, Freehold and Investment company, and the value of his services as the promoter and aider in selling the debentures of that company for the five following years. Third, we claim the value of Sturges' interest—whatever the court may find it to be—in the so-called Kensington contracts.

The defendants, as I understand, claim, first, that at no time, or at the time that William Sturges started in June, 1884, and at no time thereafter up until this State-House was completed were they in need of any money. They claim that John V. Farwell & Co. stood behind this syndicate, and that it had the ability at all times to carry out the work and pay for the erection of this State-House without even inconveniencing or in any way endangering the great house of John V. Farwell & Co. If that's true, your Honor, it is the element to be seriously taken into consideration in determining the equities and justice of this case. If it is not true, as I shall prove, then it will be for your Honor to consider how the testimony of these men shall be received on other doubtful points in this case.

Second—They claim that from June, 1884, up until the purchase of the Kensington contract, in the early part of the year 1886, the services of Mr. Sturges were very valuable to the syndicate. That they admit. John V. Farwell admits that the work was well done; but they claim he has been sufficiently paid for that; and C. B. Farwell claims that he never wanted Sturges in it; but John V. Farwell and C. B. Farwell claim that from the time of the purchase of the Kensington contract Sturges was of no use to them; that they were trying to get rid of him. They both claim that in 1885 they didn't want he should return to England; that in 1886 and 1887 they didn't want he should return to England; and they claim that his services from the time John V. Farwell left for America, after the purchase of the Kensington contract, he was a damage to this company instead of a benefit to it; that they could have gone on themselves and raised the money without the aid of Mr. Sturges, and better without his aid than with it.

Third—They claim that Sturges never had any interest in the Kensington contract from the beginning to the end.

A Historical Incident Recalled.

I will call your Honor's attention to an incident in the life of William Sturges which is historical, which all of us know, his conduct in that case bears so nicely upon his conduct in the case of the Capitol company. Your Honor will recollect that at the time he returned to Chicago, after negotiating the treaty with the Indians which opened up the Indian Territory and the Northwest, William Sturges went there with a number of Commissioners to negotiate a treaty. Soon most of the Commissioners left because they thought nothing could be done. Soon after most of the other Commissioners became frightened and thought they saw in the hostility of the Indians danger to themselves, and they left, begging Sturges to go with them. Sturges says: "No, I have come here to negotiate this treaty and here I will stay." To make a long story short, he did stay. He succeeded in getting the chiefs of the tribes interested and in getting the signature of each to the treaty. In that he displayed the same blood, the same nerve, the same confidence in his own resources, and the same tact that enabled him to raise $5,000,000 for the Capitol company and save the great firm of John V. Farwell & Co. from ruin.

It is evident that from the first the members of this syndicate intended to raise the main amount of money required to build the State House upon the land received from the State of Texas. Upon John V. Farwell, it is certain, devolved the financial management of this scheme. He tells us that in the latter part of the summer and fall of 1882, he attempted to raise money upon the first 500,000 or 600,000 acres here in Chicago and started to organize the company for that purpose. He says he found he could not raise the money and abandoned that organization. He says he went from here to New York and attempted to raise the money there. Failing there he says he went to Boston and there found it impossible to raise the money. In 1883 he went to Europe and he tells your Honor that—and this is the only inference your Honor can find from what he said upon this subject—that he went to his banker and the banker told him no money then could be raised on that kind of security in England, and he intended your Honor to infer that he made little or no effort himself thereafter to raise this money until after his return.

Claims Deception Is Attempted.

Now, I say that is the first instance where John V. Farwell, in cold blood, attempted to deceive your Honor, to deceive this court, and convey a false impression about it. What is the truth about this matter? Why, he not only went to his banker in London, but Stewart swears he had several interviews with John V. Farwell in the summer of 1882 about these Texas lands and the raising of money upon them. So there was John V. Farwell, with the credit and great name of his firm behind him, trying there to raise money among his old friends, who, they would have you believe, had the most unbounded confidence in the resources of his company, and added to that his own magnificent presence and his own name, and still he failed; still he admits he failed; that he couldn't raise a dollar, and returned. He says that he met Sturges in 1884, in May. He says that before that he had never had any talk with Sturges about this matter; that it was broached then the first time. In that, your Honor, he is mistaken. If he intended to tell the truth he is very much mistaken.

At Mr. Monroe's request Mr. McCarthy then read a letter from John V. Farwell to William Sturges, dated Sept. 20, 1883, bearing upon the subject under consideration.

Attorney Monroe resumed his arguments at the afternoon session and had not finished when the hour of adjournment came. He confined himself to a review of the extraordinary complication of facts in which the dispute is tangled up. Reference to contracts of one sort and another was made and innumerable meetings between the interested parties were spoken of repeatedly, yet the court, following his big book of memoranda, easily kept pace with the counsel. Each of the occurrences had some special significance which had been brought out during the previous days when the witnesses were examined. Referring to the transactions in the fall of 1884 Mr. Monroe said the Farwells were tightly pressed for money and Mr. Sturges was in England working to raise money for them. Negotiations with the Manchester parties fell through and Promoter William Kensington was called in. The four-sided contract between the Farwells, Kensington, Sturges, and Prescott was made. Kensington undertook to place $5,000,000 debenture bonds in return for 58 per cent of the stock of the Capitol Land company and 2 per cent in cash. John V. Farwell at this time showed his financial needs, counsel insisted, for Mr. Farwell had talked of abandoning the Texas Capitol contract, though he had a $500,000 bond up. After the signing of the Kensington contracts, J. V. Farwell returned to America, leaving Kensington and Sturges to raise the money. This they did and remitted amounts by cable from time to time. It was subsequent to this that John V. Farwell asked Sturges to assign to him the famous rebate contract. It was to be indorsed over to J. V. Farwell Jr. to secure an individual debt of Sturges. This proposal, counsel said, was a swindle—a plan to defraud Mr. Farwell's partner.

Attorney Monroe, continuing, spoke of other visits paid by J. V. Farwell to London and the return trip made by John V. Farwell, William Sturges, and Judge Drummond on the ill-fated Cunard liner Oregon. Mr. Sturges had written a letter to his wife about the trip and had scarcely mentioned the accident in New York harbor. This letter tended to show that the mind of Mr. Sturges was filled with the affairs of the company. The letter could not be found, however, and Attorney Monroe had to content himself with refreshing the mind of the court from his own memory.

Attorney Monroe will continue his arguments when the court again sits tomorrow morning.

REVIEW WORK OF CHICAGO DIOCESE.

Record of the Year in the Episcopal Church—St. Luke's Good Showing.

The fifty-seventh annual convention of the Diocese of Chicago met at the Cathedral of SS. Peter and Paul yesterday morning at 10 o'clock. Ninety-three clergymen and 100 lay delegates were present from the diocese, which extends as far south as Kankakee and takes in all that part of the State lying north of a line drawn from Kankakee to the Mississippi River. The morning convention was formally opened by the celebration of holy communion by the Rt. Rev. W. E. McLaren, D. D., Bishop of the diocese. The Rev. W. E. Toll of Waukegan preached the convention sermon. The convention was then called to order by the Bishop, who by virtue of his position is Chairman. The Rev. Luther Pardee was elected Secretary and the Rev. F. W. Keaton Assistant Secretary. The Rev. Arthur L. Williams was the Bishop's private secretary. The Committee on Credentials then reported, occupying the time until the noon adjournment.

At the afternoon session Bishop McLaren read a lengthy address reviewing in detail the work and progress of the church in the diocese. A total of 1,313 confirmations were reported for the year. The financial showing was satisfactory. The committee from the Board of Missions reported $16,600 expended in missionary work in the diocese during the year, maintaining forty-five missions and thirty missionaries. After the hearing of the report pledges for the coming year were taken. The parishes pledged $10,512, Sunday-schools $733, and individuals $320, making a total of $11,565, to which will be added a conditional pledge of $2,000 from St. James' parish.

Arthur Ryerson, President of St. Luke's Hospital, presented a report of that institution for the year. In the main it was as follows:

The hospital year closes Oct. 15, so that statistical items must be given as of that date past. The last hospital year saw a great increase in the work of the institution, due chiefly to the World's Fair and its inflow of population.

The number of in-patients treated was 1,862, as against 1,504 the preceding year; of dispensary patients, 5,531, as compared with 4,409 the preceding year. The number of days of care of absolutely free patients was 19,818, being 535 more than during the preceding year. Adding to this some 6,500 days of free care of patients paying partial rates, shows a total of 24,818 days of free work. The cost of this per diem was $1.56, making $41,455.08 expended in charity. This, it is believed, was expended in the best possible way, so as never to pauperize nor degrade the recipient. The total expenses of the hospital for the year were $64,550.78, or, adding repairs, interest, and insurance, $71,162.26. For the first time in many years the income exceeded expenses. The total donations amounted to $24,311.82.

During the year the support of beds has been undertaken by Mrs. H. O. Stone (two beds), Mrs. Lambert Tree, Messrs. C. W. Brega, Watson F. Blair, R. L. Jones, J. W. Doane, and the St. Luke's Women's Auxiliary Board (two beds). A donation of $5,000 from our endowment was received from W. G. Hibbard. Our debt has been still further reduced some $7,000 during the last year, being now about $33,000. The sum of $25,000 has been received from a legacy of Mrs. E. H. Hadduck.

The convention again meets at 10 o'clock this morning, and it is expected will finish its work this afternoon.

LEWELLING TALKS TO COMMONWEALERS

He Says They Have a Right to March to Washington—Army Movements.

TOPEKA, Kas., May 29.—[Special.]—Ex-Adjutant-General Artz, with his commonwealers, is awaiting orders from Gen. Sanders to go to Leavenworth. He expects to go tomorrow morning. This afternoon the company marched to the State-House grounds and was addressed by Gov. Lewelling and S. M. Scott, member of the Board of Public Works. The Governor said the men had a perfect right to march over the country and had a right to go to Washington if they saw fit. Scott said the Coxeyites now in Washington had accomplished more good than a petition signed by a million men.

NEW HAMPTON, Ia., May 29.—[Special.]—Fifty Coxeyites arrived here on foot from Minneapolis this morning. While soliciting their breakfast from the authorities a freight pulled in from the west, which they immediately boarded. They will arrive at North McGregor this evening.

TO "TRUN 'EM DOWN."

County Committee Gives His Sixth Ward List of Primary Judges a Black Eye and He Promises Revenge—Sixteenth Ward Also Turned Down by the Mayor's Bread and Butter Brigade—Plans for an Early Republican County Convention—Talk of Candidates.

"You have trun us down now. Wait till next November and we'll trow down your ticket in the Sixth Ward," said ex-Ald. Billy O'Brien, addressing the Democratic County committee after it had rejected his "regular" list of primary judges by a vote of 59 to 6 last evening. He glared angrily at the committeemen and continued: "All right, ye have to keep yere jobs and do as ye are told by the dictator. But our time will come. We'll get even, and yere ticket will be trun down."

The meeting was called to pass on the list of judges and the division of the wards into districts for the primaries to be held one week from next Monday. All lists of judges are submitted to a committee on contests and primaries, of which Ald. Brennan is Chairman. Where there is no dispute the lists as submitted are agreed to. Where there is a dispute Brennan's committee is the court of appeal. Mr. Brennan announced that there were contests in the Second, Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, Seventh, Ninth, Tenth, Twelfth, Thirteenth, Sixteenth, Seventeenth, Twenty-seventh, and Thirty-second Wards. In the Second the list submitted by Street Superintendent McCarthy was adopted. In the Fifth the list submitted by Committeeman Flanigan was accepted and that submitted by Committeeman Daley was "trun down." In the other wards, except the Sixth, Sixteenth, and Thirty-second, the lists submitted by the committeemen were approved. That was a defeat for the Swartz faction in the Seventh, the Cullerton faction in the Tenth, and the Maypole faction in the Thirteenth. But those little matters attracted no attention, nor did the substitution of the list offered by Saloonkeeper Mallon of the Thirty-second Ward for the regular list attract much either.

There was a wild yell of disappointment, however, when Secretary Strain read the portion of the report which said:

"The list offered by Pat Kearney in the Sixth Ward has been adopted."

Ex-Ald. O'Brien, A. T. Powers, and John Cunningham, the three committeemen from the Sixth, jumped on their feet at once to denounce the report. Powers was recognized. He said, while he shook his fist at Ald. Brennan:

"The report is an outrage. It is a disgrace. The committee agreed to take the judges recommended by the three committeemen and the ward organization yesterday. This afternoon the committee changed and agreed to give us only half. Later on the committee took away the half. Now we get nothing. The primary is called under the Crawford law. The judges under the law should be taken from the regular list. There is not one regular judge on the list. This is a violation of the law at the dictation of one man [meaning the Mayor]. You will be sorry for this."

He then read a protest from the ward committee, which set forth that the list of judges handed in by the committeemen of the ward and the regular organization were all selected from the list of judges on file in the Election Commissioner's office. In the list handed in by the others not one named appears among the list of judges on file in the Election Commissioners' office. He went on to say: "Your action is undemocratic, unconstitutional, and against the established precedents of the Democratic organization."

John Cunningham then denounced the action taken. He said: "The Democratic party will have to take the consequences. You and the dictator will hear from us."

Billy O'Brien followed. He denounced Kearney, whose list was adopted and who is a City Hall employé, as a bolter. "He is a fellow who goes to the committee to get money to run the ward and uses it to buck against the ticket. He bucked against the ticket last spring. We will get even and buck your ticket next fall if you pay no attention to our complaint."

But appeals or threats had no influence, Kearney's list was adopted and Cunningham again shouted: "Nominate your ticket! We'll trun you down as hard as you have trun us."

When the Sixteenth Ward list was read Committeeman Dick Cullen asked for an explanation. Secretary Strain said: "John Lambus [a water office employé] gets five primary districts and Ald. Kunz gets three."

Cullen: "Read the list."

The secretary read the list.

Cullen: "Does the law require regular judges? There is not one of these a regular judge. What does this mean?"

Chairman McGillen: "This is the list recommended by the committee."

Cullen: "But there aint no regular judges on."

Chairman McGillen: "Well, we can't go into that now."

The Chairman called Cullen to order, and the Sixteenth Ward list as recommended by the committee was adopted, whereupon Billy O'Brien again remarked, referring to the members of the committee: "They take the whip nicely. They're paid to mind."

Barney McNeill then offered a resolution denouncing Dr. Reynolds for employing Republican students in the Health Department. He said Reynolds was "unloyal." The resolution was tabled on the motion of Street Superintendent McCarthy.

It was ordered that the official call be published Friday, and the committee broke up as Billy O'Brien began a denunciation of Mayor Hopkins and the bread-and-butter brigade. The Mayor was not there to hear, though he stood on the sidewalk before the meeting was called to order giving his instructions to the committeemen as they dropped in.

WARM FIGHT FOR COUNTY OFFICES.

Early Republican Convention Assured, Probably Before July 10.

There is little doubt the Republican County committee when it meets next Tuesday will call the convention for the nomination of county officers some time between June 30 and July 10. Mr. Wulff's friends are now not strongly opposed to an early convention. They believe his nomination for State Treasurer is practically assured and any differences of opinion that may arise in the convention will not affect his chances. Senator Evans of Kane County and Senator Bacon of Edgar County were in the city yesterday and said as far as they could learn there was hardly any opposition to Mr. Wulff. Senator Evans said: "Gen. Atkins' attack on Senator Cullom took him out of the race in my judgment."

That is the understanding among the politicians, and they are quite active. Caucuses and conferences are of daily and hourly occurrence. But so keen is the contest for the principal office, the County Treasurership, that there is no slate yet in existence. Slates are made every day, but they are broken in short order before the day is over. Mr. Raymond and Mr. Kochersperger lead for the Treasurership. Mr. Strassheim, however, remains in the field. Some of the more level-headed of the party leaders recognizing that both Mr. Raymond and Mr. Kochersperger are strong men and that each has a large and influential following, have suggested that one be nominated for Treasurer and the other for Sheriff. Thus the two principal offices could be divided between the two principal divisions of the city and the two strong nominations that would help the ticket could be made.

Mr. Pease yet continues the only avowed candidate for Sheriff. Mr. Van Cleave has been suggested for the office, but has made no sign. He is yet in the field for County Clerk. Henry Eidohr, who ran several thousand votes ahead of his ticket two years ago, is also mentioned for County Clerk. Senator Knopf is also in the field for this office. Mr. Kunstman, Ald. Bidwill, and A. O. Cooper are the principal candidates for Probate Clerk, and William Dunn of the Twelfth Ward is in the contest for Criminal Court Clerk.

The Twelfth Ward has so many candidates that it is much embarrassed. But it is probable that the politicians there will get together soon and unite on some candidate. O. R. Carter, for County Judge, has a rather strong following in the ward. In this connection the idea of nominating the County Judge first seems to gain favor. It is believed if this nomination is acted on first the result will be more satisfactory.

It is understood that following the example of the Second District committee the Republican Congressional committee of the Fifth District will be called together some time this week, when the date of the convention will be fixed. A. W. Pulver of the Twenty-fifth Ward was announced yesterday as a candidate for Congress in the Seventh District on the Republican side. Charles E. Partridge and Senator Coon of Lake County and Mayor Mann of Evanston are mentioned also. The district is strongly Republican.

ALTGELD IS OPPOSED TO THE PLAN.

Not Wise to Nominate a Senator in State Convention.

"I have no time to devote to politics," said Gov. Altgeld yesterday. "I am plowing straight ahead and endeavoring to make the charitable and other institutions of this State the best of the kind in the world. When I have done that I am ready to quit, and to do this is my highest ambition.

"But it seems to me it might be just as well not to nominate a candidate for Senator in State convention. I'm a firm believer in giving every man a chance. The party will get better work out of the various candidates if it does not nominate a Senator in convention. By making a nomination it brushes all aside except one man, and I know five or six men can do more work in a campaign than one man can.

"I will make the prediction that the reports of the State institutions this year will show the amount expended to be considerably within the appropriation. Every useless position has been abolished and every incompetent employé has been dropped. I know I have incurred the displeasure of many people in my own party. I have abolished every purchasing agent in the State, and we are purchasing supplies from 10 to 15 per cent cheaper than ever before."

J. J. BADENOCH IN PLACE OF SMYTH.

Judge Scales Urged to Appoint Him Election Commissioner—To Decide Today.

The Executive committee of the Republican County Central committee visited Judge Scales yesterday and suggested the name of J. J. Badenoch as Election Commissioner to succeed W. A. Hutchings. Chairman Smyth also handed Judge Scales a formal letter declining the position to which he had been appointed. Judge Scales said he would announce his decision probably today.

After the meeting Judge Scales said he wanted to act in accordance with the wishes of the Republicans and would endeavor to do so. He said also that at the present time Mr. Badenoch was ineligible to fill the office of Commissioner as he was a member of the Board of Education. This difficulty would have to be surmounted before Mr. Badenoch could be appointed. Mr. Badenoch will resign from the School Board if Judge Scales signifies an intention to appoint him.

Mr. Badenoch is not himself seeking the position. He says he would prefer to continue a member of the Board of Education. But he has become a candidate at the instance of the party leaders. Judge Scales will announce his decision today, after he consults with the appointees of the Election Board and the Democratic managers. If he declines to appoint Mr. Badenoch the committee will be called together again.

EX-JUDGE MORAN TO ARGUE THE CASE

Will Present the Democratic Side in the Apportionment Suit.

Ex-Judge Thomas A. Moran of the firm of Moran, Kraus & Mayer has been selected by the Executive committee of the Democratic State committee to argue the apportionment suit before the Supreme Court next week. Attorney-General Moloney had a conference with Mr. Moran yesterday and arrangements were completed. Mr. Moran will make the leading oral argument for the Democrats and will also file a written brief.

Political Notes.

The second informal dinner of the Hamilton club will be given in the club-house next Tuesday evening. The subject for discussion will be: "Does the Present Election Law Prevent Fraud and Illegal Voting?"

The colored voters of Chicago have organized the Republican Central Organization of Colored Men of Cook County. Its object is to secure the largest possible colored vote on all public questions affecting the interests of the city and county.

Representatives to the Central Council and County Executive committee have been elected from the First, Second, Third, Fourth, Fifth, Thirteenth, Seventeenth, Eighteenth, Twenty-ninth, Thirtieth, Thirty-first, Thirty-second, Thirty-fourth Wards, and the Townships of Evanston and Cicero. The organization meets regularly every Saturday evening at No. 2811 State street.

FLOWER AND SHEEHAN ARE OUT NOW.

Removal of Sheriff Beck a Bid for Western New York Support.

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 29.—[Special.]—Gov. Flower by removing Sheriff Beck notified Lieut.-Gov. Sheehan that his friendship no longer is cared for. This construction is placed upon the Governor's surprising action. Sheehan's law partner, John C. Cuneen, Beck's lawyer, charges the Governor with rank discourtesy, saying Flower promised to notify him before taking any adverse action. The Governor's action came as a thunderbolt. Sheehanites take it as a declaration of war upon the Lieutenant-Governor. With Flower a candidate for renomination, Sheehan's opposition will tell strongly. The latter's influence with Hill, Murphy, and Croker is still believed to exceed Flower's. His removal of Beck is agreed to be a direct bid for the anti-Sheehan Democratic support in Western New York. Isaac H. Taggart, father-in-law of State Committeeman Mack, was appointed Sheriff today.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 30, 1894.

As to "Breckinridge's seat in Congress," it ought to be kicked out.

GENTLEMEN of the Senate, let us hear all about that bribery matter, without any ifs, ands or Buttz.

GOV. FLOWER, it is said, signs his veto messages without reading them over. He signs them, also, without having written them.

OMAHA claims it will be less affected by a coal famine than Chicago will. But Pleasantview, Rising Sun, or Oquawka can stand a coal famine with less suffering than Omaha.

THE rancor displayed by the New York Sun in the matter of Postmaster Hesing's whiskers grows out of the fact, without doubt, that nobody in the Sun establishment can raise such whiskers.

THE old quarrel over the question of World's Fair awards is still on hand. If John Boyd Thacher would give his overworked brain a rest and do his thinking with a ganglion there would be less trouble.

C. C. BONNEY of World's Congress auxiliary fame says: "The non-payment of that French claim is an outrage and a national disgrace." This is Mr. Bonney's shortest and most eloquent speech.

STATISTICS pertaining to the mechanical and manufacturing industries of Chicago as compiled for the eleventh census have just been published. They are interesting, but must be regarded as ancient history.

THE industrials were firm in Wall street yesterday, but the rest of the market was featureless. Local stocks were weak. New York exchange advanced to 70 cents premium. Sterling rates continue firm and there will be large gold shipments today.—The leading produce markets were less active and easier, led by wheat. As compared with the latest prices of the previous day July wheat closed ⅜ cent lower, corn easy, oats ⅛ cent lower, cash rye 1 cent higher, barley steady, flaxseed easy, July pork 5 cents lower, lard 5 cents higher, and ribs 2½ cents lower.

THE bath-house erected by the Municipal Order League at the foot of Chicago avenue was torn down last winter and converted into kindling wood. If the North Side police officers had been attending to their duty and guarding the property of citizens, which is what they are paid to do, this would not have happened. Therefore the suggestion that the police replace the building they allowed to be destroyed is an exceedingly proper one. It is to be hoped the men at the head of the police force will see the justice of this, will have a new bath-house put up, and will see that it is not destroyed next winter.

MRS. PAUL consented to serve as a volunteer sanitary inspector in the Twenty-fourth Ward. Her reports have been so thorough and satisfactory that the city inspector has been withdrawn and the woman given full charge of the ward. The difference between the work of a political inspector who has to devote most of his time to politics and the saloons and that of an intelligent woman was so startling that the people at the City Hall decided to send the man to some other ward. What they ought to do is to drop him altogether, for it has been proved that he is worthless, and give his pay as well as his work to a woman who has shown her fitness for the position.

ALD. KENT and the Republican members of the City Council deserve the public thanks for their action Monday in opposition to the "emergency appropriation" for the payment of the employés of the Election Commissioners' office. The Election Board refused last winter when the appropriation bill was before the Council to give an itemized estimate of the expenses of the office. The reason for this refusal lies in the fact that those expenses are grossly disproportionate to the work done. The board, for instance, pays $4,000 a year to an attorney who does not do five hours' official work a year. There are now on the pay-rolls of the office fifteen clerks. At the same time those fifteen clerks are engaged in no special work at this time. Until the Election Board mends its methods the Council should refuse the appropriation.

THE City Council was in the reform mood Monday evening. It passed an excellent ordinance by a unanimous vote prohibiting traffic in poisonous, adulterated, medicated cigars and cigarets, which was most commendable. More commendable still was the Council's action in passing the local option law which practically prohibits the encroachments of grogshops at Buena Park in the northern part of the city. Curiously enough some saloon-keeping members of the Council voted for this ordinance—as, for instance, O'Connor and Powers. It received forty-six votes, while only eight Aldermen, among them five saloon-keepers, voted in opposition. After such a record it is not surprising that the Council refused to vote for the payment of the bills of the Scales Election Board until it is properly itemized and explained. It is to be hoped that the Council will continue in its reform mood.

THE latest census report gives $36 per horse power per year of 313 days at 10 hours per day as the average cost of steam power in the United States. That is equal to 1.15 cents per horse power per hour. It is reported that power is being contracted for at Niagara at from $8 to $24 per horse power per year of 365 days, counting 24 hours to the day, no additional charge being made for nights or Sundays, as the water fall "goes on forever." The $20 rate is equal to 0.23 cent per hour per horse power if the force were used continuously through the year, and is much cheaper than steam if used only 10 hours per day with rests for Sundays. The employment of accumulators, to take up the water power while the machinery of the mills is not running would materially cheapen the cost as computed on the 10-hour basis, so that the water power need not cost more than about one-quarter as much as steam power to those who have the advantage of being able to employ it with little loss by transmission over wires from the falls to the place where the power is wanted to be used.

DECORATION DAY.

In the first general order for the observance of Decoration day, issued by Gen. John A. Logan in 1868, Gen. Logan eloquently says:

> We should guard their graves with sacred vigilance. All that the consecrated wealth and taste of the Nation can do to add to their adornment and security is but a fitting tribute to the memory of our slain defenders. Let no wanton foot tread rudely on such hallowed mounds. Let pleasant paths invite the coming and going of reverent visitors and fond mourners. Let no vandalism of avarice or neglect—no ravages of time—testify to the present or coming generations that we have forgotten as a people the cause of a free and undivided public. If other eyes grow dull and their hands slacken and their hearts grow cold in the solemn trust, ours shall keep it well as long as light and warmth of life remain to us. Let us then at the time appointed gather around their sacred remains and garland the passionless mounds above them with the choicest flowers of spring time. Let us raise above them the dear old flag they saved from dishonor. Let us in this solemn presence renew our pledges to aid and assist those whom they have left among us, a sacred charge upon a nation's gratitude—the soldiers' and sailors' widows and orphans.

In another part of this memorable order Gen. Logan expresses the hope that the celebration of Decoration day may be kept up from year to year. Gen. Logan lived long enough to have the assurance that this sacred anniversary would become national, that none of the apprehensions expressed in the order would be realized, and that Decoration day would grow in importance as the years went on. And now, in this year of general depression, industrial demoralization, political demagogy, and anarchistic demonstration, its celebration will be upon a larger and more impressive scale than ever before, showing that the spirit of patriotism among the people and popular appreciation of and gratitude for the services of the veterans of the war, those whose graves will be decorated today and those who will decorate them, are not languishing. In Chicago, as well as in every other Northern city, the pageantry of the day has been outlined in more generous and enthusiastic fashion than ever before.

This is as it should be. There is no danger that the memory of Lincoln, Grant, Sherman, Sheridan, Thomas, or of any of the great soldiers of the war ever will be forgotten. But Decoration day is not so much a memorial of these as it is a memorial of thousands of men who gave their lives to their country and who sleep, silent victors, in known or unknown graves. It is a memorial to the dead who will not be individualized in history, who held neither place nor power, who were only units in the grand army of the republic, but who did not anticipate forgetfulness on that account. History cannot record the careers of each of these thousands, but the story of each one, if it could be told, would be as full of interest, of bravery, of suffering, and of patriotism as those of the commanders who led them. Their story must be told on Decoration day, their memories recalled by their surviving comrades and made beautiful with flowers lovingly laid upon the turf above them. As Gen. Garfield said in his address at Arlington: "This silent assembly of the dead is an epitome of the war. Here are sheaves reaped in the harvest of death from every battlefield of Virginia. If each grave had a voice to tell us what its silent tenant last saw and heard on earth we might stand with uncovered heads and hear the whole story of the war." Therefore it is that the voices of these dead will forever fill the land like holy benedictions. Therefore it is that so long as gratitude and patriotism last the services of the dead and living soldiers of the Union should be honored and Decoration day recall their devotion to the cause of the Nation.

It is a pleasant feature of this anniversary that so much as been done to instruct the youths in our schools in the lessons of the war and to impress upon them the nature of the services rendered by the dead and by the survivors of that war. Thus the memories of those days will pass from one generation to another and there will be no danger of forgetfulness. The numerous organizations of Sons of Veterans show that the younger men are prepared to take up the work of the elder and carry it on, and will honor those who defended and helped to save the Nation.

SOWING DRAGONS' TEETH.

Under the above caption there was printed on the ninth page of the last issue of THE TRIBUNE an article from the columns of the Democratic New York Sun showing that the present riotous proceedings and socialistic agitations in Pennsylvania, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Colorado, and other States have come from the writings and teachings of men whose views do not differ from those publicly uttered by Mr. Cleveland, and that there is "not one word in all of the passages cited from Mr. Cleveland's letters and speeches which might not have been written and published by any avowed revolutionist now engaged in the socialistic propaganda."

The quotations made by the Sun show that President Cleveland for a number of years has been engaged in playing the part of a demagogue on the labor question, and has sought in various insidious ways to array workingmen against their employers. He has talked and written in a way that has attracted their attention. He has sought to make them believe that they have been unfairly dealt with, that they have been cheated and robbed and made poor by their employers. He has systematically sowed the seeds of discord, made war upon capital which furnishes the labor and upon American enterprise, and separated the workingmen from their natural interests.

By these insidious methods he has drawn workingmen away from protection and turned them over to the Southern doctrine of free trade. He has drawn away tens of thousands of voters of the artisan class on the vague expectation that Cleveland was such a sympathizer with them that, if he were elected and his policy put in force, they could build themselves up on the wreck of the employing classes. His teachings thus became socialistic in their effects, as the Sun argues, and the outcome has been the anarchy now prevailing in half a dozen States and an abundant crop of cranks in others. They voted for and elected him the first time he ran, but were disappointed in what he did for them; but while out of power he renewed his assaults on employers and they voted for him again in 1892 and elected him. The results are being experienced in the trade of the country broken up, commerce paralyzed, industrial conditions demoralized, strikes, riots, and Anarchist turbulence on all sides. This is the picture the Sun draws.

But time has brought its revenges. He has not accomplished for the proletariat what they expected, but has brought ruin upon them, and many have soured on him. The Populists execrate him for his position in favor of sound money. His own party in the South and West has largely turned against him for the same reason, they being for "cheap money." He has stirred up into dangerous activity a swarm of Populists, cranks, Coxyites, Socialists, and Anarchists by his demagogy, says the Sun. It is dangerous to let loose the dogs of anarchy and to sow dragons' teeth. This leading Democratic party organ in New York has had the nerve to tell him so, and to point out the dangers of his demogogical persistence for the sake of votes in arraying classes against each other in this country.

THE SOCIALIST-POPULIST FUSION.

A straggling lot of fellows claiming to represent the Populists, farmers' associations, and labor organizations of Illinois have assembled in Springfield this week to try to consolidate for a Populist vote at the next election. They profess to be in favor of the following, among other things: "Municipal "ownership of street car, gas, and electric "light plants for public distribution of light, "heat, and power, the nationalization of tel"egraphs, telephones, railroads, and mines, "and the collective ownership by the people "of all means of production and distribu"tion."

Correctly stated, the last named point includes the other two, as these fellows would know if they gave a few minutes of attentive consideration to the subject.

The fact is they have not thought about it or they would see that it utterly is impracticable. The properties named and referred to could not be owned by the people except in one or two ways—namely: by confiscation or by purchase. The first is impossible. The means of production and distribution include not only the factories, mines of coal, iron, and other metals, and the forests, but all the farms in the country also. They include animals as well as railroads and their rolling stock, and the vessels that ply upon the waters. The owners of all this property would have to be consulted; they would say "No," and their numbers would be found too great for the compulsory process to be a success. A similar remark must be applied to the fate of any proposition to buy with fiat "money." The owners of the properties would not consent to part with them in exchange for a lot of paper trash having no redeemer provided for it, and therefore bound to become worthless, as did the French assignats about a century ago.

The owners would not sell except for good money, and that could not be obtained except by the issue of coin bonds for the immense amount required. There would be five or six billions for the railroad properties, if no allowance were made for the water in their securities, three billions for machinery of mills and product on hand, more than a billion for mines, three billions for live stock on farms and ranges, with farm implements and machinery, and a large part of the forty billions which the real estate in the country and improvements thereon were officially estimated to be worth four years ago. At least two-thirds of the now more than sixty-five billion dollars' worth of real and personal property in the United States would have to be purchased with money borrowed in order to carry out the demands of these crazy loons, the annual interest on which at 4 per cent would be, roughly speaking, one and three-quarters billions, or an amount equal to the total volume of money of all kinds officially stated to be in circulation. The magnitude of the load may faintly be imagined when it is remembered that the United States has been engaged for thirty years past in paying off a debt of less than one-tenth the amount, and has not got through yet with the payment.

And to what end would this vast load of indebtedness be incurred? For the purpose of taking the management of the properties out of the hands of men who have made it a life study and putting it into those of a lot of politicians having no special knowledge of the departments of business they would be assigned to direct, and changing every three or four years to give room to another lot of incompetents appointed by a power equally ignorant with themselves. Think of the results of their management of the properties of the whole people in the alleged interest of economical administration with an eye to the payment of principal and interest of the money borrowed! How much would it be possible to pay if the inevitable demands of the workers for fewer hours and bigger wages were complied with? And how much better off would be the toilers under such an arrangement than they are now? The great mass of them would be dictated to more than at present, would have to work and live by a rule akin to that observed in the penitentiaries, shorn of all individual liberty except the poor privilege of shouting at a mass-meeting as the bosses might dictate, or of committing suicide when harassed past further endurance by the vexatious requirements of the Socialist order of things. Under the new plan of labor and management things would become dearer and less easily attainable. At one bound the people would lose all that has been gained by the progressive economies of many years past which have cut down the real cost of production and transportation to very much less than they used to be, and now are reducing the gains of employing capital in far greater ratio than they are claimed to reduce wages.

And this is to be made a "national issue." This scheme, the product of day-dreaming by foreign Socialist agitators—to be enforced if necessary by force of arms and dynamite in the hands of foreign Anarchists—is to be imposed on the American people at the behest of a parcel of soreheads who have not investigated to the depth of a sheet of tissue paper the merits of the question and do not care to investigate, but practically have adopted the motto of "Rule or ruin." The toiling masses of the United States, both in city and country, are not likely to be caught in the snare to their own utter undoing and the taking of a retrograde step from modern civilization to the semi-barbarous conditions of the dark ages.

PUBLIC MONEYS FOR PRIVATE CHARITIES

Ald. Ballard says that though the city "needs money" it ought to give the Foundlings' Home water for which it would charge a private consumer $104 a year. Where is the law which authorizes it to do so? How has the city a better right to furnish water for nothing to that home than to make an appropriation from the treasury to pay the West Side Gas company for the gas it supplies to the home? Supposing the city had no water works of its own, but had an arrangement with a private company by which the city collected from each consumer what he ought to pay and turned the total over to the water company. Does Ald. Ballard think the Council would have the right in such a case to excuse the Foundlings' Home from paying anything and take out of the city treasury enough to settle the account with the water company? The remission of the water tax to any church or private institution is a gift by the city out of its treasury, for it could collect it if it chose. Every such exemption lessens the water revenues of the city and its power to build new tunnels, lay more mains, or buy more engines. If the city refused to donate this sum of $104 out of its treasury those charitable people who contribute to meet the gas bill and other expenses of the home would contribute to pay this also. They have a right to give as much as they please or as they can afford. The city has no right to give a cent for any other than public purposes. It can appropriate its funds only for purposes specified in the charter. It cannot be charitable to private enterprises unless the charter confers the authority. But suppose the Council strains the law and makes an exception of the Foundlings' Home. Does Ald. Ballard also advocate making exceptions of several hundred other institutions and charities to the amount of some thirty thousand dollars a year out of the city treasury—for that is what it amounts to? Where does he draw his line? THE TRIBUNE is surprised that Ald. Ballard, who has resisted illegal expenditures in other Councils, should lift up his voice in favor of several hundred illegal expenditures now. That they are for a benevolent purpose makes it none the less illegal to donate city money to them. Would he, if he were trustee of an estate, deem himself authorized to contribute part of its income to the support of those charities? Certainly not. He is now one of the trustees of funds contributed by the taxpayers of Chicago to be used for certain specified purposes, in which miscellaneous private charities are not embraced. He has no more power to divert those funds than those of a private estate.

THE $1,000 CONTEMPT FINES STILL STICK.

Judge Chetlain imposed a fine of $1,000 each against the Election Commissioners for disobeying his order to produce the ballots cast in certain precincts at the late election and directed their imprisonment until those fines were paid. Thereupon they applied to Judges Sears, Adams, and Tuley for writs of habeas corpus and the said Judges liberated their bodies from the imprisonment; but the fines imposed still stand against them. The question is, Had Judge Chetlain the lawful authority to impose those fines or any fines under the circumstances of the case before him? Let us see what the Supreme Court of this State has said on a similar case carried before it.

Chief Justice Mulkey of the Supreme Court of Illinois in the case of ex parte Smith, reported in 117 Illinois Supreme Court Reports, page 63, in exactly a similar case where a witness refused to answer a question before the grand jury on the ground that he might criminate himself was fined and ordered committed until the fine and costs were paid.

He refused to pay the fine and petitioned the Supreme Court for a writ of habeas corpus. The writ was refused. The Supreme Court says on pages 65 and 66 of the opinion: "It will be observed that the imprisonment complained of is by virtue of an order in the nature of a final process to enforce judgment at law for a specific sum of money. Such being the case it would be altogether useless to award the writ. We regard the petition in this case as a mere attempt to review and set aside a judgment at law for an alleged error in the proceeding where the court clearly had jurisdiction both of the person and subject matter of the suit. This cannot be done.

"Whether the court was authorized under the circumstances to impose a fine was a matter which the law authorized and empowered the court to determine, just as in any other case of alleged contempt. While it may be conceded for the purpose of the argument that the court erred in reaching the conclusion it did, nevertheless its right and duty to pass upon the question was clear beyond all question. If the judgment was erroneous, as is claimed, the remedy was the same as in the case of any other erroneous judgment where the right of appeal or writ of error is given. We regard the order directing the defendant to stand committed until the fine and costs were paid in the nature of a final process—a mere means of enforcing the payment of the judgment—which would have been suspended by an order staying the judgment itself. A writ of error was the appropriate remedy."

Habeas corpus is a collateral proceeding, and when the court had jurisdiction of the subject matter and the person the question of whether his judgment was erroneous cannot be reviewed by obtaining a writ of habeas corpus, and if the Supreme Court cannot review the question and discharge the prisoner by habeas corpus how could Judges Tuley, Adams, and Sears, who are merely coördinate Judges of the same court with Judge Chetlain, legally do so?

Judge Chetlain's judgment then is still a valid, enforcible judgment, and the order of Judges Sears, Tuley, and Adams discharging the Commissioners so far as the fines are concerned is void. Executions should issue and the Sheriff should enforce the judgment of Judge Chetlain, or let the Commissioners appeal in the regular way to a higher court.

The State's-Attorney did not present the law to the trinity court, and the interests of the people in punishing crimes against the ballot were not protected.

State's-Attorney Kern says his office is so busy with other business that he is considering the advisability of employing special counsel to prosecute the indictments brought in by the special grand jury. If he wants to place himself right before the people let him ask Judge Chetlain to appoint special counsel in the case of the ballots to enforce the judgment, or to have the same reviewed in an upper court should the same be appealed.

The Commissioners claim to be certain their view of the law is correct. If they really mean it let them take the case to a higher court. What have they to fear?

If they do not appeal, then let the judgment of Judge Chetlain be enforced and the fine collected.

The people will not feel satisfied until the frauds are punished, and the matter will not be allowed to rest where it now is.

THE FIRST THING TO DECIDE.

The following letter was sent yesterday by Mr. H. H. Porter, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad, to the Superintendent of the line:

> CHICAGO, May 19.—To the General Superintendent Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad company, Danville, Ill.: We have got to first decide whether we have a government or not. The utter ignoring by the mob of the leaders in the coal mine strikes decides me to say that it is not the question now what any mine operator does or where he goes. The time has come when the question of coal and coal mining prices is of little consequence compared to the general question of law and order. I have no sympathy with the unfair discriminations of the coal operators in Southern Illinois, but I shall not ask any one to make any move until the individual laborers can work without being threatened by a mob anywhere, and the railroads can run their trains unmolested. Whether the mine-owners go to the meeting the 31st is their own business. This is a revolution pure and simple throughout the whole West and South, and can but have the result of a revolution. I consider that McBride and his organization are as utterly gone as Martin Irons and his following were a few years ago, if the United States is to continue as a Nation. If not, he had better be declared Emperor, and then he can control his forces.
>
> H. H. PORTER,
> Chairman of Board of Directors.

The state of affairs referred to by Mr. Porter does not amount to a "revolution," nor will it necessarily have the result of a revolution. But it indicates the existence of a diabolism which threatens grave consequences unless its manifestation be put down by the strong arm of law. President Porter holds that the present reign of lawlessness should first be stamped out, and that then talk of a settlement of the coal strike will be in order. If a mob is to be permitted to seize upon mines and railroad trains, and dictate what they shall or shall not do, and terrorize the people of a State without being punished therefor, it would amount to a revolution. But we have not yet reached the point where law and order cannot be depended upon to be vindicated if not maintained without interruption.

"THIS HAS GONE FAR ENOUGH."

There was printed upon the first page of the last issue of THE TRIBUNE a cartoon which forcibly pictures the situation in the mining districts of Illinois. It represented a closed mine with a rampant anarchistic striker, club and pistol in hand, holding a coal train back and trampling upon the law, symbolized by the flag, with the State of Illinois, supported by a soldier, declaring "Hold on. This has gone far enough." This Anarchist has quit work without reason. He will not work himself and threatens to murder any one else who attempts to work. He has stopped the transportation of coal which is not his property, coal which is above ground, which has been paid for by consumers, and which is in the hands of common carriers. It is coal which may belong to Chicago, Joliet, or Milwaukee, or to the factories on the Rock or Fox River. It no more belongs to the miner than the wheat or the cattle shipped on these roads. It is of no advantage to him except as it benefits him to bring distress and suffering upon the entire community. Therefore in preventing the shipment of their coal this alien miner is making war upon the citizens of Illinois, their homes, their mills, their factories, their railroads, their charitable institutions.

There is only one way to deal with these men who have placed themselves outside the protection of the law and deliberately made war upon the people of Illinois. They should be dispersed at once as rebels and invaders of the rights of the people. After they are routed and driven off they should be hunted up, arrested, and punished with the severest penalties of the law. The law should be applied to them vigorously as public enemies, who have conspired to throw men out of work, to deprive the people of fuel, and to bring suffering, if not starvation, into their homes. There should be no more pottering with them, no talk of negotiating or compromising, no more garrisons around the coal mines. These alien Anarchist wolves should be driven off, hunted down, and punished.

If the Governor of this State has any sense of his duty, any care for the rights of the people, any regard for law and order, he will not stop until he has crushed out and dispersed these public enemies who have stopped the commerce of the State and then brought them before the courts for punishment. If he does not do this he will be held morally responsible. If he has not the nerve or the moral courage to do his duty then let him resign and give his place to the Lieutenant-Governor or to some person who will stand up for the people as against these anarchistic pests. The State of Illinois says: "Hold on. This has gone far enough." Is the Governor deaf or has he no backbone?

ALD. JOHN BRENNAN, who was indicted by the special grand jury for complicity in election frauds, is Chairman of the Democratic County Subcommittee on Primaries and Contests, which sits every day now to listen to the disputes of the ward politicians of the party concerning the judges for and the boundaries of the primary districts for the selection of delegates to the County convention to be held on the 11th of next month. The primaries are to be held under the Crawford law, and the judges, therefore, have to be selected from the regular list. Judging from the charges made by the Democratic ward workers concerning those judges they are a bad lot. And the charges, it should be observed, are made by Democrats who know the character of the men chosen to serve their party. Thus we find that in the Second Ward the judges selected are said to be "men who are not honest, who will not count the votes fairly, and who are mere tools of certain ward bosses." In the Sixth Ward, according to the Record, the judges are "men whose reputations are enough to keep voters from the polls." And thus it goes. And yet let it be remembered that those men of evil reputation, who are objected to now by men of their own party, are the men selected by the Democratic Election Board for duty at the spring election, and who will, if some energetic measures are not taken by the Republicans, conduct the new registration next October and count the votes next November. What chance of fair play, of justice, can Republicans expect from those men who are denounced as jailbirds and outlaws by the men of their own party who know them best? Surely some action ought to be taken to secure the services as judges and clerks of honest men, such as the law commands.

THE Council passed an ordinance amending the building ordinance so as to permit the construction of bow windows of wood where the buildings are less than five stories in height, the wood to be covered with some "incombustible material," such as sheet iron or zinc. The Mayor vetoed it, very properly, and it failed to pass over the veto, the vote being 35 to 19. It is a pity that thirty-five Aldermen should have cast their votes for such a dangerous, demagogical ordinance. The object of it is to enable people to build a little more cheaply and add thus to the fire risk of their neighbors and also of the whole city. What is the use of passing ordinances designed to secure solidity of construction and reasonable security against fire when an attempt is made soon to amend them in such a way as to allow a man to plaster a mass of wood on the front of his building so as to make it certain that a fire breaking out in it will sweep from story to story? If the building ordinance had been deformed, as these thirty-five Aldermen propose, the insurance companies would feel obliged to raise their rates and the whole community would be taxed so a few men might build more cheaply. Very probably some of these Aldermen knew that they were voting wrong. Some of them knew how much the use of combustible materials has cost this city. But constituents urged them to vote for this ordinance, and they were demagogical enough to do so and throw on the Mayor the responsibility of defeating it. This tinkering with the building ordinance ought to stop. It would if the Aldermen had honesty and courage.

THE Common Council Monday evening passed the ordinance which exempts the Buena Park settlement in the Twenty-fifth Ward from the curse of grogshops by the vote of 46 yeas to 8 nays. So much the more shame for the eight Aldermen who voted to inflict groggeries in a purely residence district. Their names are Morrison, Muelhoefer, Brennan, McGillen, Rohde, Kelly, Slepicka, and Schendorf. They have put themselve on record in a disgraceful manner. The district covered by the ordinance includes 160 acres and is bounded by Graceland Cemetery, Lake Michigan, Graceland avenue, and Sulzer street. It is to be regretted that instead of this special ordinance there was not some general ordinance passed having the same object in view, but it will save the people in that territory from a public nuisance and danger. As they have been successful it would be an excellent precaution for other neighborhoods to take. There are indeed some entire wards in this city which are not commercial or manufacturing centers but purely residence wards, inhabited entirely by families, which ought to be liberated from groggeries. Buena Park is to be congratulated that it will not have this pest, that it can enjoy peace and quiet, that its women and children will be secure from danger, and that no whisky seller can make drunkards there without their consent which, it goes without saying, they will never get. The grogshops ought to be kept out of all residence districts.

IT is satisfactory to note that the Republican Congressional committees of the Chicago districts are beginning to take action. The committee of the Second District has been called to fix the date for the nominating convention, which will be held some time early in July. The district was cut out for Clayton E. Crafts, the Democratic Speaker of the last House. It is not so certainly Democratic as it was thought to be, and if the Republicans nominate a good candidate, a man who can go out among the voters of the district and intelligently discuss the questions of the day with the people, he can win. The wards of the district are the Tenth, Twenty-eighth, Twenty-ninth, and Thirtieth. It also contains the Towns of Cicero, Hanover, Elk Grove, Leyden, Lyons, Proviso, Riverside, Palos, Lemont, Schaumberg, Maine, and Norwood Park. Three of the four wards are Republican, each by small majorities, however. All the country towns but Lemont give good Republican majorities. Cicero sometimes gives a majority of 1,000. There is only the Democratic majority of the Twenty-ninth Ward (the Stock-Yards region) to overcome. In a Congressional fight involving the industrial (tariff) issue this Democratic majority ought to be kept down to reasonable proportions. The district is a good one in which to begin the fight for the restoration of Republican supremacy in this State. The Republican committees of the Fifth and Sixth Districts, both close and doubtful, ought also to begin work.

"GEN." COXEY has resigned his position as generalissimo of the commonwealers in favor of "Gen." Fry, who is now somewhere between Pittsburg and Cincinnati. Evidently Coxey is tired of the army business and wearied with waiting for that 500 millions of shinplaster fiats. The people of Washington have not received him kindly. He has been allowed to languish in jail. He has not been indorsed in Congress. There are three or four Populists in the Senate and ten or eleven in the House upon whom he relied for help, but they have done nothing for him. There are eight or ten Democrats in the Senate and thirty or forty in the House who have been currying favor with the Populists and whom he regarded as friends, but they have turned the cold shoulder to him also. As a spectacle his show has been a failure, and as for notoriety all he has secured is a term in jail. He evidently sees that when he gets out he has nothing to expect, and that he will have no way of feeding his trampers. As the regular tramping season is now at hand it is not likely that he will have any army by the time he gets out of jail. He has taken a prudent step, therefore, by turning over his command to Fry and making his arrangements for getting back to his horse jockey business, which has been suffering. His action, however, is somewhat unkind to his fellow-martyr, the charlatan faker, Carl Browne, who will undoubtedly make it interesting for Fry when he comes to Washington to take supreme command.

CLAUS SPRECKELS, who has sold his sugar plantations and left Honolulu for good, is now predicting that the present Hawaiian government is going to smash and that there will be a revolution before long. Undoubtedly the wish is father to the thought. He has been hostile to American interests in those islands for years. He has been running sugar plantations with Chinese help. He has made a great fortune because at any time he could buy the corrupt ex-Queen, but he cannot buy the present American constitutional government. Deprived of the services of his Kanaka ally he has now abandoned the islands and it will be for their good. The revolution which he predicts will not take place. The Americans are solid for a republican form of government. The Germans and English stand behind them, for they would rather have a republic than the Queen back on the throne. The Portuguese will also support the Americans. The Japanese are not interfering and the Chinese are at work. The whites are solidly banded together. The new government will remain in power until the United States either establishes a protectorate or annexes the islands, which it should have done long ago. Claus Spreckels' revolution will not materialize. If it should be attempted it will be put down speedily and effectually. Today the Hawaiians will hold their constitutional convention and establish a permanent form of government, and that government will remain in spite of Kanaka plottings.

THE bacillus of rheumatism is the latest bacteriological discovery that has been reported to the public. It is found in the joints of persons afflicted with the disease and is described as "short and thick, having at each end bright grains which aniline colors make still more evident." It is said that Max Schuler, the discoverer, has isolated the little nuisance by cultivation in bouillon, on gelatin, and on a fragment of potato.

IN A MINOR KEY.

Its Principal Beauty.

"The strong point about Mississippi River water," said the St. Louis man, holding a glass of the fluid up between himself and the light, "is that it's self-filtering. As the sand and rich alluvial matter it contains sink to the bottom they carry all the impurities along with them, leaving the resulting liquid pure and wholesome."

And he tilted it carefully toward his mouth, being careful not to disturb the quarter of an inch of rich alluvial matter at the bottom of the glass, and drank it with great relish.

A Young Idea Shoots.

"Gold is a precious metal," explained the professor, "because of its scarcity. All the gold now in use in the world," he added, referring to a memorandum on the fly-leaf of the text book he was using, "according to careful and trustworthy estimates, could be put within the walls of a room twenty-four feet square."

"So could all the silver in the world," suggested a little red-haired boy in the class, "if you make the ceiling of the room high enough."

The Long and the Short of It.

"I have noticed," said Uncle Allen, "that nobody can do taller running than a man who is short in his accounts."

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

As the result of its eighteenth annual benefit given at the Schiller Theater yesterday afternoon Chicago Lodge No. 4 of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks will add $900 to the charity fund set apart for the assistance of its deserving members. The performance was successful in every way, the theater was entirely filled with theatrical people and friends of the order, and the varied bill which was presented was uniformly interesting. A pleasing feature of the afternoon was the Elks' appreciation of the services of the women who took part in the entertainment, gracefully acknowledged by the gift of a bouquet of flowers to each as they came before the audience. The entertainment was begun by Edwin L. Barker, who gave a monologue entitled "The Rehearsal." The little Beech sisters repeated their dancing specialties and Miss Fairy Dell in costume pleasingly sang "I Am Sixty-two." Miss Isabella Coe (Mrs. Frank McKee) of the "Milk White Flag" company met with enthusiastic reception in her song "Come to Me, My Own." She was followed by Frank Lawton, the whistler of the "Milk White Flag," in his specialties, and by J. Aldrich Libbey, the baritone of the Schiller opera company, who sang "Molly's the Girl for Me." Ward and Vokes of Tony Pastor's vaudeville company contributed their farcical sketch, "Percy and Harold," which has lately amused audiences at the outlying theaters. Other musical numbers were contributed by Miss Maud Hollins, Miss Jessie Millar, the young cornetist; Messrs. Pacie, Luckstone, Wilson, and Hatler, the quartet from "A Milk White Flag"; Clifford Faust, the child whistler; and Miss Louise Morgan, who sang Gounod's "Message d'Amour."

The second part of the entertainment opened with Sir Arthur Young's one-act comedy, "Petticoat Perfidy," which, with a superabundance of talk and a corresponding lack of action, relates how two social leaders, one of whom is a pronounced tuft hunter, indulged in a telling exchange of practical jokes. Of the three young women who took part in the performance Miss Bernice Wheeler, whose numerous graceful achievements on the amateur stage give promise of excellent results on the professional dramatic stage, upon which she will soon enter, gave a particularly engaging impersonation of a French waiting maid posing as a Russian Countess. In the part she revealed a fund of piquancy and an arch and engaging personality which will surely assist her in her field. Miss Helen Tracy and Miss A. B. Hamilton more than acceptably played the two remaining rôles. Following the comedy Miss Luella Drew was seen in a dancing specialty, W. H. Hamilton and Mark Smith each contributed vocal numbers, John W. Kelly, the "rolling mill man," went through his popular specialties, and the Diamantine French quadrille dancers, and the Janetta ladies' quartet, the latter a vocal organization, creditably brought the program to a close. The committee which had the entertainment in charge consisted of Harry G. Sommers, J. W. Dunn, Ben Gerleax, and Kerry Meager.

The new roof-garden on the twentieth story of the Masonic Temple, which has been fitted up as a place of summer amusement and recreation by Sosman & Landis, was opened for the first time last evening to a number of invited guests consisting principally of members of the press and the theatrical profession. It is Chicago's first experiment as a regularly constituted roof-garden and it bids fair to become a favorable resort for evening entertainments, its lofty elevation above the ground and surrounding buildings being a point decidedly in its favor. The large floor space has been attractively decorated with flowers and a profusion of colored lanterns and electric lights. There are a number of booths where refreshments can be obtained. As its amusement features there are two scenic theaters, one representing the changes of a day at the Court of Honor at the World's Fair, operated on the plan made familiar by the late Steele Mackaye's Scenitorium, and the other showing the cycle of twenty-four hours in the Alps, accomplished by a delicate gradation of light after the manner of the scenic theater at the World's Fair last year. The two theaters are interesting to a high degree, but life and vim will be necessary to the success of the new garden. It is evident that Sosman & Landis will be forced to introduce music other than the present automatic organ and a lively entertainment of some kind before great numbers of city patrons will be interested. As far as it goes, the new roof garden is attractive. The formal opening for the public will take place tonight.

Miss Marie Tempest, it is announced, will take up the line of work in which Rosina Vokes was engaged at the time of her death. It is a part of her intention to present three plays a night, into which she will introduce several songs.

Great Demand for Governors of the Jerry Rusk Sort.

St. Louis Globe-Democrat: There is a pretty loud call at this moment from a suffering people for a Governor with the courage and public spirit of the late Jeremiah M. Rusk. During the disturbances attending the labor strikes in 1886 Gov. Rusk rose to the emergency with a promptness and a heroism which called out the plaudits of the country. When the crisis came in Milwaukee and the mob seemed bent on destroying life and property he brought the militia quickly to the scene and gave orders to fire if the lawlessness took any dangerous turn. His resolute stand accomplished its purpose, for though the strike continued and the community suffered thereby, the policy of destruction decided on by the labor leaders was checked and a fair degree of order was preserved. Rusk's courageous course contrasted strongly with the vacillating and pusillanimous conduct of some of the other Governors of his day, and it shines out in brilliant luster in comparison with the blindness and cowardice shown by Altgeld and the mischievous demagogy and the shameless disregard for law displayed by Waite. Altgeld cringes and truckles to the riotous mob, Mathews, the Governor of Indiana, shows no vigor or courage, and Waite openly takes the side of a band of miscreants who commit murder in cold blood. In certain districts in the States presided over by these men the riotous elements are in absolute control and lawlessness is the order of the day. In those localities the lives and property of the law-abiding members of the community are at the disposal of the mob for the time being. It is amazing that the men who are responsible for the execution of the law fail to see that in crises like these the course which duty dictates is also the course of mercy. When Gov. Rusk let the Wisconsin mob know that it would be fired on if it attempted to carry out its purpose of bloodshed and rapine, he did it the highest service which could be rendered, for if it were allowed to carry out its program it would have aroused the vengeance of the community and its leaders would have had their career cut short by the bullet or the halter. The same sort of policy in Illinois, Indiana, and Colorado and other afflicted States would promptly suppress all this lawlessness and end the reign of terror. Such a course would be in the interest of the cause of labor rather than antagonistic thereto, for no worthy aspiration of enterprise is ever aided by a policy of disorder and destruction.

Wisconsin Always for Sound Money.

New York Post: The Republicans of Wisconsin feel as though they deserved the chief credit for the fact that both parties in that State have been on the right side during the financial crazes of the last fifteen years, and particularly while the free-coinage delusion has been at its height. In 1877, when greenbackism was coming up, the Democrats yielded to it. They adopted a platform which not only demanded a sufficient issue of paper money to supply the demands of business, but also the free coinage of silver, the abolition of national banks, and the repeal of the resumption act, and they nominated the President of a Greenback club for Governor. The Republicans resisted the temptation, took a firm stand for an honest currency, and won so sweeping a victory that since that time no leader of either party has wanted to "fool" with any of the later financial crazes. The Milwaukee Sentinel makes one statement which deserves the widest publicity. It declares that it was the German element among the voters which stood up the most firmly against the wave of financial lunacy. "Greenbackism and free coinage," it says, "made great inroads in the counties almost wholly settled by native-born Americans, and the Republicans carried the State by receiving large accessions from counties, where the German element predominated, that had been the strongholds of Democracy."

Turn Down the Demagogues.

Aurora Beacon: The time is not far distant when the people will have to rise in their might and declare that the slums of Europe cannot stand in the way of any honest laborer who is anxious to work to make an honorable living. The first step in that direction will be to turn down some of the demagogue politicians who grovel to the lowest and most brutal elements of society to perpetuate themselves in power.

Theory and Fact.

Boston Journal: Protection "stifles" foreign trade, does it? Well, then, how can the Calhounites explain the fact that American exports to British Honduras increased from $452,000 to $793,000 in 1892, while England's have shrunk from $744,000 to $628,000? And this is no isolated instance of the rapid growth of American commerce with Great Britain's own colonies.

NEWS FROM ABROAD.

FRENCHMAN SELLS TO GERMANY A NEW DESTRUCTIVE AGENT.

Turpin, of Melinite Fame, Secures 5,000,000 Francs for His Secret Which He Had First Offered in Vain to His Own Government—Brazil Planning a Celebration of July 4 in Honor of the United States—New Appeal for Mrs. Maybrick by Her Mother.

[SPECIAL CABLE.]

PARIS, May 29.—[Copyright, 1894, by James Gordon Bennett.]—We have a new scandal, and one which promises to have serious results. Turpin, the inventor of melinite, has sold to Germany for 5,000,000 francs the secret of an electric chariot which is expected to produce a terrifying effect in war. If the news was confined to this Turpin would be merely a traitor and would arouse the disgust of every honest man. But the serious part of the affair is that Turpin asserts that he offered his invention to the French Minister of War, who refused to listen to his proposition, and that he asked for an audience of President Carnot, who declined to receive him. If Turpin had been an unknown man the conduct of the Minister and President would be comprehensible. They are the customary victims of cranks. But Turpin is well known as the inventor of the melinite and as such he has rendered a great service to France.

Turpin was condemned some time ago to five years in prison for having sold to the English gun-making firm of Armstrong the secret of certain weapons of war, and as a result of this sentence he was struck from the rolls of the Legion of Honor. It is said that he has sold his secret to Germany because the government refused to restore him to the Legion of Honor. He has gone to Brussels, where the sale took place. The German government made him offers on several occasions, which he finally accepted. The money was paid over by a German General, who went to Brussels from Berlin expressly for that purpose. Turpin knew what a crime he was committing. He wrote to a friend:

"I am going to sell my invention to Germany. In eight months you will have war and in ten months there will no longer be any France."

Let us hope, for the honor of humanity, that such words are the boast of a madman and that Turpin is simply a lunatic, otherwise his crime is an indescribable one. The affair may have serious political results. It is a bad commencement for the Ministry which has just been formed. Premier Dupuy is a moderate man and will not attempt any great piece of politics, but he will hold his own against disorder, and his Ministry will last until the Presidential election, which takes place in October. The Turpin affair, however, will have a great effect on public opinion, because it is a simple one which is understood by everybody.

BRAZIL TO HONOR THE UNITED STATES

Preparing an Elaborate Celebration for the Fourth of July.

RIO DE JANEIRO, May 29.—The great national fête of the United States will be celebrated here in a manner intended to demonstrate the gratitude of the people of Brazil for the support received from the Government of the great American Republic during the recent civil war. The public manifestation will consist in a military and naval review and the laying of the corner-stone of a monument which will be surmounted by a statue of President James Monroe, the author of the Monroe doctrine. President Cleveland has been requested to send a United States squadron to Rio de Janeiro to take part in the naval review, and special medals will be presented to President Cleveland and to President Peixoto in commemoration of the triumph of the established government over the revolutionists.

ANOTHER PLEA FOR MRS. MAYBRICK.

Her Mother, the Baroness Roques, Says She Has New Evidence of Her Innocence.

LONDON, May 29.—Baroness Roques, the mother of Mrs. Maybrick, now undergoing a sentence of imprisonment for life for poisoning her husband, has sent a letter to the newspapers, accompanied by a pamphlet which is said to give the latest evidence collected in favor of the prisoner. The Baroness appeals as an American and as a mother for the assistance of the press in securing justice for Mrs. Maybrick. The Baroness says that she understands the refusal of the Home Office to reopen the Maybrick case is due to the fact that the authorities are in possession of secret adverse evidence, but, the Baroness adds, she is certain if she was informed of the nature of this evidence she would be able to refute it. Baroness Roques says she is confident that her daughter could give her much assistance if she were allowed to converse freely with the prisoner. This privilege, however, is denied her. The pamphlet contains an affidavit dated Feb. 9, 1894, setting forth that the prescription which the Baroness found in a Bible formerly possessed by the late James Maybrick—which prescription includes arsenic—is identical with the prescription mixed by M. Brouant, the chemist of the Avenue Deylau, Paris, in 1878. The Baroness explains that she now remembers that Mr. Maybrick obtained this prescription when he suffered from a face eruption.

Gladstone's Condition Improved.

Mr. Gladstone has passed a good night and his eye is doing well. But continued quiet is still necessary.

The Rt.-Hon. George J. Goschen paid a long visit to Mr. Gladstone this afternoon. Dr. Nettleship this evening reports that Mr. Gladstone continues to make good progress toward complete recovery.

Business Stagnant in Buenos Ayres.

A dispatch from Buenos Ayres, dated May 29, says business is paralyzed owing to the rise in the gold premium and the falling off in exports. Gen. Roca in one interview attributed the rise of the gold premium to the bad state of trade, which, he said, was the result of the drought and the low prices of produce. The General did not think a revolution was likely and was of the opinion that the commercial crisis would last for months. Four brokers and two merchants have recently failed with large liabilities.

Big Cotton Mills Closed.

The cotton mills at Hayfield, Derbyshire, owned by Mr. T. H. Sidebottom, member of Parliament for Stalybridge, have been shut down owing to the depression in the cotton trade. The stoppage of these mills has thrown 3,000 people out of work.

Cannot Loan Money for Ireland.

John Morley, Chief Secretary for Ireland, replying to a question put by John Redmond, said that the government had no power to make loans for the purpose of coöperating with the farming interests of Ireland. Mr. Morley added that it was impossible at the present time to consider the question of legislation upon this subject.

Treatment of American Cattle.

The subject of the exclusion of diseased cattle came up again in the House this evening. Mr. W. H. Long said the agriculturists were entitled to know the policy of the government regarding the exclusion of diseased cattle. The latest information from Canada went to show that the Agricultural Minister had a better opinion of the health of Canadian herds than the Canadians themselves. Mr. Gardner, President of the Board of Agriculture, repudiated the idea that the government should exclude American and Canadian cattle merely to maintain the prices of English stock. The government only desired to exclude disease. He justified the right of the Secretary for the colonies to impart to the Agricultural Board the views of the Canadian Government on this question. Mr. Gardner said he could not make any definite promise as to what the government would do. It would consider the whole circumstances of the case from time to time, and decide accordingly.

Salisbury on the House of Lords.

Lord Salisbury addressed the Grocers' company tonight on the agitation against the House of Lords. He said the agitation was not likely to be effective for many years to come, and referred to the conflicting opinions among the members of the government on the question as evidence of this. He would not venture to claim, as Mr. Morley alleged the Conservatives did, that the House of Peers was a bulwark against the popular passion. What they had to meet, Lord Salisbury said, was not the popular passion, but parliamentary intrigue.

Church of England Missionary Conference.

The sessions of the Missionary Conference of the Church of England were opened this morning in St. James Hall, Picadilly. Twenty Bishops were present and the Archbishop of Canterbury presided. In his inaugural address he reviewed the missionary efforts made from the middle ages and concluded with declaring that the present system of missions by societies could not endure because their success was largely due to party spirit. A paper on "Our Relations with the Indian Churches" was read by an American, the Bishop of Cairo. Mrs. Benson, the wife of the Archbishop of Canterbury, presided at the meeting of the women's section.

New-Yorkers Give Them Points.

Gen. Egbert L. Viele, formerly President of the Park Department of New York, appeared today before a select committee of the House of Lords appointed to consider the question of betterment in the case of town improvements. The General explained at length the system in use in the United States, and especially referred to the West street New York improvement system, which, however, he did not favor.

Novelist Barrie in a Critical State.

J. M. Barrie, the novelist, author of "A Window in Thrums," etc., whose illness was announced Saturday last, is now in a critical condition. Mr. Barrie is suffering from pneumonia, and the disease has extended to his second lung.

It is noticed here that no Cabinet Minister has been invited to attend the conference at Leeds in June on the subject of reform of the House of Lords.

Sir W. Throckmorton's chestnut colt Arcano, by Mask, out of Annette, has been struck out of the entries for the Derby.

TO FORM A NEW BULGARIAN MINISTRY.

Cabinet Resigns and None of the Retiring Members Will Serve Again.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, May 29.—The Bulgarian Cabinet has resigned. Dr. D. Grecoff, the Minister of Foreign Affairs, declined to undertake the task of forming a Cabinet and advised Prince Ferdinand to consult with the leaders of the opposition. It is stated that none of the retiring Ministers will enter the new combination.

Has Its Eyes on the Nicaragua Canal.

[SPECIAL CABLE.]

MEXICO CITY, May 29.—[Copyright, 1894, by the Press Publishing Company, New York World.]—The actions of the British diplomatic agents in Central America are attracting attention here. It is believed England intends to secure a foothold near the proposed Nicaragua Canal. Reports from various sources in Central America agree in regard to British Minister Gosling's influence at Managua. Britain, under the guise of protecting its interests, it is feared, will secure substantial control of an important piece of territory, hoping later on to confirm its title by treaty.

Many Lives Lost in the Flood.

CALCUTTA, May 29.—In addition to the loss of 200 lives by the bursting of a dam formed by a landslip in Charkkupria, Kulu, and the destruction of live stock and dwellings which accompanied it, disastrous floods have wrought much damage in North Cachar. The Jetinga has overflowed its banks and has inundated an area of hundreds of miles. The result of this inundation has been tremenous loss of property, and in addition the loss of life is believed to be enormous. Whole villages have been destroyed in a number of sections of the flood-visited country.

Loie Fuller Dances at a Fete.

BRUSSELS, May 29.—James S. Ewing, the United States Minister, and other foreign Ministers were present this evening at a brilliant fête at the British Legation. Among other visitors were Prince Victor Napoleon and M. Bernaert, formerly Premier. The company was entertained by an exhibition of dancing by Loie Fuller.

Belfast Firm to Go to the Wall.

BELFAST, May 29.—The Northern Whig says the stagnation in the demand for Irish linens, owing to the delay in the disposition of the tariff bill in the United States, is about to compel the failure of one of the oldest and best known firms in Belfast. All creditors will be paid in full.

M'KANE'S PAL GOES UP

He Gets Twenty Months in Addition to the One Year from Which He Fled—His Confession of Gravesend Frauds Affects the Judge's Prescription—Railway Employes Decide to Federate in Certain Branches—Cruelty to a Prisoner in King's County Penitentiary.

NEW YORK, May 29.—[Special.]—Ex-Justice of the Peace Kenneth F. Sutherland in court in Brooklyn this morning pleaded guilty to the indictment of procuring a false canvass of the votes at Gravesend in 1893. He made a full confession of his participation in the crime. He said: "I estimate the number of fictitious votes cast at the Gravesend election of 1893 in the Second Election District to have been between 800 and 900; the total number of fictitious votes on that day cast in all of the districts to have been between 1,400 and 1,500. The actual votes cast at that election were about 2,100 or 2,200 in number. The actual number of votes cast in the year 1892 at the election in Gravesend was 2,000 or 2,100, and there were cast in 1892 about 1,000 or 1,100 fictitious ballots. In both years the fictitious ballots were straight Democratic. I am unwilling to inculpate any other person, and am willing to take upon myself without sharing with any one else the burden of what I myself did in the Second Election District last election day. I folded with my own hands two lots of paper ballots, each 100 or 200 in number, which were fictitiously cast in my presence that day. I have placed in the hands of Mr. Shepard, the Deputy Attorney-General, a full statement of my participation in the whole crime, including the concealment of the registry list and the casting of fictitious votes given upon his examination of me." The Deputy Attorney-General asked that in view of the prisoner's confession he receive not more than half the extreme penalty of seven years. Judge Bartlett then sentenced Sutherland to twenty months in Sing Sing in addition to the term of one year in Kings County Penitentiary already imposed, and from which he fled some weeks ago. In addition to the indictment to which Sutherland pleaded guilty he is under an indictment found against him in January last for conspiracy to procure the casting of fraudulent votes in Gravesend, and under seven other indictments found against him last week. Upon recommendation of the Deputy Attorney-General the indictments for neglecting duty under the election law found against John Y. McKane, Richard V. B. Newton, Kenneth F. Sutherland, William J. Gladding, and James S. Stryker, composing the Town Board of Gravesend, were dismissed. There remain eight indictments against McKane which will rest in abeyance while he serves his term at Sing Sing. If he serves out that sentence it is not proposed to press for trial any other of these indictments. The remaining indictments against Inspectors of Election who are serving their terms will also be allowed to rest.

RAILWAY EMPLOYES WILL FEDERATE

Convention at New York So Decides and Adopts a Platform.

NEW YORK, May 29.—[Special.]—The convention of railroad employés in the Lenox Lyceum closed this evening by adopting a platform providing for a federation of the employés of particular railroad systems. An example of the feeling of the delegates was given in the morning session. There were six bodies only called to deliberate and six only were to compose the federation. Nevertheless another body of railway employés was allowed representation. This was the Car Inspectors' Association. It was a surprise to some of the delegates when Paul Scheweitzer, the representative of the car inspectors, was made a member of the Committee on Resolutions. Then it was found there was an additional organization in the federation. Compulsory arbitration was adopted. A paragraph from the platform follows:

Our purposes and principles are to afford comfort and safety to the traveling public and loyal and faithful service to our employers. We demand compensation consistent with such services. We desire to make a study of all questions affecting conditions of employment, and, if possible, to agree upon a line of action through which to secure favorable and proper legislation by the State and national legislative bodies. The decisions recently rendered by Federal Judges disclose a condition of affairs which invites the closest attention of legislators, and calls for the exercise of broad and true statesmanship.

The platform then condemns the action of Judge Jenkins in issuing "oppressive and un-American writs." It then continues to assert that the time has arrived when organized labor should apply a power which has long lain dormant by discarding entirely politics and party affiliation, and by united action at the ballot-box and upon legislative lines exert an influence that will be heeded. It favors the selection of railroad commissioners in the different States by a direct vote of the people; the enactment of laws affording railroad employés Sunday rest, so far as consistent with the imperative demands of the people; the settlement of differences by arbitration and adequate protection to the employés against personal injury caused by negligence on the part of a co-employé or from defective roads or equipments.

C. C. Weisz, O. R. C.; L. D. Gillette, B. L. E.; C. A. Wilson, B. L. F.; V. Fitzgerald, B. R. T.; B. C. Abrams, O. R. T.; M. F. Farrell, S. M. A. A., and Paul Schweltzer, C. L. A.

MURDER OF PRISONERS CHARGED.

Henry J. Taft, a Discharged Convict, Prefers Serious Allegations.

NEW YORK, May 29.—[Special.]—Henry J. Taft, discharged from the Kings County penitentiary May 15 after serving a sentence of two years for grand larceny, has made against the employés of the penitentiary charges of murder, brutality, neglect, robbery, and a number of other offenses. Taft is a physician, and was assigned to duty in the hospital attached to the penitentiary. He has made six charges against the employés, and says he will forward them to the Attorney-General.

Taft alleges that convicts have been murdered for the purpose of robbery and names Robert Vesia as having been poisoned by an employé for this purpose in June, 1893. He alleges that in December, 1893, a convict named Meli was poisoned. Also that a convict named Donnelly died in his cell May 9, 1892, from neglect, and that Cornelius Brosnan, John Farran, and Thomas Nolan lost their lives through lack of proper medical attendance and general neglect. He also declares that Richard Vaughan, in February, 1894, was beaten and died from neglect.

Taft alleges that in December, 1893, a dose of arsenic was given to him by an employé with intent to kill, but, being a chemist, he detected it, and saved himself by using antidotes. He alleges that the prisoners are starved and that several of them became insane every month for lack of food and because of ill-treatment. The Warden says there is no truth in the charges.

O'KELLY ADMITS THAT HE LIED.

Mysterious Flop Witnessed by the Lexow Investigating Committee.

NEW YORK, May 29.—[Special.]—Delancey Nicoll, attorney for Commissioner McClave, projected the matter of the discredited witness, Gideon Granger, again into the Lexow committee investigation today. He disclaimed having done anything that might have acted to keep this important witness out of town, and declared he had done nothing to intimidate him, as had been reported. Mr. Nicoll hoped to enter into the details of his interview with Granger's attorney, but Senator Lexow cut him off short, saying it would all keep until next Friday. Lawyer Stillwell, who represents Granger, said during recess Granger informed him that McClave promised him he could get back his wife and children and have money enough to go abroad and live if he would let up on his testimony against McClave. Stillwell went to see Nicoll on the matter, but the latter denied that any such promises had been made. Policeman Shea, who borrowed $300 from H. Walter Webb, Third Vice-President of the New York Central railroad, and soon afterward secured an appointment to the police force, endeavored to explain how he spent the money.

"Will you swear," asked Mr. Goff, "that you didn't pay anything to any person for your appointment?"

"If I was foolish enough to pay $300 to get on the police force I wouldn't be foolish enough to tell anybody about it."

A shoe dealer named O'Kelly related how a man named Freeman, then in the committee-room, had talked to him about getting on the police force.

"Did he ask you," inquired Mr. Goff, "if it cost anything to get on the police force?"

"Yes; he said he had $500 or $600 in some stocks."

"And you told him you thought it cost $300 or $400?"

"I think so, yes," replied O'Kelly.

"Did you tell him to come up the next day and that you would give him a letter to Commissioner McClave?"

"And you swear you never paid Mr. Simonson any money or gave him any present?"

"Yes, I swear it."

"Then you lied to me last night?" cried Mr. Goff.

"Yes, I did. I was excited and bulldozed and didn't know what I was saying."

WILL DENOUNCE INCOME TAX RIDER.

Splendid Preparations Under Way for the Monster Meeting Friday.

NEW YORK, May 29.—[Special.]—The practical business-men of this city are thoroughly in earnest in their opposition to the income tax feature of the pending tariff bill, and if the New York members of Congress, who have been invited, will attend the monster mass-meeting in Carnegie Music Hall Friday night they will hear from eloquent lips the reasons this rider is so obnoxious to the representative commercial men. The prime movers in the agitation are visiting the leading men in all lines of trade and soliciting their coöperation in the movement. A meeting of the Executive committee, of which E L. Ridgway is Chairman, was held today. It was decided there should be ten speakers at its meeting. Not one of these is to be a politician, but they will be chosen to present the views of the members of the Stock Exchange, the national and savings bank men, those engaged in fire and life insurance, the wholesale grocers and jewelers, the hotelkeepers, and the dry goods and cotton trades. Invitations have been sent to several orators, but the names of the speakers will not be made public until the list of those who have accepted has been completed. Meetings of the Executive committee and other committees will be held every day.

BERNARDINE HOFF TAKES HER LIFE.

Ingenious Suicide of a Musician Who Had Been Honored by King Oscar.

NEW YORK, May 29.—[Special.]—Bernardine Hoff ended her life early this morning in her room at No. 2118 Madison avenue by inhaling gas. She was found by her sister, Mrs. Petersen, sitting in a chair, her head wrapped tightly in a piece of rubber gossamer and a tube connecting with the gas jet in her mouth. Adversity, disappointment, and ill-health had made existence unendurable. Miss Hoff was a Swede, the daughter of a violinist of note. She herself was an artist. She was sent to the Royal Conservatory of Music at Stockholm, from which she graduated with highest honors. She was appointed teacher of music in the great blind asylum at Stockholm, and King Oscar conferred on her a medal for the system which she devised. Ten years ago her father and mother died, and her sister, Mrs. Petersen, wrote for her to come to New York. Her genius was becoming known in Sweden. In New York she expected to make a great reputation, perhaps become noted like others of her countrywomen here had done. Her genius was not recognized.

INHUMAN TREATMENT OF HIS WIFE.

Paul Kemn Keeps Her Locked in an Old Scow All Winter.

NEW YORK, May 29.—Authorities of Jamaica, L. I., have discovered that all through the winter a woman was confined in the cabin of a dismal scow in the mud on an arm of Jamaica Bay. She had little to wear, little to eat, and no fire. There was no bed. The cabin was in almost perpetual darkness. The woman is now in the Emergency Hospital in Jamaica, and her husband, Paul Kemn, a fisherman, is being sought by the authorities. He is 42 years of age. His home is dirty and dark. He lives with his six children, all girls. His wife was put in the old scow, it is said, because she was violent. She was found lying on a pile of damp rags. She became insane two years ago. She was put into the cabin six months ago. She was fed twice a day and was provided with nothing to drink except what was carried to her with her food. Overseer of the Poor Wyckoff took charge of the children. It was necessary to procure a covered wagon to transfer the girls, as they had on little clothing. A warrant was sworn out for Kemn. It is thought he has fled.

NEWS OF THE EASTERN METROPOLIS.

Westerners Off for Europe—Other Affairs in New York.

NEW YORK, May 29.—[Special.]—The following Westerners will sail tomorrow on the Hamburg-American line steamer Dania for Hamburg: Mrs. George L. Meyer, Master George Meyer, Miss Sophia Meyer, George L. Meyer, Miss Anna Karban, Ludwig Schoniger, Carl Korner, Otto Waitzmann, Mrs. Marie Besser, Bruno Kuhn, Mr. and Mrs. C. Bantow, Miss Agate Duer, Mrs. Helene Fuerhling, Walter Unger, all of Chicago; Miss Mary Mehr, Quincy, Ill.; Mrs. Elise Kueffner, Belleville, Ill. On the steamer Augusta Victoria of the same line for Southampton and Hamburg, sailing Thursday, May 31, will be the following: Mrs. J. Buehler, Mrs. Kathie Voltz, Mrs. E. K. Butler and two children, Miss Lillian B. Weidl, Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Peterson, Mrs. G. E. P. Dodge, Mrs. J. Corlies Lawrence, A. W. F. Newman, W. G. Metzger, John Thielen, T. P. Ballard, Mr. and Mrs. A. Dethmann, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Schoel, Mr. and Mrs. C. Thielmann, Mrs. H. Peiper and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. L. Kneidel, Mr. and Mrs. Gust Dragerius, Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Scheunemann, Mr. Charles Petersen, Miss H. Faustmann, Miss Dragerius, Mrs. Ernestine Roes, Mrs. Sophie Schultz, Wilhelm Schultz, Adolph Maurer, Miss Emma Feind, Martin Enterman, F. Schrenk, Mr. and Mrs. Horatio May, Carl Hollenbach, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fitzek, Miss Tillie Horn, Frank Campe, all of Chicago; Mr. Kuehn of Milwaukee, Alois Schauenberg of Rozelville, Wis.; and Paul Wolf of Webster City, Ia.

Elephant on Ferris' Hands.

Where the Ferris wheel, part of which is now here, is to be located is the question which is worrying Mr. Ferris a great deal. At the Engineers' club today he said: "It will take two months longer to take the wheel down. The parts not here now will be shipped to New York and put up when I secure a site. I am not considering the Thirty-seventh street and Broadway location. I have a half dozen sites in view, but I must move slowly. You know what real estate agents are. I hape to have the wheel running by October, and in a central and accessible locality. It has not been determined to reconstruct 'Old Vienna' in the inclosure."

Non-Partisan Municipal Elections.

The Board of Delegates of the National Municipal League today adopted a resolution that whenever it is practicable it believes in the nomination and election of municipal officers upon municipal issues alone and without regard to national party organization as the best method of securing permanent good government for American cities. Thomas McDougal said Cincinnati had a non-political police force because the appointments are made by the Mayor and approved by a bi-partisan board appointed by the Governor.

Tyng-Gale Nuptials.

Miss Edith M. Gale was married to Sewall Tappan Tyng at St. Bartholomew's Church this evening. It was a pink wedding. The Rev Dr. David H. Greer officiated. The bridemaids were Miss Jessie Spalding of Chicago and Miss Appleton of Boston, who wore gowns of rose silk garlanded with roses and frilled with old lace and chiffon. They carried large bunches of roses. The bride is a daughter of Mrs. J. B. Gale and a sister of Mrs. Archibald Cushman Haynes. After the ceremony there was a reception at the Florence.

Gotham Brevities.

The sloop yacht Vigilant is to sail Thursday morning for Glasgow with provisions on board for thirty-five days.

The statue of Horace Greeley at Thirty-third street and Sixth avenue will be unveiled today. An elaborate program will be carried out.

Staten Island is overwhelmed with locusts. It is feared the entire fruit crop will be ruined. Trees, shrubbery, and lawns are covered with them.

Mrs. Catherine Fitzgerald, sister of Police Inspector McLaughlin, was acquitted today of killing Mrs. Carrie Pearsall Oct. 2 last, the jury finding she was insane when she fired the shots.

Elkin Farmer, No. 1149 Park avenue, retired from business, has dropped $14,000 to two clever swindlers, "Dudley & Spaulding," on mining stock bunco scheme. The police of New York and Chicago are at work on the case.

AT THE MOB'S MERCY.

PROTECTION OF TROOPS IS WITHDRAWN FROM MINONK.

Loud Threats Made by the Strikers, Who Have Become Desperate Through Hunger, and Believe if They Are Arrested the County Will Care for Their Families—Many Anarchists Placed Under Arrest at La Salle—Soldiers Ordered to Guard Miners in Iowa.

Baker, U. S. A., stating that all was quiet there and it would be safe to withdraw two of the companies on duty, as the other troops could attend to any trouble within thirty miles. Accordingly Gen. Orendoff directed Col. Bennitt to send home two of his companies at once.

OTTAWA, Ill., May 29.—[Special.]—The six men caught in the skirmish at La Salle Saturday and landed in jail here Sunday noon, were arraigned before Judge Weeks this afternoon. Withervich, Pourke, Plain, and Volant, all of Ladd, charged with carrying concealed weapons, were fined $100 each; Joe Mouze, the Spring Valley shoemaker, was fined $25; and Frank Popkio of La Salle was remanded without hearing for riot.

Marseilles is quiet today, but expects trouble tomorrow or Thursday.

IOWA SOLDIERS IN THE FIELD.

Gov. Jackson Orders One Company Against Strikers in Mahaska County.

OTTUMWA, Ia., May 29.—[Special.]—Troops were ordered out today to maintain order in Mahaska County, where the striking coal miners are besieging the Muchakinock and Evans mines. Gov. Jackson this afternoon sent the Oskaloosa military company to Muchakinock and telegraphed the Sheriff that he stood ready to send the entire soldiery of the State to his aid if necessary. The Ottumwa company is under arms ready to march at a minute's notice. Serious trouble is expected Thursday.

Two camps, Muchakinock and Evans, are under armed guard. The besieging miners have given the men at work until Thursday to make up their minds to quit or fight. The strikers today went to Oskaloosa and laid in a supply of powder and shot.

All is quiet in the Albia district. No miners are working there. All is quiet at Hiteman, which is a large camp. The men, however, say they will return to work if the Muchakinock men do not go out. There is considerable suffering at Foster, and petty depredations are being committed in the Centerville districts.

A delegation of 100 miners marched from here to Laddsdale in Davis County today and got the men out there. This will stop the coal supply of the electric street railway and light power-house, and those establishments may be compelled to close.

OSKALOOSA, Ia., May 29.—[Special.]—The strike situation is becoming serious. Some of the leaders say the thing is getting out of their hands. Threats have been made to burn the bridges on the Muchakinock branch of the Northwestern road, over which the coal is now passing. Supt. Hollenbeck with sixty men came in last night, and that road is now guarded at all points.

BLOCKADE AT LYFORD, IND., RAISED.

Miners Decide Not to Resist the Court's Orders—Trouble Is Not Over.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., May 29.—[Special.]—President Dunkerly of the Indiana United Mine Workers spent the night with the strikers at Lyford to convince them of the folly of resisting the order of United States Judge Baker against holding the thirty cars of coal they had captured from the Chicago and Eastern Illinois road, telling them that in one more day the boys in blue would be here from Fort Sheridan. This morning they reconsidered the vote of last night. When United States Marshal Hawkins, with a train crew and engine, arrived at Lyford at 10 o'clock there was no resistance to hauling the coal except by some of the women, who first threw stones and once uncoupled the cars. Later in the day thirty more cars of Kentucky coal which has been blockaded two weeks was sent past Lyford for Chicago.

The strikers are disheartened and it is feared they will break over the good resolution of the last month and begin drinking. At other places they are evincing a tendency to become desperate. At Rosedale today they captured a car of coal belonging to the Vandalia company and told Trainmaster Burke that if he attempted to haul any more through there they would hang him.

It is likely the Evansville and Terre Haute company will apply to Judge Baker tomorrow for a restraining order directed to the striking miners at Shelburn, where a dozen cars of Kentucky coal on the way to Chicago have been captured. Two writs from the Sullivan Circuit Court have been issued, but the miners jeer at them. Today when Supt. Corbett was there with the Sheriff the men gave them five minutes to leave town. Although this was done in the presence of the Sheriff the Superintendent had to obey the order.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 29.—[Special.]—The Federal grand jury here has taken a hand in the miners' troubles in this State and it is believed indictments will be returned against the men for stopping trains. Judge Baker in his instructions to the grand jury today called attention to the interference with trains carrying United States mails. He did not mention the strikers directly, but the meaning of the instructions is easily interpreted. Two or three railroads, it is said, have been considering the advisability of laying before the jury information as to the conduct of strikers. One of these is the Evansville and Terre Haute railroad, which has been delivering a great deal of coal to the Chicago and Eastern Illinois road at Terre Haute and Brazil. While the strikers have not directly interfered with the running of passenger trains, it is said they have delayed the trains carrying mails by blocking the road with freight trains loaded with coal.

BRAZIL, Ind., May 29.—[Special.]—Trouble is imminent here. At Rosedale last evening the passenger train on the Chicago and Eastern Illinois was stopped by a mob of miners, numbering several hundred men, who demanded to be allowed to ride free. The conductor refused and the train was held by the mob over an hour, when the trainmen induced them to allow them to move, assuring the strikers they were delaying the United States mail. The miners say they will not allow coal to be mined to supply the water works or electric light plant with fuel. Should these plants be forced to stop this city will be wholly without fire protection or street lights.

LOOK FOR TROUBLE AT MORRIS, ILL.

Miners There Refuse to Quit at the Behest of Coal City Strikers.

MORRIS, Ill., May 29.—[Special.]—At a mass-meeting of Morris miners today the proposition to unite with the United Mine-Workers of America was voted down. Those voting against the propositions proclaimed their intentions of going to work tomorrow. The leaders of the Coal City miners being thrice baffled in their designs to have the Morris miners go out, returned home in anything but good humor after having drank heavily. A conflict is feared.

DUQUOIN, Ill., May 29.—[Special.]—A conference was held here today between the officials of the Illinois Central and Sheriff Clark of this county. The Central desires to move a large amount of coal from the Ohio River to Chicago, but fearing the striking miners here would try to prevent it, asked the Sheriff to place deputies in the yards. This he refused to do, saying he had talked to the men and they promised him not to interfere, as they desired to see the coal shipped to market at once.

STAUNTON, Ill., May 29.—[Special.]—The miners here are ready to work any time if they can do so with safety. The mines probably will be opened the last of this week. Between Litchfield and Staunton, a distance of fourteen miles, over 1,000 coal cars, with a capacity of 30,000 tons, are side-tracked. Wabash trains are still coaling here, but this supply will be exhausted in a few days unless work is resumed.

SOLDIERS GUARD CAMDEN'S MINES.

Two West Virginia Companies Sent to Protect Men at Work.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., May 29.—Companies I and G of the State militia of this city were ordered out by Gov. McCorkle this morning to proceed to the Camden mines to protect the men there from strikers. The soldiers were ready and on a train in forty minutes.

COLUMBUS, O., May 29.—[Special.]—W. P. Thomas is in the city soliciting aid for the miners of Gloucester, Athens County, W. Va. He says many of the men are in bad condition and that some have gone two days without food.

NORWALK, O., May 29.—[Special.]—Shipments of coal over the Wheeling and Lake Erie road are being made carefully, and through the mining district men in the employ of the railway company are protecting the tracks and closely watching bridges. These precautions are taken because an attempt was made Saturday to wreck a train.

MASSILLON, O., May 29.—[Special.]—A party of 250 miners today attacked three special Wheeling and Lake Erie trains laden with West Virginia coal as they passed through Sherrodsville. Every window in the engines and cabooses was broken and several trainmen were injured.

POMEROY, O., May 29.—The delegation of miners which went down the river today by steamboat, 800 strong, to induce the miners at Spillman, W. Va., to cease work, came back tonight with flying banners and a band playing. They accomplished their mission without an unkind word on either side. Eighty-three men joined the strikers. This clears every mine in the Pomeroy Bend without an act of violence. Every steamboat coaling station between here and Cincinnati is without fuel.

GOV. WAITE AFRAID OF KIDNAPERS.

"Bloody Bridles" Postpones His Proposed Visit to Cripple Creek.

DENVER, Colo., May 29.—Gov. Waite announced today that he would go to Cripple Creek tonight and talk to the miners on Bull Hill for the purpose of learning just what they are doing toward preventing mine-owners controling their property. Tonight he postponed the trip till the morning. It is said he fears the deputies might kidnap him.

The strikers now expect to be attacked from three different points and have massed their forces at Bull Hill. Two principal approaches have been undermined and large quantities of dynamite placed so that by means of electricity the mines can be exploded from the fort.

Sheriff Bowers of El Paso County was in Denver today in consultation with Cripple Creek mine-owners. He did not call on the Governor. He said he had determined to enforce the laws in Cripple Creek and put the mine-owners in possession of their property. H. B. Gortner, a prominent Populist, was driven out of the camp today and warned that he would be killed if he returned. A Gatling gun has been ordered to be sent from Chicago as quickly possible to be used by the deputies against the miners.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., May 29.—The strikers of Cripple Creek are under command of J. J. Johnson, who has taken a course of military instruction at West Point, and three or four German military officers. One German officer is said to have planned the fort on Bull Mountain.

Court Orders Mines Operated.

HANNIBAL, Mo., May 29.—Judge Williams of the United States Court instructed Mr. Crysler, attorney for J. J. Bovard, receiver of the Loomis Coal company, to open the mines at Bevier, where there is a strike, and to begin operating them. He said he wanted the mines to be in operation at this time, when there was such a good profit in the business, and that he proposed to have them in operation. The Randolph delegation of the striking miners is preparing to invade the Kansas and Texas mine, No. 46, near Macon, to force the miners there to abandon work. The Sheriff with a posse has gone to the scene. It is reported that one of the air hoisting shafts has been fired to interfere with the working of the pit.

Telegraphers Turn Down Chief Ramsay.

DENVER, Colo., May 29.—The railway telegraphers held their election today, which resulted in defeat for Grand Chief Telegrapher Ramsay. Walker V. Powell of Wichita, Kas., was elected. The telegraphers indorsed the suspending of the Omaha charter, but offered to restore it if the Omaha division would obey former orders. Editor Thurston was exonerated from charges. The offices of Assistant Grand Chief and Senior Telegrapher were created. It was decided to organize a ladies' auxiliary.

Maryland Companies' Ultimatum.

LONACONING, Md., May 29.—The Presidents of the American, George's Creek, and the New Central Coal companies have posted notices advising their miners and employés to take their tools from the mines. This will be followed by the companies paying off their employés and discharging them. Every indication now points to one of two things—a resumption of work at the old rate or the closing of the mines for the season.

Great Northern to Increase Salaries.

ST. PAUL, Minn., May 29.—[Special.]—At the general offices of the Great Northern road it is said the salaries of the general office employés will be advanced 50 per cent of the recent cut the advance to take effect on the pay-rolls for May. This gives rise to expectation that the wages of all employés of the road will be increased before long.

Miners at Leavenworth Quit Work.

LEAVENWORTH, Kas., May 29.—The 400 miners employed at the Home and Kansas and Texas shafts quit work today and a prolonged strike seems inevitable.

CROPS INJURED BY EXCESSIVE COLD.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 29.—The Weather Bureau in its weather crop bulletin for the week ended May 28 says:

Over the greater portion of the country east of the Rocky Mountains the night temperatures have been unusually low and injuriously affected or retarded the growth of vegetation in the States of the central valleys and also in the eastern portion of the cotton regions, and frosts occurred in the States of the Ohio, Upper Mississippi, and Lower Missouri Valleys. The damage resulting from the frosts of the previous week is reported as being more serious than was first supposed in Kentucky, Missouri, and South Carolina, but in the States of the Northwest crops are recovering from the effects of frost. Drought conditions are reported from Iowa, Nebraska, and Wyoming, and rain is needed in Colorado, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Missouri, and in portions of Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee, Louisiana, Mississippi, and Texas.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 29.—The weather crop bulletin of the Illinois Weather Service for the week says: Light frost occurred the 28th, which probably did some damage to tender vegetation. In many sections of the northern division and northern counties of the central division corn is reported injured by the frosts of the 19th and 20th. Wheat, except in a few sections, is generally in good condition. There is little improvement reported in the condition of oats, and in some sections they are rank and likely to lodge. Fruit prospects remain the same.

[Heavy frosts the last three nights have injured crops somewhat in the sections near San Francisco, Norwich, N. Y.; Saranac Lake, N. Y.; Frankfort, Ky.; Pittsburg, Pa.; East Tawas, Mich.]

WESTERN LADS WELL TO THE FRONT.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., May 29.—The standing of the first twelve of the six-year graduating class, United States Naval Academy, is known to be as follows:

Line Division—First, Campbell of Wyoming; second, Day of Vermont; third, Evans of Florida; fourth, McNamee of Kansas; fifth, Sawyer of Illinois; sixth, Hussey of New Hampshire; seventh, Blakeley of Pennsylvania; eighth, Jewell, at large; ninth, Dawson of Missouri; tenth, Davidson of Missouri; eleventh, Thompson of Ohio; twelfth, Hines of Kentucky.

All of these are sure to be appointed ensigns in the navy, except Evans and Blakeley, who have physical disqualifications that may interfere. In the engineer division Porter of Tennessee, Crank of Texas, Moses of Georgia, and Hasbrouck of Idaho passed in the order named. Crank failed physically, as did also Gamble of Indiana.

BY QUEEN'S OWN RIFLES IN UNIFORM.

Cumulative Evidence That They Tore Down "Old Glory" at St. Thomas, Ont.

ST. THOMAS, Ont., May 29.—[Special.]—The excitement caused by the tearing down of the Stars and Stripes from the front of the United States Consulate by men of the Queen's Own Rifles of Toronto has not yet abated. District Adjutant-General Smith is here under orders from Ottawa investigating the outrage, and has obtained full particulars. Officers of the Queen's Own Rifles deny the flag was torn down by members of that corps, but the act was witnessed by a number of citizens. They distinctly assert the flag was pulled down by members of the Queen's Own Rifles in uniform. All tell the same story.

little destruction of property, but insofar as we are able we will guard against it."

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 29.—[Special.]—Gov. Matthews has consented to serve with the Governors of Iowa, Illinois, Ohio, Pennsylvania, and West Virginia to arbitrate the miners' strike, providing both the miners and the operators agree to abide by the finding of the arbitration board.

COLUMBUS, O., May 29.—In reply to a proposition to act with the Governors of Pennsylvania, Indiana, Illinois, and West Virginia on a board to arbitrate the miners' strike Gov. McKinley tonight said: "I would be glad to do anything in my power to bring the unfortunate differences to an end, but as neither party to the controversy has requested me to arbitrate I cannot assume any functions of arbitration."

LACK OF FUEL CAUSES SHUT-DOWNS.

Many Plants Unable to Run and Others Have Short Supply of Coal.

The effect of the coal miners' strike is being felt at many points. Factories, mills, and public works have been forced to close for lack of fuel. Dispatches to THE TRIBUNE report shut-downs as follows:

Iowa Packing company, Clinton, Ia.; Abingdon Paving Brick company, Abingdon, Ill.; Hillsboro tile and brick works, Hillsboro, Ill.; roller mills and the electric street cars, Lincoln, Ill.; Missouri Pacific railroad shops, Sedalia, Mo., and Van Buren, Ark.; Central Branch railroad shops, Atchison, Kas.; city electric light plant, Aurora, Ill.

DES MOINES, Ia., May 29.—[Special.]—One-half ton of poor quality soft coal sold here today for $3.50. The water-works has been smuggling in coal from country mines. Many mills and factories are using wood, and cordwood is now a staple article again. The miners are sorely reduced and have sent out a committee to solicit aid.

PANA, Ill., May 29.—[Special.]—Three hundred non-union men were at work today at the different mines. A local meeting of miners and operators is called for tomorrow. All of the operators here agreed to attend.

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., May 29.—The Illinois Central has begun to draw on its 1,500 tons of coal here, a third of it being shipped to Freeport, Ill., yesterday. It has a large supply in reserve at Sheldon, Ia., still.

WEST SUPERIOR, Wis., May 29.—The price of soft coal has risen to $3.50. Coal men estimate that the docks will be cleaned up by June 20.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., May 29.—[Special.]—There is little coal here. The street car company and the electric light company are making arrangements to use oil for fuel.

PROFITING BY THE MINERS' STRIKE.

NEW YORK, May 29.—The sales agents of the anthracite coal companies met today. The Western sales agents were also present, although they met independently in reference to the regulation of the Western supply. It was the united sentiment that the anthracite companies should make the most of the scarcity of bituminous coal and should market as much hard coal as the trade would stand. It was decided to advance the price of broken and egg 15 cents a ton, to $3.85, and for stove and chestnut 25 cents, to $4 a ton. The Western agents advanced the price on all sizes 25 cents a ton. It is reported that another advance may come soon if the strike lasts. Most of the discussion was in regard to the restriction, in view of the relation to the soft coal strike. They decided to restrict the output for June to 60 per cent of the capacity, or 2,750,000 tons. Statistics that were read at the meeting showed the production for the year ended May 20 decreased 2,930,611 tons compared with the corresponding period last year. But since May 6 the production has picked up considerably, owing to the bituminous coal situation, which has increased the demand for hard coal. Considerable was said about the encroachment of foreign soft coal upon the American market, and the best information was that the demand could not be met rapidly enough; that all that has reached this neighborhood during the last two weeks has been eagerly snapped up by manufacturers where the railroad and steamship companies did not get the start of them. Much of this comes from Nova Scotia, and the higher prices now ruling leave an ample profit after the duty has been paid.

ROUTE OF CANAL THROUGH JOLIET.

It Cuts Through Property That Will Cost the Drainage Board $1,500,000.

JOLIET, Ill., May 29.—[Special.]—The jury in the condemnation case in the Circuit Court, wherein the Chicago Drainage Commission seeks for farm land in the middle of the Township of Lockport for the big canal, brought in a verdict this afternoon. It awarded $125 an acre for twelve acres belonging to Foley and Harris, and for twenty-four acres belonging to the Geddes estate $150 an acre. A party is in the city surveying a route for the canal through the city. Striking in opposite the prison it is to go through Bluff street two miles and on to Joliet Lake. The west side of the street, which is a high bluff, is secured for a bank. In this route there are elevators, gas house, and business property which will take $1,500,000 to buy.

BEATRICE, Neb., May 29.—[Special.]—Prof. Hutchinson, rainmaker for the Rock Island railroad, has been operating here since Saturday with the rainmaking car. Last night a good rain fell over a greater portion of the county and extended southward as far as Manhattan, Kas. Little rain fell in Beatrice, scarcely enough to lay the dust. Prof. Hutchinson is still bombarding the clouds with chemicals and expects to bring down a big shower before concluding the experiment. Friends of the rainmaking scheme here are enthusiastic in their belief that last night's rains are the result of Hutchinson's work.

Russia Honors an American Diplomat.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 29.—J. N. Crawford, United States Consul-General, was presented on his retirement with a silver table service as a Russian testimonial of his efforts to improve the Russo-American relations. Mr. Crawford was also presented with an illuminated address in recognition of his having provided translation of the Russian official publications which were sent to the World's Fair in Chicago.

JOIN IN THE FIGHT.

PROVISION WAREHOUSEMEN STAND WITH ELEVATOR PEOPLE.

Three of the Leading Firms, Armour & Co., Swift & Co., and Nelson Morris & Co., Decline to Take Out Licenses for the Coming Year—The Board of Trade's Attack on Grain Men, They Claim, Would Soon Be Directed Against Them Also—Two Swindlers Sentenced.

Provision warehousemen have joined forces in no uncertain manner with the elevator people in the Board of Trade fight. They have anticipated the action of the 500 members who declared against the grain warehousemen and propose to swing loose from the control of the board. To this end the first gun was fired yesterday. They refuse to ask a renewal of licenses as public custodians of provisions and file the customary bonds for another year. Those taking this action were Armour & Co., Swift & Co., and Nelson Morris & Co., the remaining provision firms complying with the rules as usual.

This move on the part of the three concerns named is the result of an understanding between the grain warehousemen and the provision people, making the cause a common one. The argument is that if a certain large element in the produce trade makes war against one class of custodians of property it is not at all improbable that the provision men will next be warned that they must either quit dealing in hog product or submit to having their warehouses declared "irregular."

The packers who have taken such a vigorous stand decline to make known their plans for the immediate future, but profess to be more than willing to await the result of the vote on the elevator question.

"We have filed no bonds this year, nor have we made application to the Board of Trade for a license for the period," said P. D. Armour last night. "We are grain elevator people as well as provision warehouse men and are simply waiting to see what action will be taken on the question of the public warehouses. While no fight is made against the provision warehouse men the principle is the same, and we do not know when an attack will be made in this direction. I am not prepared to say what further action Armour & Co. will take in the matter."

G. F. Swift of the firm of Swift & Co. contends that his business is obliged to face the same problem. "We packers run warehouses and do not feel that we have any more standing than the grain men. There seems to be no special difference between the two classes of custodians of property. If grain warehousemen are forced out it is possibly in order to put the other class out next. When one kind of warehousemen is thus set aside it is exactly in line for another class to be voted out. We have decided on no special line of procedure for the future."

August Rieser, Manager of Nelson Morris & Co., says his people have taken this course in order to protect themselves. That if the attitude of the trade is such toward grain elevators it is liable to jeopardize the interests of provision warehousemen and it is better to await the action on the grain question.

Board of Trade people who expect to vote against the public elevators next week were earnest in their arguments yesterday, showing why public custodians of grain should be just this and nothing more. A few of those who signed the monster petition asking that the thing be brought to vote of the full association professed to have experienced a change of sentiment, but in the main there was nothing to indicate any material defection from the ranks. The vote will be taken next Monday in trading hours.

SWINDLERS SENT TO PRISON.

Orr and Saddler, Who Fleeced Many Englewood People, Are Convicted.

After a trial lasting four days Harry B. Orr and John B. Saddler were yesterday afternoon convicted of conspiracy to defraud J. M. Gray out of $400. Orr was sentenced to two years and Saddler to one year in the penitentiary. When the verdict was read a murmur of applause sounded in the packed courtroom, filled by people from Englewood who claim to have been duped by Orr and Saddler. June 3, 1893, J. M. Gray of Wellington, Kas., saw the following advertisement in a Chicago newspaper:

Wanted—A sober, trusty young man with $800 to take interest and act as cashier in big cash grocery store in best paying location on South Side; good salary; share of profits; money secured; I am a Christian, well-to-do, with best references.

Mr. Gray answered the advertisement and met Harry B. Orr and John B. Saddler. They represented to him, he says, that they were the proprietors of a big grocery at No. 6138 South Halsted street, and composed the "company" in Fred Dainton & Co., at No. 6855 South Halsted street, another grocery house doing a prosperous business. Gray was induced under a promise of being made cashier of Fred Dainton & Co. to invest in eight shares of the par value of $50 each. When Orr and Saddler had secured Gray's $400 they began to find fault with him, saying he was not competent to fill the position of cashier, and discharged him. They refused to refund his money and he at once proceeded against them in the courts. Others who had been duped in the same manner began to appear until the list contained the following named with the amounts they had invested in Fred Dainton & Co.:

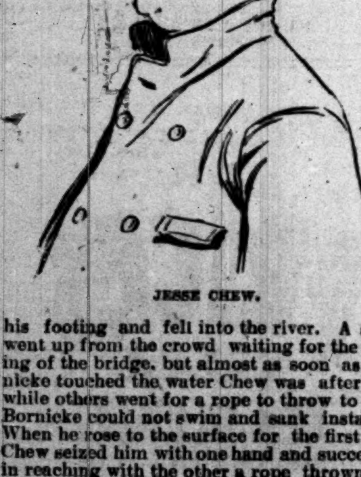

Robert Griffiths, No. 5513 Wentworth avenue, $200; J. J. Karasek, Forty-eighth and Loomis streets, $360; Amel Johnson, No. 5856 State street, $440; G. W. Bennett, No. 916 Van Buren street, $700; M. Schoonmaker, No. 5433 Wentworth avenue, $360; W. S. Neff, No. 4100 Indiana avenue, $350; O. Mattson, No. 2952 Cottage Grove avenue, $690; J. N. Baird, $500; Fred Zimmer, $200; Charles Phillips, $200; F. X. Seifert, $300; Otto Brockhaus, $200.

To all of these people Orr and Saddler are said to have represented that they held $2,000 of the capital stock of Dainton & Co., but it was shown they only had $50 worth each. The Englewood people who had been imposed upon were determined to punish the pair.

DARING RESCUE FROM THE RIVER.

Jesse Chew Saves Sternis Bornicke from Drowning.

Many persons witnessed a daring rescue yesterday at the Dearborn street bridge at 10:30 o'clock. Jesse Chew of 118 South Water street dove into the foul waters of the Chicago River and saved Sternis Bornicke of 60 North Clark street from drowning. Bornicke, who approached the bridge from the north just as the bridge was turned, missed his footing and fell into the river. A shout went up from the crowd waiting for the turning of the bridge, but almost as soon as Bornicke touched the water Chew was after him, while others went for a rope to throw to him. Bornicke could not swim and sank instantly. When he rose to the surface for the first time Chew seized him with one hand and succeeded in reaching with the other a rope thrown him by Officer Byrne. By hanging to the rope both men were kept above water until they could be rescued by a boat. Bornicke was taken to his home not much the worse for his experience, while Chew was given a hearty cheer by the crowd.

OFFICER SHOOTS A BURGLAR DEAD.

Two Men Break Into a Barber Shop and One Is Killed.

Two burglars who had broken into the barber shop of Michael Bosk at No. 467½ Clark street early yesterday morning were discovered by Officer Howell of the Harrison Street Police Station. One of them was shot and almost instantly killed by the officer. There was nothing by which his identity could be established. He was apparently about 23 years old, 5 feet 8 inches in height, weight 170 pounds, had dark eyes and light hair, and was shabbily dressed. The other burglar escaped.

Old Landmark Is Burned.

One of Chicago's oldest landmarks was wiped out yesterday morning when fire destroyed the frame building at the southwest corner of Indiana avenue and Thirty-first street. For thirty-five years the structure has stood on the corner. A saloon on the first floor became a popular resort for actors, and the place, until recently kept by Capt. Darius C. Cudney, who was succeeded by his son Arthur, was still frequented by them. The painter Elkins, who was a friend of Capt. Cudney, had placed several of his best works in the saloon. The owner, Leopold Bloom, will lose $2,000, as the structure was not insured. Other damage outside the destruction of the paintings in the saloon will bring the loss to $4,000.

Charged with Swindling a Woman.

According to the story of Mrs. Matilda Koch of No. 115 Locust street she was swindled out of $500 and a lot at Chicago Heights by Frank Zora and his wife Mary. They took her to the Bassett Museum of Anatomy, on Madison street, and offered to sell her the place, of which they represented themselves to be the owners. She gave a lot in Chicago Heights and $500 and was to pay the balance of $5,000 for the museum in two years. Mrs. Koch took possession. Dr. Bassett came in last week, and Mrs. Koch found that the Zoras had only rented the place and that their lease had expired. Their arrest followed.

Charged with Libel of Priests.

The grand jury returned fifty-three indictments yesterday afternoon. Five of these were against Bartes Bittner, publisher of a Bohemian weekly, the Sotek, who is accused of libel. The charges against Editor Bittner are the publication of defamatory statements against Charles Jaeger, Abbot of the Monastery of St. Prokop on Allport street, and the Rev. Fathers Matthew Farnik, Joseph Molitor, Benedict Henn, and Francis Bobel, all priests of the Bohemian Catholic Church of Chicago.

Chinamen Buy Opium of Uncle Sam.

United States Marshal Arnold had an auction sale yesterday at the Jackson street entrance of the Government Building of 168 half-pound cans of opium prepared for smoking. The opium was taken from smugglers who have been arrested during the last few months by the Chinese inspectors. The stuff was bought by Hip Lung, Sam Moy, and Wong Lee at $2.30 per pound. There is a prohibitory duty on the drug of $12 per pound.

Police Board Investigates Charges.

The Police Trial Board heard a number of complaints against officers yesterday. Officers Cusick, Scott, and Kelly of the Eighteenth Precinct were exonerated on the charge of frequenting a dance and drinking when on duty; Officers Quinn and Tracey of the Central Station were exonerated on the charge of using unnecessary violence in arresting Fred Milliken May 13; Officer John Magner may lose his star for unnecessarily arresting H. C. Leslie May 11.

Funeral of W. J. Goudy.

The funeral of W. J. Goudy took place at 11 a. m. yesterday from his late home, No. 46 Astor street. The services were conducted by the Rev. Floyd W. Tomkins of St. James' Episcopal Church. Many of Mr. Goudy's associates in the Waubansia club were present. The pallbearers were: Robert F. Shanklin, John King, Edward Ryerson, H. E. Hurlbert, Joseph S. Harlan, and Dudley Winston. The interment took place in Graceland.

Formal Opening of Field Museum.

The Field Columbian Museum in the Fine Arts Building at Jackson Park will be formally opened next Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The ceremonies will be held at the north main entrance. Dr. Gunsaulus will make a short address, and E. G. Mason, President of the Historical Society, and F. J. V. Skiff will speak. Everything will be informal.

Converted Jew Returns from Jerusalem.

The Rev. A. Ben-Oliel, a converted Jew, who was born at Tangiers in 1826, and who has labored for the last three years as an independent Presbyterian missionary in Jerusalem, is now paying a visit to Chicago with his family. He is attracting great notice in all the churches. He was converted to the Christian religion at the age of 18 by reading "Pilgrim's Progress" and "Keith on Prophecy."

Yon King Acquitted of Murder.

The case of Yon King, the Chinaman who had been on trial before Judge Gibbons for five days on a charge of murder, was submitted to the jury at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Two hours later a verdict was returned of not guilty. Yon King was in court with his two Chinese friends when the verdict was returned. He expressed no emotion when he learned that he was a free man.

Justice Harlan to Address Law Students.

Associate Justice Harlan of the United States Supreme Court is announced to lecture at Central Music Hall June 7 before the Chicago Law Students' Association on "The Bering Sea Arbitration." The association, composed of 800 students, is a new one. The intention is to establish a lecture course, the lectures being donated by prominent men in the country.

Items.

The Art Institute is open free from 9 to 5 o'clock Decoration day as upon all other public holidays.

At both Lincoln and Humboldt Parks today the Chicago Turngemeinde and Central Turnverein will give exhibitions of drilling and gymnastics.

The closing exercises of the sixth term of the American Brewing Academy were held yesterday. Twenty-four students passed the examination.

The will of Samuel Dexter was admitted to probate by Judge Kohlsaat yesterday. It bequeaths an estate worth $280,000 to Mrs. Josephine Dexter, his mother.

At a meeting of the Thirty-second Ward Council of the Civic Federation, at the Hyde Park Hotel, J. W. Fernald was chosen President and John A. Jamieson Secretary.

Physicians and their families to the number of about ninety persons left last night on the Pacific limited over the Northwestern to attend the forty-fifth annual meeting of the American Medical Association in San Francisco, June 5 to 8.

C. H. Zabeler was arrested yesterday on the complaint of Julius Regensteiner, a lithographer at Nos. 87 and 91 Plymouth place, who charges him with forging his name to checks to the amount of $500 to $800 while in his employ as clerk.

Thomas D. Drake, Auditor of the Postoffice, has been appointed Superintendent of Stations to take the place of Supt. James McGrath, who resigned several days ago. Mr. Drake will superintend the work of the stations in addition to his duties as Auditor.

Chief Brennan has transferred Lieut. Wheeler, Sergt. Rosch, and Patrolman Ryan of the Desplaines Street Station to the Maxwell Street, Milwaukee Avenue, and West Lake Street Stations respectively. The rumored reason is that the three men were incessantly quarreling with each other.

Charles W. Pickler when arraigned yesterday morning before Justice Foster on a charge of abandonment preferred by his wife waived examination and was held to the Criminal Court. A representative of the Woman's Protective Association assisted in the prosecution.

Judge Goggin yesterday released Frank Miles from the County Jail on a writ of habeas corpus. Miles was charged with throwing a hatchet at William Ellinger when the latter stabbed and killed William Haddock two weeks ago. Judge Goggin said there was no evidence to substantiate the charge.

Chief Brennan does not believe the Police Department is responsible for the destruction of the public bath-house erected last summer by the Municipal Order League near the North Side water-works. During the winter it is alleged the building was carried away piecemeal by North-Siders who were badly in need of firewood.

A report of the sale of the personal effects of Patrick O'Sullivan of Cronin trial fame was made to Judge Kohlsaat yesterday. J. M. Ford was the purchaser, paying $8.75 for a few miscellaneous goods. The Lake View Building and Loan Association had purchased for $144 five shares of stock held in the name of the dead man.

Members of the Simsrott family visited Rolston's undertaking rooms at No. 11 Adams street yesterday morning to view the body of a man which had been taken from the river at Rush street. They decided it was not that of William A. Simsrott, the missing man. The committee which has been investigating Mr. Simsrott's books is still at work and has made no report.

Decide Ringstrom Was Murdered.

AURORA, Ill., May 29.—[Special.]—The Coroner's jury which has been investigating the death of J. E. Ringstrom of Ottumwa, Ia., whose body was found in the river Saturday, reached the conclusion today that it was a case of murder for the purpose of robbery.

LOSE JUST THE SAME.

Philadelphia, with a True Exhibition of Brotherly Love, Meets the Strangers and Takes Them In, with Six Runs to Spare—New York, Brooklyn, Pittsburg, and Washington Win, Pittsburg Going to First Place—Games in the Western Association and Western League.

The Eastern and Western teams of the National League came together yesterday for the first time this season, and the afternoon's games resulted in a thorough shaking up of the percentage table. Pittsburg by defeating Baltimore stepped into first place and shoved the Orioles down to fourth position. Cleveland lost its game to New York and fell back to second, Philadelphia reaching that point by beating Chicago. St. Louis passed Brooklyn and the other clubs kept their various positions unchanged. The surprise of the day was the winning of a game by Washington.

The results of the preliminary contests, as they might be called, among the clubs of each section—East and West—clearly demonstrate that Pittsburg and Cleveland, about equally matched with each other, far outclass the other four Western teams—St. Louis, Cincinnati, Louisville, and Chicago. The disparity among the Eastern clubs is not so great, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Boston, and New York standing almost equal chances, with Brooklyn not very far behind.

Clubs.	Played.	Won.	Lost.	Per ct.
Pittsburg	30	21	9	.700
Cleveland	26	18	8	.692
Philadelphia	26	18	8	.692
Baltimore	25	16	9	.640
Boston	29	18	11	.621
New York	29	15	14	.517
St. Louis	30	14	16	.467
Brooklyn	27	12	15	.444
Cincinnati	25	11	14	.440
Louisville	27	10	17	.370
Chicago	27	8	19	.296
Washington	29	4	25	.138

National League games scheduled for today are: Chicago at Philadelphia, Cleveland at New York, Cincinnati at Boston, Baltimore at Pittsburg, St. Louis at Brooklyn, and Louisville at Washington. Morning and afternoon games will be played in each city.

PHILADELPHIA HAS AN EASY TIME.

Put Hits Together Just When They Bring In the Most Runs.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., May 29.—[Special.]—The Chicago players got decidedly the worst of the argument in their game with the Phillies. After several weeks' rest Gus Weyhing was put in the box. Had he continued Chicago would no doubt have gotten the game without making a hit. Taylor, who was called in to relieve him, was a terror to the Chicago batsmen.

Hamilton opened up with a single. Boyle followed with another, with which Lange fell in handling. Hamilton scored on a passed ball, Boyle taking second. Delahanty hit a bounder over Hutchison's head and beat Irwin's good throw to first, Boyle going to third. Boyle scored on Hallman's grounder, which forced Delahanty at second. Hallman stole second and kept right on to third, Schriver's throw being very wide. Cross reached first on balls and stole second. Clements then hit the ball to the top of the center field fence for three bases, Hallman and Cross scoring. Weyhing ended the inning with a fly to Irwin.

Ryan opened by striking out. Dahlen, Wilmot, and Anson got to first on balls and Lange struck out. Irwin's long fly dropped safely in Delahanty's hands and the agony was over.

Chicago broke the ice in the second inning because of Weyhing's wildness. He gave Schriver and Hutchison bases on balls and Ryan made a scratch hit, filling the bases for a second time. Dahlen was given a base on balls, forcing Schriver home with the first run. Weyhing was then taken out of the box and Taylor substituted. Wilmot immediately made a hit, scoring Hutchison, and Anson made another, sending Ryan and Dahlen home. Lange went out on a fly and then Anson started to steal second. Clements threw down and drew Wilmot off third. Hallman, by a good throw back to Clements, caught Wilmot at the plate. He spiked the big catcher's hand as he slid, though not seriously. The visitors did nothing more until the eighth, when Taylor eased up and Griffith and Irwin cracked out doubles. Parrott went out, but Schriver hit safely, as did Ryan after Hutchison had been retired, three runs being the result.

In the third the Phillies got three on Delahanty's three bagger, Hallman's single, a base on balls, and Taylor's single. They got three more in the eighth on singles by Boyle, Delahanty, and Taylor, doubles by Hallman and Cross and a very bad throw by Hutchison to catch a runner off first. Allen's double, which should have been an easy out to Griffith, Irwin's fumble, and Boyle's and Turner's singles gave Philadelphia two more runs in the ninth. The score:

NORTHWESTERN DEFEATS OBERLIN.

Both Had Clean Records and a Hot Game Was the Result.

Oberlin College met defeat on the ball field at the hands of Kedzie's team at Evanston yesterday afternoon. The Oberlins had a record of nine straight games and Northwestern a record of ten. Kedzie's men landed on Voorhees hard in the first and sixth innings. Griffith was very wild, but managed to keep the hits and bases on balls well scattered, being effective with men on bases. In the second inning, with three men on bases and two men out, a line drive knocked Bass flat on his back, but as he lay on the ground he held up his hand with the ball. It saved three runs. RUN FROM PESTHOUSE WITH SICK BABY.

A woman carrying a baby suffering from smallpox is at large. A 6-months-old baby was suffering from smallpox at Paulina and Eighteenth streets. It was the only child of Mrs. Annie Dunski. The mother and two men accompanied the babe in the ambulance to the pesthouse. There the mother, who was carrying the baby, became frightened and began to scream. She declared she would not leave her baby and ran out of the door. The health officials endeavored to persuade her to remain there with the baby, but she refused, and called upon her male relatives to assist her when the health officials attempted by force to take her into the hospital again. The two men pushed the doctors away and started on a run toward the city, each of the men assisting the woman by the arms. The health officials did not pursue them, but notified the police at the Lawndale station. The party was last seen going east on Forty-second street, but up to an early hour this morning had not been arrested by the police. The doctors say the child was suffering severely with smallpox. The exposure and the night air, they believe, will cause its death.

INSURANCE AFFAIRS.

COMPANIES EXEMPT FROM LOSS GROWING OUT OF RIOTS.

Strict Construction of Clause in Certain Company Policies May Prove Serious to Holders—Guardian Showed Unnecessary Timidity in Withdrawing—Received $12,000,000 in Premiums and Paid Out Only $6,000,000—Final Meeting of Committee of Fourteen.

A number of insurance men are discussing in a quiet way the force of the clause in the Standard New York policy, which reads as follows: "This company shall not be liable for loss caused directly or indirectly by invasion, insurrection, riot, civil war, or commotion." The discussion is as to the construction which would be placed on this clause in case of losses which might arise as an indirect result of the coal miners' strike in its various forms. The situation in a number of places, notably Des Moines, Peoria, and Columbus, O., has become quite serious. The water works, gas plants, and electric light plants will have to be shut down, and the physical hazard of these places is not only greatly increased, but the facilities for checking possible fires are practically cut off. A number of insurance men take the extreme ground that in cases of losses their companies could not be held for indemnity and that their relief is in the clause of the insurance contract referred to. They claim that any loss which might result under the conditions which now exist at Des Moines would be at least an indirect result of riot. Others, however, take the ground that the opinion expressed is altogether too radical, and that such a liberal construction cannot be placed on the clause.

GUARDIAN'S ACTION CRITICISED.

Local Underwriter Thinks It Showed Unnecessary Timidity in Leaving America.

A Chicago underwriter of wide experience, while regretting the departure from this country of such a company as the Guardian of London, does not look upon its action as in any sense alarming or significant. "The move," he says, "displays a degree of timidity highly discreditable to the English company. According to the sworn statement of the Guardian company the total premiums received from the commencement of business in the United States up to Jan. 1, 1894, were $12,166,213, while the losses during the same period were $6,527,151, or only a fraction over 50 per cent of the premiums. The Guardian has, however, always pursued a peculiar course in the management of its agency affairs, and the opportunity of securing a handsome bonus from the companies which have just assumed its United States liabilities no doubt appeared to it more attractive than the gradual profit which could reasonably have been expected from a continued cultivation of its American business. I should not be at all surprised to see the Guardian return to this country within a few years, especially if a broadgauge and popular underwriter should chance to occupy the manager's chair at the head office."

Will Hold Final Meeting Tomorrow.

The final meeting of the local board committee of fourteen will be held tomorrow afternoon. The new constitution will be presented at that meeting in its present form with the amendments which have been agreed on. It is possible that a general meeting of agents and managers will be reached by Friday. A number of members of the committee expressed themselves as more than satisfied with the progress made yesterday and said all matters were practically settled so far as the committee is concerned.

New York Life Agents Meet in St. Paul.

ST. PAUL, Minn., May 29.—[Special.]—Fifty of the Northwestern agents of the New York Life Insurance company attended a meeting of the company agents here today. They dined with George W. Perkins of Chicago, Third Vice-President of the company, at Hotel Ryan. The meeting was held for the discussion of business for the coming year.

Insurance Men Charged with Conspiracy.

SPOKANE, Wash., May 29.—The grand jury has returned indictments against James Hopkins, Manager; J. D. Flynn, Secretary; G. D. Sutton and Paul Beckmeyer, directors of the Washington Fire Insurance company, charging them with conspiracy. Flynn is not here, but the others were arrested today and released on bail.

General Insurance Notes.

E. B. Clarke, assistant United States manager of the Phœnix of London, was in the city yesterday.

It is said N. W. Meserole, the Western department manager of the Guardian, will return to New York.

The Baltic Fire Insurance company of Riga, founded in 1881, has gone into liquidation in consequence of heavy losses.

The report that Manager Valentine of the Northern of London is on his way to this country is denied by the people who are in a position to know.

H. E. Bowers, the new United States manager of the North British and Mercantile Insurance company, is expected to be in Chicago in a few days.

John Wallace, agency manager of the Guardian for the Eastern and middle department, will go with the New York Underwriters' agency in a similar position.

The local board met yesterday afternoon and approved the report of the special committee which has been considering the requests of Stock-Yards people for permits to use crude oil as fuel temporarily.

LIVERY FIRE IN GALESBURG.

Twenty-one Horses Burned—Six Business Houses Destroyed in Lisbon, Ia.

GALESBURG, Ill., May 29.—The livery stable of R. J. Roberts was destroyed by fire today. There was not time to save the stock, and twenty-one horses perished. The building was owned by Bates, Judy & Swigert. Loss, $18,000; insurance, $7,100, in the North British, Springfield, and Transatlantic.

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., May 29.—Fire destroyed six mercantile establishments in the Town of Lisbon. Boney & Wetzel, dry goods; A. & G. Rundell, hardware and agricultural implements; Stucklager & Ruracher's banking-house were among the losers. Loss, $31,000; insurance, $18,000.

ST. PAUL, Minn., May 29.—The old corral at Fort Snelling was destroyed by fire this afternoon. It was built in 1880, but for the last ten years has been used as a storehouse. A valuable rapid-fire gun and other munitions were taken out. The loss will be $10,000.

CLAIMS TO HAVE PULLMAN BLACK-LIST.

Chairman Heathcote's Evidence in Support of Statements Made by Strikers.

George M. Pullman and Vice-President Wickes of the Pullman company have denied the existence of a black-list in their shops, as claimed by the men. Yesterday afternoon Chairman Heathcote came into possession of what he claims to be the original black-list, which was distributed among the foremen shortly after the steam-fitters' strike of last fall. It is dated Dec. 23, 1893, and is addressed to all foremen. It is as follows:

In connection with the recent trouble we have had with steamfitters, both in the construction and repair departments, I give below the names of the men who have left our employ, and I hereby instruct that none of these men be employed in these works.

H. MIDDLETON, Manager.

The list contains the badge number and names of twenty-three men in the construction department and eighteen in the repair department.

SAUL ALSO AMONG THE PROPHETS.

Ald. Coughlin of the First Ward Training with Chicago's Social Reformers.

Ald. Coughlin of the First Ward has been invited to join hands with the Society for the Prevention of Crime and the Anti-Opium Society in the battle against opium joints. He yesterday assured delegations from these organizations that he was with them to the bitter end.

TO RENEW THEIR FIGHT FOR MILLIONS.

De Haven Heirs Decide to Push Their Revolutionary War Claim.

The heirs of Jacob De Haven, who lent the government $450,000 during the Revolutionary War, met yesterday in this city and determined to prosecute their claim for that amount with interest. The total sum claimed is variously computed at $2,500,000 and $230,000,000.

BECOMES MRS. PERCEY LE ROY FEARN.

Miss Eva Onderdonk and Percey Le Roy Fearn were married yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the residence of the bride's parents, No. 188 Pine street. The wedding ceremony was celebrated in the presence of the family and a few friends and it was followed by a reception attended by many of the best known society people in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Onderdonk's house was beautifully decorated with asparagus ferns, fastened with clusters of marguerites, roses, palms, and a profusion of sweet flowers. Behind a screen of foliage a stringed orchestra saluted the bridal party as it appeared on the stairway with the Lohengrin march. The bride wore a gown of heavy white satin en train, made à la Bernhardt, cut high in the neck, trimmed with point lace, and confined at the waist by a pearl girdle. The tulle veil was thrown back and she carried a bouquet of Marguerites. She was attended by her 5-year-old sister, Gladys Onderdonk, and Miss Alice Laidlaw. The latter, attired in pink silk, trimmed with white, carried a bunch of sweet peas. The little girl was the maid of honor. She was dressed in pink silk, with an overdress of white, wore a large hat, and carried a basket of flowers.

The groom, attended by his best man, William R. Farquhar, met the bride, and the young couple took their position in front of the flower-festooned window of the drawing-room and the simple marriage service was performed by the Rev. Floyd W. Tomkins. The only member of Mr. Fearn's family present was his sister, Mrs. Seth Burton French of Washington. Others, aside from the bride's parents, who witnessed the ceremony were:

Messrs. and Mesdames—
George Willits, H. Howard,
M. Cummings, Franklin MacVeagh,
James R. McKay, A. W. Goodrich,
Charles Barnes, Edmund Burke,
Hosmer, Sidney Williams,
Nelson A. Miles.
Messrs.—
W. H. Onderdonk, J. L. Onderdonk.

A collation was served in the dining-room, the table in which was gay with peonies and lilies of the valley. Mr. and Mrs. Fearn greeted their friends in the reception which followed the ceremony from 4 till 6 o'clock and then departed upon a wedding tour.

Percy Le Roy Fearn is a son of Walker Fearn, ex-Foreign Commissioner of the World's Fair and now a member of the international tribunal at Cairo, Egypt. Mr. and Mrs. Fearn will reside in Chicago and will be at home Wednesdays after July 1 at No. 354 Huron street.

ARRESTED FOR STEALING FLOWERS.

A Young Boy Given in Charge of a Policeman, But Is Released.

An affecting incident occurred in the northern limits of the city yesterday afternoon. A boy 11 years of age was walking up Evanston avenue, having in his hand a large bunch of exceedingly fine flowers. They were not wrapped in tissue paper and had not in the least the appearance of having come from the establishment of a florist. They showed very plainly that they had been cut hastily, and recently as well, from a garden or conservatory.

"Where did you get those flowers?" he demanded, grabbing the lad by the shoulder.

"A lady gave them to me," said the boy attempting to break away from the man's hold, but failing.

"O, course she did; I expect you are just the chap I have been looking for; this ain't the first time you have had some of those roses, I reckon; you stole them."

The lad began protesting, but the man would not heed him. He yanked him along until they met a policeman. "Here, officer," said he, "I have caught one of my flower thieves, any way; this is the third time in two weeks now that my hothouse has been robbed. You see, I can't be fooled on them roses; I'd know 'em anywhere and I found this young scamp with this lot scooting up north with them; I want you to arrest him."

The officer was a good-natured fellow and he began asking the boy questions. The answers were at least so satisfactory that the policeman took the boy to the place where he said he had got them. Just as they came in sight of the house they met the red-whiskered gardener and a young lady coming toward them. The gardener looked very sheepish and the young lady appeared very much excited.

"O," she said, "I am so glad you came here, officer; that boy did not steal those flowers; I gave them to him to put on his father's grave; I was out riding on my bicycle and met with an accident and this little man helped me home as gallant as could be. I offered to pay him, but he would not take any money. He said he would like a few flowers as tomorrow would be Decoration day and he wanted to put some on his father's grave. The boy is all right and he can have all the flowers he wants."

This is but a brief record of what the young lady said, but as a result the boy, once more free, went on his way. In all the events which have transpired in preparation for or in the actual celebration of Decoration day nothing has probably occurred more interesting than the above incident.

Decoration day is now a great event in this country. In speaking of it in the American revisions and additions of the Encyclopedia Britannica now being offered its patrons by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE the Encyclopedia itself says of the day:

"Decoration day, formerly called Memorial day, is the day set apart in the United States for commemorating the services of the soldiers and sailors who lost their lives in the civil war. Orations and processions are made in their honor and their graves visited and decorated. It is observed by North and South alike and in most of the States of the Union on the same day—May 30."

There are many important holidays observed in this country of which the people know but very little. The Encyclopedia Britannica does not fail to give full and complete information upon these as upon all other subjects. With this work at hand no one need be without any amount of information upon any subject. THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE is doing a grand work in putting this valuable library before the public at so low a price. To fully appreciate all the benefits to be derived from THE TRIBUNE'S offer devote a few moments today and call at our reading-room, No. 109 Adams street, just opposite Postoffice, and satisfy yourself that we are offering you the opportunity of a life time.

TO PASS ON JENKINS.

NORTHERN PACIFIC DECISION IS TO BE REVIEWED.

United States Court of Appeals Convenes in This City Tomorrow, at Which Time the Refusal of the Circuit Judge to Dissolve His Famous Strike Order Will Come Up—Associate Justice Harlan of the Supreme Court to Preside—Record of the Various Courts.

The United States Court of Appeals will meet Thursday morning at 10 o'clock in the new court room in the Monadnock Building. Justice Harlan of the United States Supreme Court will preside and the Judges who will sit with him will be Woods and Grosscup. One of the cases which will come up for a hearing will be the appeal of the Northern Pacific employes against the decision of Judge Jenkins in refusing to dissolve his famous injunction preventing the men from going on a strike. It is probable that nothing more will be done in the case Thursday than to appoint a day for the arguments.

Finding in Spoor Mackey Case.

Judge Blanke yesterday entered a finding for the defendants in the suit of Henry Sharon against Spoor Mackey for commissions on a real estate deal. Mr. Mackey, the defendant, is a nephew of Potter Palmer. The plaintiff claimed that he negotiated the sale of the leasehold of the premises Nos. 111, 113, and 115 Wabash avenue for Mr. Mackey to L. Mandel in August, 1890. The property was to be sold, according to the compact between the parties, for $125,000, but the evidence showed that Mr. Mackey eventually closed the deal himself for $102,500, and the court found that because of this Mr. Mackey was not liable to pay the sum of $5,000 which it was agreed should be paid to Mr. Sharon if the property was sold for $125,000.

Given a Verdict Against Pardridge.

Max Morganthau received a verdict of $7,500 in Judge Burke's court yesterday in his trespass suit against Edwin Pardridge. The plaintiff occupied for some years a portion in Pardridge's store, with leather goods and jewelry. Aug. 2, 1890, Pardridge sold his store to Fish, Joseph & Co., and when he did this the evidence showed he instructed his manager to move the plaintiff out of the store. This was done and the damage resulting, the plaintiff claimed, was $15,000.

OUR UNDESIRABLE IMMIGRANTS.

The Irruption of Criminals and Paupers—What Should Be Done.

New Orleans Picayune (Dem.): This country, with its free institutions and government of the people, by the people, is no more free from the irruptions of Anarchists and the inroads of socialism than are the old monarchies of Europe. The reason is that European countries have, to a large extent, been able to deport their pauper and criminal classes to America. Those that were not sent with government funds have escaped from custody, or have fled from pursuit, and, save in a very few cases, there is no desire to extradite or reclaim them for punishment, the mother countries being glad to get rid of them and only solicitous that they do not return.

The only conditions under which immigrants can be excluded from the country are that they are known to be criminals, or that they are obviously paupers, or are helplessly afflicted with insanity, idiocy, or loathsome diseases. But no means exist for detecting criminals, and poverty or other helplessness must be so plain that the fact obtrudes itself upon the attention of the government officials who are suppose to supervise the admission of immigrants. The result of this lack of regulation is that it is but seldom that an immigrant is rejected, and hence great numbers of the worst classes are constantly admitted into this country.

The consequence of all this is that not merely is the labor system of the country almost entirely unsettled, but the murder and plunder societies of Europe are fully organized and in operation here, as the people of New Orleans know to their cost. No action that Congress could take would undo the evils already in existence; but it is not too late to accomplish something for the future. To this end there is a bill, which has been favorably reported by the Judiciary committee of the House, which provides that, in addition to present requirements of law, the immigrant is compelled to secure from the Consul or other representative of the United States nearest the immigrant's last place of residence a certificate showing that the representative has made an investigation concerning the immigrant and that he is not one of those excluded from this country under its present laws or any law that may be enacted.

In support of this measure it has been shown that by the last census the percentage of persons born in foreign countries is 15 per cent, and yet this census shows that 26 per cent of the white prisoners confined in jails and simple prisons are persons of foreign birth, and a large proportion of the remainder are their offspring. The total number of white convicts in our penitentiaries whose birthplace is known is 28,440, composed of 13,715 native born and 14,725 foreign born, showing that more than one-half of all our white convicts are of foreign birth.

When it comes to the dependent classes, it is seen from the census that the benevolent institutions of the country in 1890 contained 69,962 inmates, of which the foreign born comprised 24 per cent. The total number of the white inmates of our poorhouses is 53,696, of which number 27,648, or a little over 51 per cent, were born in foreign countries [and most of the remainder were probably their offspring]. These statistics show that, with a foreign population of 15 per cent, more than half our white penitentiary convicts and more than half of the white inmates of our poorhouses are foreigners, and a large part of the remainder their children, and prove that, of the immigration to this country during the last few years, too many of the immigrants are deficient in morals and are incapable physically of self-support.

It is plain that some remedy for these evils in the future is absolutely necessary. The measure proposed strikes at no nationality or race, but only at those classes of criminals and paupers who are unloaded upon this country by governments, cities, and social organizations in the Old World.

GEN. MILES' TUMBLE.

BLAKELY'S JUMPER FALLS WHILE WINNING AT HAWTHORNE.

The Despised Bellringer, Without Backing, Lands the Money—Rudolph in His First Essay Runs a Good Race Behind William T.—Tom Griffin, Pretender, Gold-Dust, and Babe Murphy Capture the Other Races—The Latter's Victory Gives Form a Rude Shock.

The great Rudolph, who is not quite himself, yet looks well, was put into a sprinting race at Hawthorne yesterday afternoon. It was to key him up for the valuable Annual Stakes to be run today. Rudolph was the medium of a plunge. B. J. Johnson, careful and correct about racehorses, thought he could run the five furlongs better than 1:03, and his friends bet on Rudolph. The public followed, and from 20 to 1 his odds fell to 5 to 1. It was the fifth race at five furlongs and May & Hall's fast colt, William T., was the natural favorite. He was backed from 2½ to 8 to 5. May Thompson was also well supported.

Gen. Miles' Costly Tumble.

The jumping race, nine furlongs, over hurdles, which closed the racing, saw a false result. Tom Ryan's delusive Bellringer, unbacked and at a long price, won from Templemore and Gazette. Gen. Miles, rated along fourth and took the lead coming to the stretch jump. Hoyt took Blakely's horse eagerly to the hurdle and he fell. Hoyt had a nasty fall among the horses but escaped. Had Miles got over the hurdle he could not have lost. He carried what money his party bet. Panhandle ran a nasty looking race and Lithbert none too eyeable a one.

There was a form shock in the first event, four and a half furlongs, for 2-year-olds, which Louis Ezell's Elias Lawrence—Princess Glenn filly, Babe Murphy, won rather handily. Ed Corrigan's Lillian C. was the natural favorite. Cut off after getting away none too well she was fourth, Coria and Katie B. both beating her. Louis Ezell and his party punished the ring and it howled. So did the public. Both had reason, but both were more unlucky than Ezell. He is none too good, and hurts the ring so often that it both hates and fears him.

Babe Murphy should not have won. With clear sailing Lillian C. can always beat her. The last time the pair met was in the Lassie Stakes, each with 115 pounds up, and Lillian C. beat the Elias Lawrence filly nearly twenty lengths. Yesterday Babe Murphy had off ten and Lillian C. four pounds.

Tom Griffin, who figured well, won the second race, five furlongs, as he chose in 1:03½, from Jack Wilson and Rosamond. Incorrectly, Griffin's odds rose from 3 to 8 to 1. He ran better than in his last two races.

Pat Corrigan's Pretender, always well backed, but not as well as the Longfellow colt Tonganoxie, favored by ring and talent, won the third race, one mile, selling, right handily from Ragner, who beat Fancy in a drive. Fancy, out of her distance, was heavily backed by her owner, W. P. Magrane. Tonganoxie ran badly.

There was a lot of speed in the fourth race, five furlongs, with Amelia May and Gold Dust dividing favoritism at about 2½ to 1. Gold Dust came fast at the end and won from Amelia May, with Ethel third.

Then came Rudolph's defeat and Gen. Miles' costly tumble.

The ring of twenty books got rather the worst of the day's play, even though William T. (Clerico), 8 to 5, was the only winning favorite. The other winners and their jockeys and prices were: Babe Murphy (Carr), 2½ to 1; Tom Griffin (H. Davis), 8 to 1; Pretender (F. Carr), 2½ to 1; Gold Dust (McCue), 2½ to 1; and Bellringer (Murphy), 12 to 1. Carr showed some of his old form during the afternoon.

THE FRIAR IS BEING BACKED.

Another of Marcus Daly's Colts Bet On for the American Derby.

One of Marcus Daly's American Derby colts, and a royally bred English one at that, The Friar, by Ayrshire—La Trappe, may be one of the "dark" ones in the American Derby. He has been backed from 100 to 50 to 1 in the O'Neill-Eckert book during the last week, one bet of $100 against $10,000 coming from the East.

Then some other big bets have been registered in the last few days. Here they are:

$6,000 against $500, Lucky Dog.
$3,000 against $100, Ohi. Belle.
$2,500 against $100, Peter the Great.
$2,000 against $200, Senator Grady.

Prices have been cut on several candidates. Senator Grady, falling from 10 to 6, and Domino from 8 to 6, still divide favoritism. Gateway's price has fallen from 200 to 100, Lucky Dog's from 12 to 10, Ohio Belle's from 30 to 10, under Barney Schrieber's bet of $100 against $3,000, and Dobbins' from 10 to 8.

CORRIGAN IS A GOOD FIGHTER.

Orlando Jones Forgot Himself in Watching Him—Grannan's Luck.

NEW YORK, May 29.—[Special.]—Messrs. Edward Corrigan and James Howard took up their return to Chicago today, well satisfied with their Eastern trip and six hour seance with the Jockey club.

Orlando Jones, who was in attendance upon Monday night's meeting, when asked today how his Virginia racing venture had fared with the club, said: "I really don't know. I got so interested in the fight Ed Corrigan was making as to lose track of my interests. Corrigan is a fighter from way back. He swept the conference and got everything he asked for and more too."

Riley Grannan had another good race today. It was the second. He put $2,000 on Libertine at an average price of 8 to 1 and bumped Cactus and the big field to the extent of $7,000 on the sheets. He also won $5,000 on the Gotham race.

Little Pirate, a 3-year-old chestnut colt by Pirate of Penzance, dam Misfortune, owned by the Oneck Stable, fell on the back stretch in the second race and broke a leg. A pistol bullet put him out of his misery. He was valued at $2,500.

Amounts won by some of the principal stables at the Gravesend meeting are: Gideon & Daly, $23,375; Fred Foster, $21,490; R. Croker, $12,350; the Morris family, $11,715; J. Ruppert, $10,490; M. F. Dwyer, $9,980; the Keenes, $8,580; E. C. Headley, $8,300; Byron McClelland, $7,805; and Gus Strauss, $5,105.

Corrigan and Howard in Chicago.

Ed Corrigan and Secretary James Howard of the Washington Park club will be in Chicago this morning. They have practically accomplished what they sought. Mr. Howard yesterday wired Assistant Secretary Kelsey from New York as follows: "The statement is published in all papers here that Washington Park and Hawthorne applied to the Jockey club for a license. If such statement has been made by any Chicago paper please correct it. We made no such application. Neither had we any intention of so doing. All other points asked for by us and Saratoga were, however, conceded."

The Local Division of Racing Dates.

George Hankins in talking yesterday over the apparent difference between the organization of which he is the head and which will operate the new Maywood track, said: "First, Mr. Corrigan and I talked of dividing dates after Washington Park in fifteen-day stretches and to decide the first choice by lot. That is still my plan. But later Mr. Corrigan thought it would be best to alternate days, and I guess I shall accede to his wishes."

The chances are, therefore, that the Hawthorne program announcement of the summer meeting opening July 23 is correct.

Jockey Club's Official Announcement.

NEW YORK, May 29.—It was announced today in the headquarters of the Jockey club that it is more than probable that an amicable agreement will be arrived at between the American Turf Congress and the Washington Park and Hawthorne Racing Associations of Chicago. Washington Park and Hawthorne have long shown their willingness to join the Jockey club, but objected to having to apply to the Western Turf Congress, which is the same as the American Turf Congress, for their license, because of some trouble they had previously had with that organization.

Charged with Poisoning His Wife.

BENZONIA, Mich., May 29.—W. H. Thacker, prominent in religious and political circles in this county, was arrested on the charge of poisoning his wife, who died suddenly May 6. His examination is set for Friday.

JOHN COOPER'S GIFT.

THE LIGHTLY-WEIGHTED COLT WINS THE FORT HAMILTON.

Only He and Henry of Navarre Were Left to Fight It Out and Weight Told at the End—Gotham Retrieves His Great American Defeat and Lands the Tremont Stakes in a Gallop—Pickpocket, Libertine, Daric, and Sir Walter Take the Other Brooklyn Races.

NEW YORK, May 29.—[Special.]—Favorites got home first in two of the six events that closed the spring meeting of the Brooklyn Jockey club. The track was fast and a big crowd witnessed the slaughter of first choices. The feature of the day was the Fort Hamilton Handicap for 3-year-olds, at nine furlongs. All the eleven on the card went to the post, each and every owner thinking he had a chance for the $10,000 prize. Dobbins carried a bale of Dwyer and Croker greenbacks. Opening at 2½ to 1, he was backed down to 8 to 5. Henry of Navarre was second in demand, and Dorian and Hornpipe were well supported. Potentate, Aurelian, Peacemaker, St. Maxim, and Ornus rated above John Cooper and Lochinvar in the public estimation. The field left the paddock with 40 to 1 on sixty slates about John Cooper. Starter Rowe was in one of his drowsy moods, and before he flashed his flag, Ike Thompson had succeeded in getting in a few John Cooper dollars at 50 to 1. Getting well away, Patsy McDermott and John Cooper flocked with the leaders, Dorian, Aurelian, Dobbins, and Henry of Navarre, in turn till well into the stretch. At the betting ring he had all beaten except the McClelland colt that ran second to Dr. Rice in the Brooklyn, and Don Alonzo in the Standard stakes. The pair ran like a team for almost a sixteenth of a mile before the lightly-weighted John Cooper began drawing away from his opponent. Henry of Navarre was game and did his utmost, Doggett sparing him the humiliation of the lash.

He was beaten, however, fifty yards from the wire, and McDermott was content with a three-quarter length victory, which he could easily have increased a length. Hornpipe and Peacemaker fought out third place money honor, the former securing the same by a head. John Cooper's victory was not a popular one. His performances have been so poor since coming East that not one person in a thousand gave him a thought. Henry of Navarre and Hornpipe ran up to form, but Dobbins sagged off a bit. He is too delicate for a campaigner.

In the Tremont Stakes, the first time this year that Eastern 2-year-olds have been called upon to go six furlongs, Gotham made amends for his race last Saturday in the Great American. Waltzer was a firm favorite at 13 to 10, while 13 to 5 was Gotham's ruling price, despite the fact that "Snapper" Garrison had the mount. Utica was second choice, and Sir Galahad. Mirage, and Glad completed the field. Garrison's orders were to rate along behind the leaders to the last furlong. He followed the same pretty well. Lying in fourth and fifth positions to the stretch, with Waltzer galloping on the lead, the Snapper let out a link on Gotham. The latter sped by Waltzer, Utica, and Sir Galahad as though they were platers and won in a canter by four lengths from the favorite, who was a couple of lengths before Sir Galahad, third, in the crisp time, weight considered, of 1:15¾. Gotham's race today shows that he is not partial to sticky going. Pickpocket had an easy victory in the first race and Libertine won the second, as he pleased, defeating Shelly Tuttle, Hoey, and a big field of sprinters. Daric defeated the Sabrina colt in the fifth, and Sir Walter had a picnic beating Sir Excess and some common cattle in the sixth.

HIGHLAND SURPRISES THEM.

The Mare Wakes Up at St. Louis and Wins a Fine Race.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 29.—[Special.]—Today's fair grounds races were full of surprises. But two favorites, one an indifferent one, got through, and two odds-on choices were knocked down. The greatest surprise of the day came in the third race at eight and one-half furlongs. Maid Marian was held at 3 to 5, with Wekota next in favor at 4 to 1. Julien was backed from 5 to 1 to 3. Highland, on her recent poor races, was unbacked except by her party, who played her heavily at prices ranging from 10 to 20 to 1. She lay in second place to the favorite until half way down the stretch when, stalling off Wekota's rush, she won with a little to spare by a head. The remarkable improvement in the mare's form caused considerable comment. Wekota's race stamped him about the best 3-year-old here, as he was lumps of weight to everything in the race. Nonsense, Artie Fern, and Lockport each won easily by two lengths, while Madeline and Dago were forced to a drive to win their races by a length. The summary:

First race, maidens, purse $400, six furlongs—Nonsense, 90 pounds (W. Flynn), 7 to 2, won; Blake, 85¼ (L. McDonald), 3 to 1, second; Williston, 99¼ (C. McDonald), 7 to 1, third. Time, 1:17. Billy McKenzie, 94¼ (Ham), 5 to 1; Little Frank, 93 (Harold), 30 to 1; Wanita, 83 (Garner), 10 to 1; Bob Neville, 102 (Lilly), 40 to 1; Clara Bell, 102 (J. Wallace), 10 to 1; Mique O'Brien, 95 (Perry), 15 to 1; D. J. O'C., 88 (J. Donnelly), 12 to 1; Harry Lyman, 102 (Blair), 30 to 1; Jude, 104 (Davis), 40 to 1, and Ben Hill, 109 (Connolly), 40 to 1, ran unplaced.

Second race, purse $400, selling, one and one-eighth miles—Lockport, 108 (Chamness), 6 to 1, won; Old Pepper, 101 (Ham), 4 to 5, second; Vida, 92 (Garner), 6 to 1, third. Time, 1:58¾. Vanzant, 101 (W. Flynn), 12 to 1; Southern Lady, 97 (F. Jackson), 30 to 1; Marina, 101 (Mosby), 6 to 1; Echo, 106 (J. Smith), 12 to 1; Orrick, 106 (Hart), 30 to 1; Senotor O'Brien, 99¼ (C. McDonald), 30 to 1; Bement, 101 (Harold), 100 to 1; Mary Sue, 103½ (Sanford), 15 to 1; and Pearl Moon, 101 (Cole), 30 to 1, ran unplaced.

Third race, 2-year-olds, selling, purse $400, five furlongs—Madeline, 103 pounds (Garner), 5 to 1, won; Black Tiger, 103 (Mosby), 5 to 1, second; Dora Wood, 110 (Gorman), 5 to 1, third. Time, 1:04.

Fourth race, purse $600, one and one-sixteenth miles—Highland, 103 pounds (Lilly), 20 to 1, won; Wekota, 106 (Garner), 4 to 1, second; Maid Marian, 105 (Mosby), 3 to 5, third. Time, 1:49. Lady Pulsifer, 103 (Wallace), 3 to 1; Julien, 103 (J. Smith), 3 to 1; Satinet, 83 (Gutiers), 100 to 1; Atarman, 104 (Hedley); Press Connolly, 99 (Harold), 200 to 1; Pearl N., 104¼ (Mayberry), 200 to 1; West Park, 94 (Duffy), 50 to 1; and Spoon, 104 (C. McDonald), 200 to 1, ran unplaced.

Fifth race, purse $400, six furlongs—Artie Fern, 102 pounds (R. Jones), 30 to 1, won; Starling, 107 (W. Flynn), 6 to 1, second; Mrs. Bradshaw, 102 (Garner), 15 to 1, third. Time, 1:16¾. Lagartia, 114 (Carroll), 6 to 1; Clara Bauer, 106¾ (Tucker), 6 to 5; Lorinda, 102 (Mosby), 10 to 1; Haroldine, 102 (Harold), 20 to 1; Fiction, 102 (C. Notes of the Turf.

City Collector Brandecker yesterday issued the license to Washington Park for its coming race meeting. It covers from June 21 to July 21.

Highland's St. Louis defeat was explained by Dr. Crowley, who advised Owner Wheeler to let up on her because of a bad leg. Her win yesterday was as unsavory as her defeat.

Charley Carmichael's good colt Cash Day will be here in a day or two, and is a nearly certain starter in the Chicago Derby. Cash Day is said to be twenty pounds better than Pearl Song, to whom he had to be pulled in his Louisville and Latonia work.

KITTY CLIVE'S STAKE.

How the Lexington Crowd Lost Its Cash on "Hops" Laudeman's Katherine—Rey el Santa Anita Wins the Handicap but Has a Narrow Escape—The Ring Scorched Over Jadey Anna—Flora Thornton, Ellsworth, and Colleen Win the Other Latonia Events.

CINCINNATI, O., May 29.—[Special.]—The card at Latonia today was a mixture of good and bad, but, as the former predominated and as spirited contests resulted, the large crowd in attendance found the afternoon's racing to its liking. Form players were in clover, as three of the winners were favorites, and one of the others, Ellsworth in the fifth, should have been on his only previous start. The other winners were well backed and the ring suffered accordingly. The feature of the card was the Clipsetta Stakes for 2-year-old fillies, with only five starters out of more than a hundred nominations. Among the starters was "Hops" Laudeman's much touted filly Katherine by Macduff—The Crow, one of several that Lexingtonians had on the list to beat Handspun whenever they happened to meet. A number of those informed as to her merits came down from Lexington to see her walk away with today's stake. The pencilers evidently knew of Katherine's speed, and made her practically an equal favorite with Kitty Clive, who on performance should have been at odds on. Out of four previous starts Kitty had been beaten only once and then by Handspun and Lollie Eastin, when they made their dead heat. The Lexington delegation played Katherine as though she could not lose, while form players pinned their faith to McDowell's filly. Pleasantry got much the best of an otherwise good start and made the running, with Katherine in second place, to the sixteenth pole, when Kitty Clive, gamely standing a drive all down the straight, got her head in front and, drawing out, won by a good length, Katherine just managing to beat La Fiesta for the place. The stake was worth $2,460. The winner is also a Macduff filly, her dam being Billy Lakeland's once speedy mare Peg Woffington. Barring Handspun, she is probably the best of her age and sex that has yet shown in the West.

The handicap furnished about the prettiest finish ever seen at Latonia, the three placed horses all but making a dead heat of it. Many thought that Sigurd won, but the judges hung out the number of Rey El Santa Anita, the heavily-backed favorite. With good riding Baldwin's horse would have won by a length or more, Van Kuerin laying out of the race with the favorite too long and making his run on the last turn. Halloway and his friends put a crimp into the bookies' rolls with Anna, backing her from 7 to 5 down to 4 to 5. She won a fast race easily.

OAKLEY TRACK TO BE REOPENED.

Cincinnati Jockey Club Will Rebuild Stands and Ask a License.

CINCINNATI, O., May 29.—[Special.]—The Jockey club, whose stands at Oakley were destroyed by fire last summer, is to be reorganized and once more invade the field of racing. The club expects to make application for membership in the American Turf Congress before the expiration of the time limit, June 23. Bids will be opened Thursday for the building of a new grand stand of steel and buff pressed brick. Stable room for 500 horses is contemplated and before the club house, betting shed, and paddock are completed it is estimated that over $50,000 will be expended in improvements. Latonia does not eye the project with favor, but all the Kentucky club's officials are non-committal. Secretary E. C. Hopper of the Turf Congress said: "Of course, I can't say whether or not an application for membership will be granted or rejected, but there is nothing in the rules that would prevent the Cincinnati Jockey club from getting a license."

Cincinnati's millionaire turfman, Charles Fleischmann, is one of the silent backers of the Cincinnati idea, which also has the support of the prominent political powers that be. Last week war was declared on the poolrooms, and they have been closed up, but in the light of future events it can be seen that this was done to give Oakley a free field. Nearly all the horsemen at Latonia are in favor of a meeting at Oakley after the close of the Washington Park races. Eugene Leigh declared to City Treasurer Henry M. Ziegler of the Hawthorne Stable, who is one of the prominent members of the Cincinnati Jockey club: "Hang up your purses, and if you make them big enough I'll bring Clifford there and race him, license or no license."

Fifth race, Violet Handicap, purse $1,000, 3-year-olds and upwards, one and one-eighth miles—St. Michael won; Saragossa, second; Coquette, third. Time, 2:00¾.

De Lacy Will Appeal His Case.

NEW YORK, May 29.—Peter De Lacy's lawyers will enter an appeal against Justice Gaynor's decision in favor of Dwyer in De Lacy's suit against the Brooklyn Jockey club's President.

A new point of law will be raised. The constitutionality of the Sexton amendment to the Ives pool law will be brought into question.

This made it illegal to send money by another person to be bet at a race track. It assumed, however, that betting was legal. De Lacy says the case will be carried on appeal to the higher courts if necessary.

De Lacey's latest move was made today. He met a Commissioner at the track with a wager, and when he placed the same complaint was made against him and a warrant issued by Justice Voorhes. He was charged with being guilty of felony in having violated the Saxton pool law, which makes it a felony to carry a betting commission to a race track. Howe & Hummel believe he will be proven guilty. Thereupon they will set to work to prove the unconstitutionality of the statute. If this can be done the city pool rooms can again be opened.

Fair Prices at Stock-Yards Sale.

Field and Track Events on Berkeley Oval.

NEW YORK, May 29.—The annual field and track meeting of the De La Salle Institute was held at Berkeley Oval today. The scholastic record for the two-mile scratch safety bicycle race was lowered nine seconds by J. A. Powell of Cutler School. The summary:

First heat—J. A. Powell, Cutler School, won; L. Mortimer, Cutler School, second. Time, 2:36 4-5. The winner's time beats the scholastic record by 9 seconds.

Second heat—J. G. Williams, Cutler School, won; W. Fearing, Cutler School, second. Time, 3:01.

Shooting Tournament in Muncie, Ind.

MUNCIE, Ind., May 29.—[Special.]—The first day's shoot of the sixth annual tourney given by the Muncie Gun club occurred today. In several of the matches there was as many as twenty contestants. A clean score was necessary to win nearly every contest. The weather was perfect. The matches were at ten, fifteen, twenty, twenty-five birds and team shoots at fifteen each. The winners of the contests were Charles Proctor of Union City, Davis of Muncie, Thompson of Lafayette, A. Grube of Southport. In the team shoot Long of Lafayette and Thompson won. American shooting rules govern.

Telegraphic Notes of Sport.

MASSILLON, O., May 29.—[Special.]—The checker tournament came to an end today, J. W. Carnes winning first and George Bourne second honors.

PITTSBURG, Pa., May 29.—[Special.]—The Pittsburg club tonight signed John Easton, the right handed pitcher who was with the St. Louis in 1892.

FIVE YALE ATHLETES.

A Picked Team to Be Sent Over to Meet the Oxonians in a Tournament of Eight Games—Capt. Hickok to Head the Men in Blue—If Fit He Thinks That He and His Comrades Have More than a Fair Chance of Winning—Much Depends on the Ocean Voyage.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 29.—[Special.]—It was today assured that a Yale track athletic team would break not only intercollegiate but all American records by going to England and meeting Oxford, the champion English team, on its own grounds. Yale not only took the initiative in arranging the meet but will go under a guarantee of their expenses by Yale men. All the details of the great dual meet for the first international intercollegiate championship ever contested were today decided upon. Only five athletes will compose the Yale team. They will be George F. Sanford of New Haven, sprinter; Joseph E. Morgan of Essex, Conn., mile runner; William O. Hickok of Harrisburg, Pa., Captain of the team and hammer thrower and shot putter; E. H. Cady of Hartford, Conn., hurdler; and Lewis P. Sheldon of Rutland, Vt., high and broad jumper.

According to the English custom only first places will count in the championship struggle, and as three of the five Yale competitors will enter every one of the eight events the chances are good for Yale to defeat the Englishmen on their own grounds. A comparison of the records shows that Yale stands the better chance in the mile run, the hammer throw, and the shot put, while the chances are about even in the hurdles and medium distance runs.

Capt. Hickok of Yale said tonight: "The principal trouble we must face is the acclimating of ourselves to our new surroundings. A rough ocean voyage and consequently a couple of men out of condition means that we must lose the tournament."

The date upon which the Yale men will leave is not yet determined, but will not be far from June 15, giving the Americans at least two weeks to get into condition for the meet with the Englishmen.

ROSE POLYTECHNIC THE WINNER.

Its Athletes Get the Most Points, Beating Six Colleges Opposed.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 29.—[Special.]—The intercollegiate field day games of the seven Indiana colleges—De Pauw, Earlham, Purdue, State University, Butler University, Wabash, and Rose Polytechnic—were held at the State Fair grounds here today. Each college sent from fifteen to twenty contestants and a half dozen stake records were smashed. The summary:

100 yard dash—First heat, Tod of Purdue won; time, :10 2-5. Second heat, Buschman of Purdue won, Little of Wabash second; time, :10½. Third heat, Buschman won in :10 3-5.

Mile walk—McCulloch of Rose Polytechnic won; Shaver, second; John, third. Time, 8:07 3-5.

Putting 16-pound shot—Cooper of Purdue won; Roller of Depauw second; Bushman, third. Distance, 39 feet 5 inches.

Running broad jump—Coleman of Earlham won; T. Fry of Wabash second; Hestertor of Earlham third. Distance, 20 feet 1 inch.

Quarter mile safety race—W. J. Klinger of Rose Polytechnic won; P. W. Klinger of Rose Polytechnic, second; Griffith of Purdue, third. Time, :31 4-5.

Pole vault—Ridgely and McMeans of Rose Polytechnic tied for first; Coleman of Earlham, third. Height, 9 feet 10 inches.

Standing broad jump, fifteen entries—Ewry of Purdue won, Leggett of Rose Polytechnic second, Malone of Wabash third. Distance, 10 feet 5¾ inches.

Mile run—Hester of Earlham won; Flannigan of Wabash second, Chandler of Rose Polytechnic third. Time, 5:05.

Two-mile safety race—P. W. Klinger won; W. J. Klinger second; Orme of Butler third. Time, 5:49.

Tennis doubles—Six sets entered; Guy Bender and R. Bender of Butler won.

Tennis singles—Guy Bender of Butler won; Johnston of Purdue second. Score finals: 6—4, 6—2, 5—7, 7—5.

Running hop, step, and jump—Coleman of Earlham won, Warner of Rose Polytechnic second, Allen of Wabash third. Distance, 42 feet.

Running high jump—Haworth of Earlham won, Roberts of Butler second. Height, 5 feet 2 inches.

In the first score Rose Polytechnic shows 82 points and wins the intercollegiate pennant, an honor which she has defended for five years. Purdue stands second with 50 points, Earlham third with 17 points. Butler gets 14 points, Wabash 9, and Depauw 5. The State University failed to get a point.

Western Intercollegiate Games Entries.

The entry list for the Western Intercollegiate championships is closed and it is the largest number of entries ever received in the West for a similar athletic meeting. The games will start at 2 o'clock promptly Saturday afternoon, as there will be so many heats to run in some of the races that it will be necessary to begin early. The different events have the following number of entries: One hundred yards run, 46; 220 yards run, 48; 440 yards run, 41; 880 yards run, 43; 1 mile run, 28; 1 mile walk, 14; 1 mile bicycle race, 41; 120 yards hurdle race, 17; 220 yards hurdle race, 18; running high jump, 22; running broad jump, 31; throwing 16-pound hammer, 22; putting 16-pound shot, 18; pole vault for height, 21. This makes a grand total of 410 entries. There are 217 individual athletes, representing twenty-one different colleges, and they come from Oberlin, O., and Ann Arbor, Mich., on the East to Lawrence, Kas., on the West. There has never been an athletic event which has created the interest among the colleges themselves that this one has.

General Sporting Notes.

Infielder H. H. Haskell has been chosen Captain of the University of Illinois nine.

The Yale athletic team has chosen W. O. Hickok, the giant weight thrower of Harrisburg, Pa., as its Captain.

This afternoon the Garden Citys and the Brands will play a City League game at National League Park, Polk and Lincoln streets.

The decision against colored riders in New York has been reconsidered and they will be allowed in the Irvington-Milburn race today.

"Parson" Davies, for Peter Jackson, has accepted the $15,000 purse offer of the National Sporting club of London, Eng., for the Corbett-Jackson fight.

Jim Hall and Steve O'Donnell have signed articles for a six-round contest for scientific points, to take place at Tattersall's here Saturday, June 16, or Monday, June 18.

The game last night in the fourteen inch balk line tournament was between Slator (75) and Edwards (100). The contest was won by Edwards by a score of 100 to 70. Kenneth (125) and Taylor (150) play tonight.

Schaeffer and Ives are reported to be negotiating for two rooms at Paris, and each will start an academy of his own in the French capital. If the venture is successful they will probably remain in Paris until the winter season sets in, when they will return to America, and after a tour through the principal cities in the United States go back to Paris in time for the billiard season there in 1895.

Young Tom Foley, the son of the ex-champion of Illinois, is rapidly developing into a first-class billiardist. He has just won the Metropolitan Hotel billiard tournament at St. Paul in which some of the best players of that vicinity were participants. During the progress of the contest young Foley broke all previous amateur records in the Northwest with a high run of 75 and an average of 6⅔.

CYCLISTS' GREAT DAY.

BITS OF GOSSIP ABOUT THE GREAT CHICAGO ROAD RACE.

It Starts from the Grant Monument in Lincoln Park at 10 a. m. and Goes North—Where to See It Advantageously—Hard to Pick the Winner — Handicapper's Work Has Been Well Done—Chances of Some of the Men—Only Three to Start from Scratch.

The race will start from the Grant monument in Lincoln Park at 10 o'clock, and after covering a course of eighteen miles will end there about an hour later. The route will carry the wheelmen north through the park to Belmont avenue; west to Evanston avenue; north and northwesterly to Sheffield avenue; north to North Fifty-ninth street; west (one block) to Kenmore avenue; north to Grand avenue; west (three blocks) to Evanston avenue; north and northeasterly past Calvary Cemetery on the east and west and north to Lincoln avenue; west to Chicago avenue; south to Grand avenue; east to Kenmore avenue; south to North Fifty-ninth street; east to Sheffield avenue; south to Evanston avenue; southwesterly and south to Belmont avenue; east to the Lake Shore drive; south and southwesterly to the starting point. The most interesting portion of the route will be the head of Lincoln Park, where that level sweep along the lake shore lies. Any one stationed there will get an excellent view of the race and will see the beginning of the real work, for it is at this point that the speedy men and the men who hope to win will begin to extend themselves in earnest. It will be a much more advantageous location than the monument—that is to those who know the racing men and are well up in the technique of the sport.

CORRECTED ROUTE OF THE CHICAGO ROAD RACE.

Picking the winner of the race is an occupation which bothers the most expert wheelman. The handicapper has done his work so well that even those who are skilled in predictions of this kind set about their prophecies with more caution than usual, for the field is larger than it has ever been in the history of the race and "dark horses" abound. Much easier is it to pick the winners of the time prizes, for the speed and past performances of the men who are likely candidates for these, the principal honors of the race, are known.

The Chicago club has two good men in Cleaver and Fisher, each of whom has a seven minute handicap. If the performances of either or both of these young fellows prove equal to the expectations of their club-mates, one of them may be landed a winner today. Of Cleaver it is said that he has covered the course in fifty-seven minutes. Deduct from this performance his handicap of seven minutes and his chances for winning and for a time prize are good. Fisher, it is reported, has several times in training easily covered the course inside of one hour. This is good work, for it is allowed by even the best of the racing men that if the course is covered under favorable circumstances in fifty-five minutes exceedingly fast time will be made.

The West Side clubmen believe J. D. Wilson, who has a handicap of 6½ minutes, will give a good account of himself. Knisely, another West-Sider, who was early picked to be prominent in the race for the time prizes, will, it is now announced, only pace Fred Nessel for the first five miles, so as to get that young man up to the two-minute men, who will form the speediest and most dangerous brigade of the entire field. Nessel is close to scratch, and it is thought that if he can catch the two-minute men he will stand an excellent show of getting one of the time prizes.

Another man on whom a strong tip is given is Coleman, who comes from Decatur. His immediate circle of friends predict that he will romp away with the race. The North-Siders are disappointed in not having Winship stick to his original resolution and wear the colors of the Lincoln club.

Only Three Scratch Men.

Since Biss will not ride, and since Githens is reserving himself for the track races in the afternoon, the scratch men are reduced to three in number—Lumsden, Barrett, and Winship. It may be said that Lumsden has done no training and is, therefore, not dangerous, but it is not unlikely that he will cut quite a conspicuous figure. Winship has done more training than anybody. It is nervous force which makes good racing men, and of nervous force Winship has but a moderate amount. Barrett is known everywhere as a dare-devil rider. He has had plenty of training and barring accident should be one of the first three men to scre for the time prizes. It is an ambition with Barrett to win the first time prize, an honor he has yet to acquire, although he has before this come near it.

But it is not among the scratch men that one must exclusively stick to pick the winners of the time prizes. Between the scratch men and the men on the three-minute mark lie fifteen or twenty exceedingly speedy chaps, who, if they get an opening, are each or all of them likely to furnish a surprise. There are Steele, Davis, Dacey, Peirronnet, Martin, Nessel, Leonhardt, Fred Nessel, Peck, Ballard, Bainbridge, and a dozen more who might be named. Bainbridge's chances look rosy. Indeed, it is hinted Bainbridge may win the time prize. He has done much good work, and done it quietly. He is the holder of the present ten-mile world's road record.

Bicycle Races at Clinton, Ia.

One mile—Roy Upton won; C. E. Green, second; Sylvester Lowell, third. Time, 3:54.

Two miles—W. J. Wilson, won; Roy Upton, second; Sylvester Lowell, third. Time, 8:24 4-5.

FOOTBALL AND CRICKET TODAY.

Braidwoods and Thistles to Fight It Out—Various Teams at Wickets.

Great interest is being manifested by lovers of association football in the meeting of the Braidwood and Thistle teams today at Thirty-ninth street and Wentworth avenue. They are without question the finest clubs in the West and their previous meetings have always resulted in fine contests.

Today's game will decide the winner of the spring series and should the Braidwood team prove successful they will have to meet the Thistles in the final. Should the Thistles win they will capture the championship and the Jackson Challenge Cup with it. Play will begin at 3:30 o'clock. The teams will be:

Braidwood.	Position.	Thistle.
Barrowman	Goal	Cameron.
J. Cameron, A. Walker, A. Cameron,	Backs	Weir, Aston, McDonald.
Rogers, Littlejohn, A. Young, Duffy,	Half backs	Dewar, Forrest, Young, Lowden.
J. Walker	Right	Wright.
Young	Center	Richards.

Referee—T. H. Kelly.

At Parkside the Albion and Chicago Cricket clubs will play their postponed game in the championship pennant competition. The sides as announced are:

Chicagos—E. Russell, Captain; C. P. Ogden, W. Ruxton, A. E. Smith, W. Coen, S. Coen, G. Coen, J. Rogers, F. Wild, H. Morrison, and W. E. Rooker or B. F. Jenkins.

Albions—J. P. Jaffray, H. A. Watson, Alex Henderson, Andrew Henderson, J. Duke, T. O. Stokes, A. Harris, W. Balster, G. Campbell, J. H. Rodger, and M. McHale. Play will begin at 11 o'clock.

At Fullerton avenue the St. George club will play their annual Decoration day game with the Elgin team, beginning at 11 o'clock.

A team from the Wanderers' club will visit South Bend, Ind., to play the local eleven. It will be the first visit of a Chicago team to that city.

The second eleven of the Albion club will play the Ramblers on the old Bankers' club ground at Fullerton and Racine avenues. Play will begin at 11 o'clock.

Around the Lakes.

SAULT STE. MARIE, MICH.—Schooner Halleran, down-bound and leaking, took on a steam pump. Capt. Ronleau is placing a new red buoy below the Nebish where the Merida struck last season.

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 29.—The elevator Octopus, which has fattened for many years on the grain trade of the West, and has defied the State Legislature in its efforts to reduce the enormous profit of the pool, has at last been brought to time by the floating elevators which this spring entered into competition with the regular elevators for the trade of transferring grain from lake vessels to Erie canalboats or to regular cars. There will be a general feeling of satisfaction among grain shippers at upper lake ports over the news that the elevator pool is in danger of dissolution and that the trunk lines, which own elevators here, are on the point of withdrawing from the combine. Whether business has been good or bad, whether the farmers were raising grain at low cost or not, or whether boats were carrying grain to Buffalo at less than the cost of transportation, this elevator pool has demanded its full toils of ⅞ of a cent on every bushel handled. In good times and bad ti has paid dividends as high as 30 per cent a year. Today the combine in order to drive out the floating elevators is transferring grain as low as ½ of a cent a bushel, and it is even claimed that some cargoes have been handled for nothing. It is possible to ship corn from Chicago to New York at 4¼ cents a bushel, the lowest through rate for many years, on account of the war.

Freights and Charters.

CHICAGO—The Buffalo corn rate advanced to 1¾ cents, which was freely offered. Charters—To Buffalo—W. B. Morley, Kent, corn. To Kingston—Sibley, Twin Sisters, corn at 2½.

OSWEGO, N. Y.—Chartered—Quito, Denver, Argonaut, Chicago, 75 cents.

CLEVELAND, O.—Although owners refused to place Marquette ore boats at 65 cents they were unable to advance the rate. The Ashland rate is firm at 80. Charters—Ore—E. M. Peck, Everett, Sophia Minch, Warmington, Nahant, Ashland, to Ohio ports, 80.

Object to Lockwood's Bill.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 29.—Representatives of the Lake Carriers' Association of the great lakes appeared before the House Committee on Immigration this afternoon to oppose the bill introduced by Representative Lockwood of New York, which is directed in part against the employment of Canadian sailors on American vessels. The particular clause of the bill which is disapproved of by the association provides that seamen must be domiciled in the United States six months before they are eligible for service.

NEW MEN TAKE HOLD.

President Moll Announces His Standing Committees—Commissioner Oliver Is Chosen Auditor of the Reorganized Body — Commissioner Bogie Grows Wrathful at the Bid of a Firm of Stone Contractors, Hinting at Light Weight—Drainage Trustees Hold a Meeting.

The newly appointed Commissioners took their seats at the meeting of the West Park Board yesterday afternoon. Ex-Commissioner Garvy was present and, after the board had been called to order by President Moll, introduced his successor, Charles J. Vopicka, in a cordial manner. Ex-Commissioner Blount introduced his successor, J. Milton Oliver. Ex-Commissioners Townsend and Brodowski were not present and their successors, Harvey Weeks and Edward Nihlein, took their seats without a formal introduction. The Secretary announced that he had been notified by the County Clerk that the bonds of the newly appointed members had been approved and were on file.

President Moll announced that the reorganization of the board was in order, and Commissioner Oliver was unanimously chosen Auditor. The standing committees were named by the President as follows:

The committees were approved and the board proceeded with the routine business. Upon the motion of Commissioner Bogie it was decided to connect the subway at Sacramento avenue with Central Park boulevard providing the cost should not exceed $505.

Commissioner Bogie became much worked up over a communication from McLaughlin and Rice, limestone contractors, offering to supply the board with crushed limestone at $1.15 per cubic yard. The present price paid by the board is $1.29. Mr. Bogie said that as long as he was a member of the board it should not have anything to do with that firm. Last year, he said, there were shortages in the weight of stone delivered to the board and a committee had made an investigation. They had made no charges, but the firm in question had seen fit to bring a libel suit for $25,000 against three members of the board, himself included.

A resolution was presented by Commissioner Weeks ordering the Finance committee to make a thorough examination of the books of the board and report the amount of outstanding liabilities, and also the assets and resources to meet such liabilities, to report the amount of money available for further improvements, and to employ such experts and clerical force as was necessary to make the examination.

The board voted to return the bond of ex-Commissioner Blount, and then took up the bids for sidewalks and pavements on Albany avenue and in Vernon Park. For the former the bid of George J. Powell of $12.95 per foot was accepted and the bids on the latter were rejected and the work deferred.

Supt. Mahoney recommended the purchase of black soil for the improvement of Humboldt Park boulevard, between Western and Milwaukee avenues, and it was decided to complete Washington boulevard, between Garfield Park and Rockwell street. The board owes the city $7,000 for water. The board thought the bill should be paid, but recommended that an effort be made to come to an agreement with the city whereby the board should pay a certain fixed amount every year. The board then adjourned to meet June 12 at 4 o'clock.

Lincoln Park Commissioners are now considering what to do in the case of Supt. Pettigrew, who has refused to resign, as some fifty other employés of the board have done at the request of the Commissioners. It is said that instead of handing in his resignation Supt. Pettigrew sent in a letter in which he stated he did not intend to resign, as he had always performed his duties in connection with the park faithfully. The right of the Commissioners to remove him he conceded, but said he desired that the blame for his removal, if there should be any, should rest upon the Commissioners.

DRAINAGE INJUNCTION UNTOUCHED.

The Drainage Board at a meeting yesterday afternoon did nothing in the matter of the injunction proceedings commenced by the Johnson Bradley company to restrain the board from letting the contract for the work on Sec. 1 of the canal to Griffith & McDermott, on the grounds that they were not the lowest bidders. President Wenter announced the fact of the injunction to the board and ordered that the record be made to show it, which was all that was done in the matter. The case will come up before Judge McConnell next Friday or Saturday on a motion of the board to dissolve the injunction. The probable plea of the board will be that it cannot be enjoined from doing what has already been done. This on the technical ground that as soon as the board voted the contract to Griffith & McDermott it was let, and in the meaning of the law made and cannot now be invaluated except as provided in the specific conditions of the contract.

The board decided that the retaining walls of the canal sections, one to fourteen inclusive, should be of cement masonry, owing to the difficulty encountered in obtaining rock for the construction of dry rubble walls. The price fixed for the work per cubic yard are as follows: Section one, $2.90; five, six, and seven, $3.35. The contractor for Sec. 3 has agreed to accept $3.25 per cubic yard for the work and the Chief Engineer was authorized to arrange at a cost not to exceed $3.25 per cubic yard for the construction of retaining walls on Secs. 2 and 4 and Secs. 8 to 14 inclusive. The cost for such work was limited to $3.25 per cubic yard. On recommendation of the Chief Engineer the expenditure authorized for the repairing of the Calumet Terminal bridge was increased from $1,600 to $2,100. A continuous levee from Spilling to Romeo road, to contain 70,000 yards of material, was also recommended, provided the cost would not exceed 15 cents per yard. The banks of the Illinois and Michigan Canal, which washed out last March and were temporarily repaired, were ordered permanently repaired. The expense of this work, the board contends, should fall on Contractors Streeter and Kenefick, who, it is alleged, are legally responsible for the break.
